Advisory Panel Member Resigns Over Policy Role

Bella Aaron Leaves Corrections Commission In Growing Dispute

A Marin County corrections commissioner resigned yesterday in a growing dispute over what the advisory body's role should be.

Bella H. Aaron, director of the county criminal-justice planning department, announced her resignation just hours after another commission member, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, said he would not participate until the commission's duties are defined by supervisors.

Supervisors, meanwhile, are expected to discuss the commission's role next Thursday. They also will review a grand jury report critical of the way the new department of corrections was established.

The commission, made up of six county officials and seven members of the public, was named in July but supervisors neglected to give it a specific charge.

Since then, there has been disagreement among commissioners over their responsibility.

Some contend the commission should inventory and evaluate all existing rehabilitation programs as well as recommend new ones.

Other, including Mrs. Aaron, maintain the commission should be advisory only on the department of corrections and its programs.

County Administrator John F. Barrows, in a report to the board, has sided with the latter view and will recommend

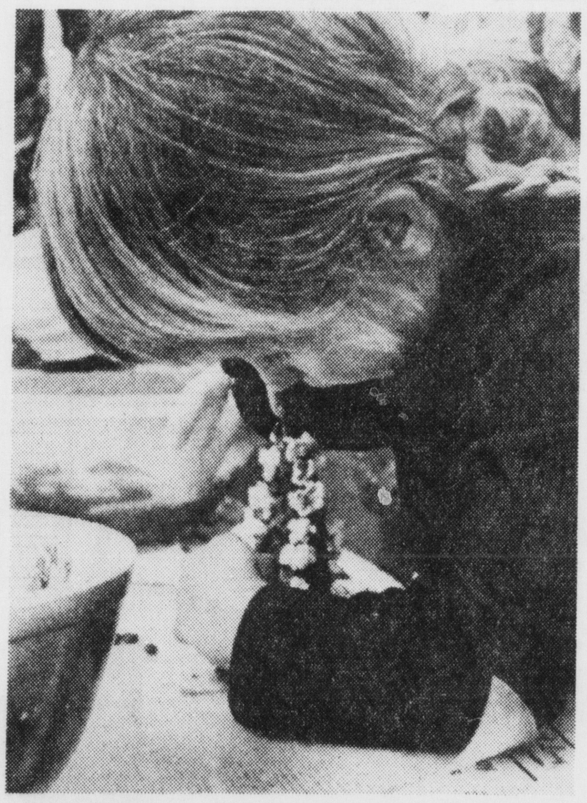
BUILDING A CHRISTMAS 'TREAT'

First you take an ice cream cone and stand it upright. Then spoon on green frosting with all of your might. And, if you're a bit hungry, like Kevin Harrison, 7, a first grade student at Santa Margarita School in San Rafael (above), you might sneak a lick or two while a parent, Mrs. Jay Rossi, attends to the serious business . . .

. . . Now take some popcorn, crisp and white. And pile it on the cone until it looks right. Add a chocolate chip, as Jennifer Mahar is doing with all the concentration a six-year-old can muster . . .



. . . Finally add a festive touch, perhaps a popcorn star or two or three. And, like Sandy Stewart, 6, you'll have a Christmas tree. The cone trees, built by Carole Campagna's first graders at the school are both beautiful and edible, according to student reports. (Photos by Bob Hax)

Many Will Have Four-Day Holiday

With Christmas falling on Tuesday, tomorrow will mark the start of a four-day holiday for many Marin and Southern Sonoma governmental workers. For public school students a two-week holiday begins.

Some government workers get a four-day weekend; some have to work part of Monday and others have to work all day Monday.

Marin County Superior Court will be closed for the four days, but the county clerk's office will be open all day Monday for filing civil suits and marriage licenses. Municipal Court will be closed except for arraignments of persons in custody.

All Marin County offices will close at noon on Monday and all day Tuesday.

Sonoma County offices will be open Monday and closed Christmas Day. The board of supervisors will meet a half a day on Monday and not on Tuesday.

Window service at Marin and Sonoma post offices will close at noon Monday, according to Postmaster Hugh Cassidy. All other services will continue throughout the day. There will be no mail delivery on Christmas Day, but special delivery and regular holiday dispatches and mail collection will be maintained.

All stores will be open on Monday and closed on Christmas except for some neighborhood grocery stores.

The Independnt-Journal will not publish Christmas Day.

All schools will be closed, including the administration offices, for the beginning of the two-week Christmas vacation. Shoreline Unified School District and College of Marin students return on Jan. 2. All others return on Jan. 4.

Wornum Brands Conflict Of Interest Charge False

Welcomes Investigation By Grand Jury, Others

BY ERIK M. INGRAM

The chairman of the North Central Coast Regional Commission today labeled as "untrue and malicious" a conflict of interest charge made against him yesterday by a Bolinas attorney.

Chairman Michael Wornum, a Marin County supervisor, said he welcomed "investigation by the grand jury, the commission itself or any other body" into the allegations of attorney Paul D. Kayfetz.

Kayfetz, in an appeal of a recent commission action approving seven building permits at the Seadrift subdivision at Stinson Beach, accused Wornum of "behind-the-scene lobbying for and rendering of advice to" Roger Kent, a Seadrift land owner and longtime political power in the Democratic Party.

(Kent, a San Francisco attorney and former chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, is a director of the Kent Estate, developer of Seadrift.)

William Kent III, Roger Kent's brother, meanwhile, told the Independent-Journal today: "I run Seadrift, not Roger. No concessions were made. I'm a registered Republican and I don't care about Wornum's political future."

Kayfetz, in the appeal on behalf of the Bolinas Future Studies, a conservation group, described Kent as "a supporter of and contributor to chairman Wornum's political campaigns."

Kayfetz said concessions arranged in an exchange of "Dear Roger" and "Dear Mike" letters were "cosmetic conditions" and did not deal with the real issues of public access through the privately guarded development, built on a sand spit between the Pacific Ocean and Bolinas Lagoon.

Wornum today said the conditions proposed in his letter to Kent were not "meaningless or cosmetic" but rather achieved the ends of opening the Seadrift beach to the public.

He noted the letters were placed in the commission's public file on Seadrift and wasn't behind-the-scene. He said at no point did he lobby other commissioners on the matter.

Wornum said his commission achieved, through the negotiations, what that state had failed to do after spending three years and $250,000 in litigation against the estate to open up the beach.

"You don't grease this commission," he said. "There are 14 commissioners all with minds of their own."

He said the charge by Kayfetz is "untrue and malicious" and at the time the letters were exchanged last May he had no intention of running for the state Assembly.

He acknowledged that he will announce for the Assembly seat being vacated by William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, next month and will be supported by Kent.

The decision to run, he added, was made in September and Kent's support was offered in October.

He accused Kayfetz of other motives for making his charge, stemming from commission rejection this month of a building permit requested by one of his clients, Barbara Alban, who wanted to build on the beach at Stinson Beach.

"At the beginning of the commission meeting of Dec. 6, Mr. Paul D. Kayfetz, champion of conservationists. . . demanded that seven permits for homes recommended by the executive director for the consent calendar be removed for separate hearings.

"The commission unanimously refused (I vote last, so could hardly influence their vote) on the basis that the permits conformed to the overall conditions already stated," Wornum said.

"Later in the meeting, Kayfetz represented a property owner who wished to build a house in front of the dunes on the very beach itself," he continued. "A previous house at this site had been washed away in a storm.

"But Kayfetz argued that she had a right to rebuild this house on the beach in direct contradiction to everything he had testified previously and against

Settlement Is Reached In Strike By Butchers

The 18-day butchers strike which has idled more than 100 workers in Marin and closed many local markets has ended in Northern California.

Striking butchers reached agreement with the Food Employers Council shortly before noon yesterday and pickets were withdrawn from 400 affected markets throughout the Bay Area, including Lucky, Safeway, Alpha Beta and Albertson's.

The settlement does not mean that all of the stores will open immediately.

Safeway closed all its nine Marin stores today so they can be restocked with meat, bread, produce and other perishable items. The markets will all reopen tomorrow, according to William Gross, a spokesman for the chain. (Safeway had kept three of its local stores open during the strike, using supervisory personnel and temporary help).

About 3,000 butchers and 10,000 other workers throughout the Bay Area were idled by the dispute.

Details of the tentative pact were not immediately available. Spokesman for both the employers and the butchers union refused to disclose terms of the agreement until it is ratified by union members tonight in San Francisco.

The settlement was announced after a negotiating session that began at 2 p.m. Wednesday and ended about 22 hours later. The last stumbling block to an agreement had been a cost-of-living formula.

The union had sought an unlimited escalator clause, while the Food Employers Council wanted a maximum set on each year's pay increase.

Federal mediator Eugene Barry complimented labor representatives in San Francisco who "brought heavy pressure to bear on both sides."

Barry said the agreement "could be helpful" in settling a strike in Southern California between 61 supermarket chains and four striking unions. Talks in that dispute broke off Thursday after seven days of negotiations.

Verbal Clashes Mark Opening Of Mideast Peace Conference

GENEVA (UPI) — Israeli and Arab delegates to the Middle East peace conference fought with words today in an exchange of threats, taunts and invective that marked their first face-to-face meeting in 25 years.

"Surely the time has come," said Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, "to banish the savageness which has marked the treatment of Israelis in Arab hands."

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy said Eban was "trying to belittle the intelligence of us here by talking to the gallery."

"Not only Israelis can use modern and sophisticated weapons," he warned.

Yet somber warnings that failure to agree on a Middle East peace settlement inevitably would mean another still bloodier conflict added emphasis to the historic nature of this first meeting of Jews and Arabs at a peace table in a quarter of a century.

The meeting got off to a shaky start with both Israel and Egypt threatening to pull out over seating arrangements, delaying the opening by 40 minutes.

The conference got underway after a warning from Beirut that Palestinian guerrillas will "crush Americans everywhere" until U.S. support of Israel ceases.

A statement in the Beirut newspaper An Nahar and attributed to Palestinian guerrillas warned Americans that if the U.S. government continued to support Israel "we shall keep our promise to our people, namely to chase you everywhere and at all times to strike at you and crush you."

The statement purported to be from the same guerrillas who organized Monday's attack at Rome airport that left 32 persons dead including several Americans.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim gaveled the session to order at 11:10 a.m. (5:10 a.m. EST), bringing together Israel,

Price Increase Elevates Cost Of Living Figures

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Accelerating price increases for fuel, electricity and food because of the energy crisis boosted the cost of living of Americans by 0.7 per cent in November and the Administration today forecast continued increases in the months ahead.

The November rise in the cost-of-living index whittled the purchasing power of the average worker's paycheck by 0.6 per cent in November, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said that consumers probably would have to put up with rising prices for fuel, food and other products dependent on energy supplies for several more months.

"The energy shortage and the need to increase energy supplies means that energy-related prices will rise further in the months ahead," Stein said. "Prospects for food supplies suggest that it may be several more months before food prices level out."

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the higher prices and lower purchasing power in November proved what workers and consumers already knew "but which the administration has sought to camou-

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Fighting Increases

SAIGON (UPI) — The level of combat today in South Vietnam hit the highest point since last spring and government officers warned Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were poised for a surprise offensive in the Saigon area.

South Vietnamese spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien reported 166 Communist attacks between dawn yesterday and daybreak today at a time North Vietnam and the United States renewed their peace talks in Paris.

Focus On Candles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Ralph Nader research group today accused the government's Consumer Product Safety Commission of irresponsible delay in failing to act on its request to ban millions of Christmas candles as a lead poisoning threat.

Nader's Health Research Group said a study by the Environmental Protection Agency had confirmed the candle hazard in the two weeks since its petition was filed on Dec. 7, but that the commission, the agency responsible for acting, is dragging its feet.

"We think they have been irresponsible in the face of one of the oldest known poisons — lead — and in the face of the Christmas season when people are buying up candles like they're going out of style," said Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the research group.

Air Strike Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The airlines pilots union will wait until Feb. 1 before deciding whether to call a nationwide strike — averting a tie-up that could have crippled Christmas airline passenger service.

The protest strike, urged by some locals of the pilots' union, was postponed after two days of talks between Nixon administration officials and representatives of the Air Line Pilots Association after the administration promised to increase jet fuel production as they decreased gasoline supplies.

Execution In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Cain, a top Chicago lawman before he became chauffeur for the city's most feared mobsters, was gunned to death yesterday in an apparent gangland execution when he walked into a sandwich shop.

Cain

His face was disfigured from the blast and it took authorities hours to identify him. He was carrying no identification papers.

Cain, 49, onetime protege of ex-gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and later courier and chauffeur for gangster Sam (Mooney) Giancana, was killed by two gunmen wearing ski masks. The gunmen escaped.

Lee Schooler, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, said the murder "seems to indicate an upheaval in the underworld."

Ford Vows To Pay Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford promised to "bend over backwards" to make sure he pays his Michigan state income tax but refuses to criticize President Nixon for not paying California income taxes.

Ford

Ford told a press conference Wednesday he has been paying the state tax since Michigan began imposing one and added that on the advice of his certified public accountant, he would "bend over backward to continue."

After the press conference, Ford made ready to leave Washington for Madrid to be Nixon's personal representative at today's funeral of Prime Minister Luis Carrero Blanco, who was assassinated Wednesday.

Documents Missing

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — University of Virginia officials have cautioned rare book and document dealers to be alert for books and papers valued at more than $100,000 missing and apparently stolen from the university library.

A university spokesman disclosed yesterday that a search of the Alderman Library over the past several weeks failed to locate the documents. Among the items missing are Thomas Jefferson's prayer book and three first-edition books by Edgar Allan Poe, who grew up in nearby Richmond.

The spokesman said the items were kept in a walk-in vault.

Rail Bill Voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress passed and sent to President Nixon today legislation to start the slow, expensive process of rebuilding seven bankrupt railroads of the Northeast and Midwest into a single healthy railroad.

The Senate gave final congressional approval to a $2 billion authorization as Congress rushed toward adjournment for the year. The House passed the bill yesterday, 284 to 59.

Thoughtful Thief

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (UPI) — Floyd Sheffler returned to his parked automobile yesterday and discovered a thief had stolen stereo tapes and a set of silver spurs. The robber left a Christmas card which read, "With love, Honey, at Christmas."

Protesters In Spain Mar Funeral

MADRID (UPI) — Rightwing demonstrators marred the state funeral mass of Prime Minister Luis Carrero Blanco today with jeers and shouts of "assassin, assassin" at the archbishop of Madrid, liberal-minded Cardinal Enrique Vicente y Taracon.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, afraid of his own emotions, did not attend.

Police moved in to protect the cardinal when he left the government building after saying the first of two masses over the open casket of Carrero.

Vicente y Taracon presided at the mass and praised Carrero. He said he hoped his "life and example will serve all Spaniards to attain fruitful peace."

"His last service was his death," the cardinal said. "Grief and indignation should not stir people to feelings of hatred," he added in a plea for calm throughout the nation.

As the car carrying Vicente y Taracon pulled away, the demonstrators jeered him and police ringed his car and jogged alongside until it cleared the band of right wingers.

The demonstrators apparently believed members of the anti-government left wing, including the militant Basque separatists supported by some Roman Catholic clergymen, were responsible for Carrero's death yesterday.

Carrero died in a bomb blast yesterday in the nation's first major political assassination in 34 years of Franco rule. He, his bodyguard and chauffeur were killed a block from the U.S. Embassy by a bomb so powerful it blew their limousine over the roof of the San Francisco de Borja church where Carrero had just attended mass.

A brief official announcement said the 81-year-old Franco was suffering from influenza and was canceling his attendance at the state funeral mass for Carrero.

Data Sought On Nixon's Brother

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate committee is looking for any evidence that might link F. Donald Nixon, the President's brother, with Howard Hughes, Robert L. Vesco and gambling operations in Las Vegas and the Bahamas.

Subpoenas from the committee ask for any information in White House files that would link the President's brother with a list of 44 people, including Hughes and Vesco, and 23 corporations.

Another section of the subpoena seeks any memos written by White House aides about F. Donald Nixon; his son, Donald A. Nixon, who at one time worked for Vesco, and another of the President's brothers, Edward Nixon.

The requests for information relating to Nixon's family were included in 60 pages of subpoenas for tapes of 481 White House conversations and telephone calls and more than 1,000 documents, all relating to the Watergate probe.

The subpoenas, issued Wednesday, give no clue as to what the committee is investigating. But the list of names linked with F. Donald Nixon, combined with what the committee has already disclosed it is investigating, indicate the following areas are involved:

The activities of recluse billionaire Howard R. Hughes, including President Nixon's approval of the sale of Air West airlines to Hughes; the lifting of a Justice Department antitrust suit that blocked expansion of the Hughes Las Vegas gambling empire, and attempts by Hughes to gain a halt to nuclear testing in Nevada. These items are specifically mentioned in another section of the subpoena.

Any dealings F. Donald Nixon may have had with Resorts International, a giant gambling and hotel operation in the Bahamas. The concern and its three principal officers are named in the subpoena.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Fighting Increases

SAIGON (UPI) — The level of combat today in South Vietnam hit the highest point since last spring and government officers warned Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were poised for a surprise offensive in the Saigon area.

South Vietnamese spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien reported 166 Communist attacks between dawn yesterday and daybreak today at a time North Vietnam and the United States renewed their peace talks in Paris.

Focus On Candles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Ralph Nader research group today accused the government's Consumer Product Safety Commission of irresponsible delay in failing to act on its request to ban millions of Christmas candles as a lead poisoning threat.

Nader's Health Research Group said a study by the Environmental Protection Agency had confirmed the candle hazard in the two weeks since its petition was filed on Dec. 7, but that the commission, the agency responsible for acting, is dragging its feet.

"We think they have been irresponsible in the face of one of the oldest known poisons — lead — and in the face of the Christmas season when people are buying up candles like they're going out of style," said Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the research group.

New Speed Limit Signs Have Covers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's new 55 mile per hour speed limit signs will be literally unveiled when the state's reduced limit goes into effect, a Department of Transportation spokesman said yesterday.

Department teams presently are changing the state's 65 m.p.h. signs by repainting the six to make it a five, the spokesman said.

Many of the signs have already been altered and to avoid confusion before the new limit goes into effect they are covered with a wood or canvas facing.

All of California's 65 m.p.h. signs—an estimated 2,500—will have been altered by the change-over deadline and all will be "unveiled" early Jan. 2, the spokesman said.

Conviction Of Calley Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The conviction of 1st Lt. William L. Calley for the slaying of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai was upheld today by the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

The nation's highest court of military law also upheld a 20-year sentence given Calley.

The slayings took place in the South Vietnamese village of My Lai in March, 1968 during a sweep by an Army unit led by Calley

The military court, composed of three civilian judges, heard the case 11 weeks ago and spent the intervening time reviewing thousands of pages of testimony and legal briefs that have been filed since Calley was charged four years ago.

Capt. J. Houston Gordon, Calley's attorney, said in October that if he lost before the military court, he would try to go into the civilian courts.

The defense also has recourse to the White House. President Nixon has said he would ultimately review the case. Nixon could free Calley if he so chose.

Calley, now 30, was first sentenced to life imprisonment after his court-martial trial. That was later reduced to 20 years.

Calley has been confined to his quarters at Ft. Benning, Ga.

In arguing for reversal of Calley's conviction before the Military Appeals Court, the defense put most of its stress on the deluge of publicity before the trial, arguing that it made a fair trial impossible.

"This case is a predecessor of Watergate," said George W. Latimer, Calley's civilian lawyer who at one time was a judge on the court. In both cases, he told the court, those involved were "victims of undue publicity before the case."

At the time of My Lai, several units including one commanded by Calley were searching for Viet Cong who were suspected of using some villages, including My Lai, as havens for ambushes on American units.

Thursday that the 13-member commission be cut to seven seats and its role limited to advising on matters pertaining to the corrections department.

His recommendation is opposed by a majority on the corrections commission which voted 8-to-3 Wednesday to ask supervisors to name it advisory on all county correctional issues.

If supervisors accept the commission's recommendation, the commission would be authorized to delve into correction and rehabilitation programs run by any department, including the probation department.

The commission's recommendation was supported by the six public members present (commissioner Clifford Lund was absent) and public defender Harold J. Truett and Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Mrs. Aaron, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer opposed the proposal. Mountanos abstained.

Barrows said the commission should not include county officials because it places them in the position of running their own departments, on one hand, and overseeing a fellow department head, on the other.

His recommendation, he said, was based on the "sensitivity surrounding the creation of the department of corrections and the potential infringement by that department on the activities of the sheriff's, probation and criminal-justice planning departments.

"Therefore, it seems desirable at this time to define the scope of the commission (to be advisory) on the department of corrections itself and its internal activities."

"So in 1974 we will most likely find prices going up and unemployment going up," Meany said. "Going down will be the standard of living for American workers and the buying power of their dollars."

Reflecting the worsening fuel shortages, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said home heating oil prices went up 10 per cent last month and retail gasoline prices rose 4 per cent.

Prices also rose sharply for natural gas, coal and electricity.

"From the remarks made by my fellow commissioners," Wornum continued, "they were as disgusted as I was at Kayfetz' blatant hypocrisy."

Wornum added that he felt Kayfetz "attacked me for reasons of malicious pique at his defeat and exposure, but I am willing to accept the withdrawal of his charges and his apology."

Kayfetz' charge of politically motivated actions by Wornum also was condemned by Kent who said "they are unfair, almost insane."

"I have no direct interest in Seadrift. My brother, Bill, manages that project."

He acknowledged the exchange of "Dear Roger" and "Dear Mike" letters — but said they were a way of avoiding litigation and achieving the "best interests of the public" and the property owners.

Egypt, Jordan, the United States and Soviet Union to discuss solving the 25-year Arab-Israeli conflict.

Both Israeli and Egyptian sources said their foreign ministers, Abba Eban and Ismail Fahmi respectively, threatened to pull out of the talks even before in a last minute protocol hassle.

U.N. officials had arranged seven separate tables in a heptagon and assigned the Israelis to sit next to the empty table where the Syrians, who pulled out of the talks Tuesday, would have been.

The Israeli sources said Eban, saying this amounted to "visually ostracizing" Israel, told Waldheim on arrival at the site that he would "go home" unless this was changed. He dropped his objection to the seventh table itself.

With other delegations arriving amid strict security—some members even had their own briefcases searched—Waldheim ushered them into separate rooms and began shuttling from one to another with proposals as the 10:30 a.m. starting time passed.

Egyptian sources said Fahmi threatened his walkout when Waldheim proposed alphabetical seating that would have put Egypt next to Israel.

Instead, they said, Fahmi proposed that the United Nations, United States and Soviet Union be seated between the Middle East antagonists. It was this plan that was accepted.

Waldheim took his place at the head of the heptagon and, from him, clockwise, were the Israelis, the Soviets, the Syrian table, the Jordanians, the United States and the Egyptians.

With the Arabs smiling and waving to one another and the other participants somber, the conferees walked into the green-carpeted conference room and took their places under scrutiny by 153 news reporters who had been frisked before admission.

Egypt, Jordan, the United States and Soviet Union to discuss solving the 25-year Arab-Israeli conflict.

Both Israeli and Egyptian sources said their foreign ministers, Abba Eban and Ismail Fahmi respectively, threatened to pull out of the talks even before in a last minute protocol hassle.

U.N. officials had arranged seven separate tables in a heptagon and assigned the Israelis to sit next to the empty table where the Syrians, who pulled out of the talks Tuesday, would have been.

The Israeli sources said Eban, saying this amounted to "visually ostracizing" Israel, told Waldheim on arrival at the site that he would "go home" unless this was changed. He dropped his objection to the seventh table itself.

With other delegations arriving amid strict security—some members even had their own briefcases searched—Waldheim ushered them into separate rooms and began shuttling from one to another with proposals as the 10:30 a.m. starting time passed.

Egyptian sources said Fahmi threatened his walkout when Waldheim proposed alphabetical seating that would have put Egypt next to Israel.

Instead, they said, Fahmi proposed that the United Nations, United States and Soviet Union be seated between the Middle East antagonists. It was this plan that was accepted.

Waldheim took his place at the head of the heptagon and, from him, clockwise, were the Israelis, the Soviets, the Syrian table, the Jordanians, the United States and the Egyptians.

With the Arabs smiling and waving to one another and the other participants somber, the conferees walked into the green-carpeted conference room and took their places under scrutiny by 153 news reporters who had been frisked before admission.

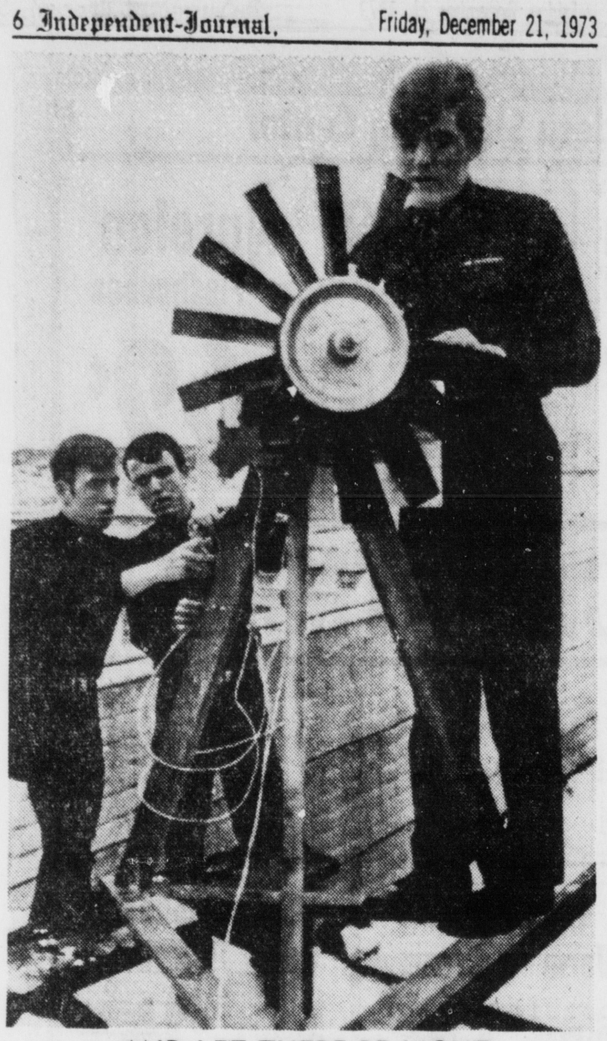
No Evidence Of Harassment To 'Enemies'



AND LET THERE BE LIGHT

Three Naval Academy midshipmen at Annapolis have figured out a way to have their Christmas tree and still not use energy during the crisis. They constructed a windmill atop their dormitory with "mother nature" taking care of the energy.

(UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators have concluded that the Internal Revenue Service did not buckle under pressures from John W. Dean III, author of a "screw our political enemies" memo, when he came up with a list of 575 "enemies."

At the same time, former IRS Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters did not complain to the Justice Department about White House efforts to turn the IRS into a political apparatus — an apparent violation of the law.

(Four Marin residents made the list. Alfred E. Heller of Kentfield, president of California Tomorrow, a conservation organization, said it was "part of the whole pattern of arrogance we've learned about in the last few months." He noted he contributed to the McGovern campaign.

(His wife, Ruth, also on the list, commented she would "certainly rather be an enemy than a friend."

(Heller's brother, Clarence, an investor and also a resident of Kentfield, said he was a former chairman of the Business Executives Move for Peace in Vietnam and the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

("I'm always consistent, always a liberal," he said. "The left wing doesn't like me, the right wing doesn't like me either."

(June Oppen Degnan of Ross also made the list. She was vice chairman of the national committee of the McGovern campaign and a national treasurer of the McCarthy campaign in 1968.)

Reporting yesterday on the results of a six-month investigation into the IRS' behavior under political pressure, the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation said it found no evidence the taxmen conducted harassing audits against the 575 taxpayers on Dean's list.

Laurence N. Woodworth, chief of staff for the joint committee, was not as sanguine about the IRS' response to reported White House suggestions that the taxmen take it easy on seven "friends."

Woodworth refused to identify any of the friends except one — New York osteopath Kenneth Riland, who treated President Nixon and accompanied him to China and who is under indictment for evasion of taxes.

Others who reportedly were singled out for favorable tax treatment include actor John Wayne and evangelist Billy Graham, who has denied trying to use his influence with the chief executive to get out of tax troubles.

The existence of the list of 575 "enemies" was not known until Woodworth's staff began its investigation.

Walters said Dean, counsel to the President, presented him with the list on Sept. 11, 1972, and asked him "to see what type of information could be developed concerning the people on the list."

Walters said he turned to his superior, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who told him to "do nothing."

So, Walters said, he locked the list in his safe and took it with him when he left government service on May 21, 1973.

But neither he nor Shultz informed the Justice Department, the investigators said.

Last summer, Dean testified about his memo on "how we can use the available federal machinery to screw our political enemies."

He told the Senate Watergate Committee that at a now famous Sept. 15, 1972, meeting Nixon complained about the IRS' political irresponsiveness. Dean said he replied the IRS was staffed by a "monstrous" bureaucracy of left-over Democrats. Nixon replied he would change things after the election.

But Dean did not tell the Watergate committee about his visit with Walters four days before that meeting.

Woodworth said Walters got the impression Dean wanted tax audits on the 575 "and life made tough on them."

"My impression is Johnnie Walters was horrified," Woodworth told reporters.

Woodworth's check showed that the 575 taxpayers had undergone about twice as many audits as would be normal for people in their brackets.

But, he said, the "enemies" were scrutinized not out of political motives but because as a class they tended to have more entertainment deductions and other checkworthy deductions than most taxpayers.

One of those who was audited paid taxes of more than $1 million in one year, Woodworth said.

He said most of the enemies appeared to be supporters of 1972 Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern or his contributors or wealthy supporters of liberal causes.

Among the prominent people on the list were:

Jean Westwood and Lawrence O'Brien, both former Democratic national chairmen; entertainers Burt Lancaster, Shirley MacLaine, Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Polly Bergen, Gene Hackman, Joseph E. Levine, and Herb Alpert; painter Georgia O'Keefe; Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.; Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y.; former IRS Commissioner Mortimer Caplin; former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford; Frances (Sissy) Farenthold, former Texas Democratic gubernatorial nominee; Howard M. Metzenbaum of Cleveland, who was designated Wednesday to fill the vacant Senate seat of William B. Saxbe, the new attorney general.

Also Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner, diplomat Angier Biddle Duke, Harvard Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, cosmetic maker Max Factor, Xerox executive Max Palevsky, liberal philanthropists Philip Stern and Stewart Mott, Harvard Professor George Wald, sculptor Alexander Calder.

Among the McGovern staff people or supporters were Gary Hart, Frank Mankiewicz, Pierre Salinger, Gordon Weil, Anne Wexler, Adm. Gene LaRoeque, Richard Dougherty and Kirby Jones.

Group Claiming Bombing Credit

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — A group calling itself the Revolutionary Action Squad is taking credit for the bombing of a building which housed military recruiting offices and the Internal Revenue Service.

A letter from the group received by the Santa Cruz Sentinel said Wednesday's bombing was a result of alleged U.S. involvement in the fighting in Vietnam.

A total of $100,000 damage was done to the two-story building, although no one was hurt. Police said a pipe bomb had been detonated by a back door.

Wife Joins Her Husband At 100

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The wife of pioneer Seattle banker Joshua Green Sr. has joined her husband as a centenarian.

Green, who was 104 on Oct. 16, Friday attended a family gettogether at which cake was served as Mrs. Green observed her 100th birthday.

Joshua Green Jr., board chairman of People's National Bank, said no party was held because his parents "are both very frail and a party would tire them." The Greens were married 72 years ago. Besides their son, they have two daughters, six grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Ski Trip Set For The Fords

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford and his family plan to fly to Colorado for a Christmas skiing vacation aboard an Air Force jet, his press secretary announced.

Spokesman Paul Miltich said that the vice president and a party of about 30 would use an Air Force C135, the military version of the Boeing 707 transport, for the Colorado holiday.

The group will leave Washington as soon as Congress adjourns, probably Friday.

Impeachment Probe Plan Not Settled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special House investigator John M. Doar said today it might not be necessary to show President Nixon had committed criminal offenses as a prerequisite to impeaching him.

Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee who named Doar yesterday to head the committee's inquiry into possible impeachment proceedings, said he hoped for a preliminary report from Doar when Congress reconvenes Jan. 21. Rodino set a target date of late March or early April to complete committee hearings.

Doar, appearing with Rodino on the NBC-TV Today show, said he had not made up his mind whether it would be necessary to show Nixon had committed criminal acts, but "a considerable body of (legal) authority says it does not have to be a criminal offense" to justify impeachment.

An impeachment proceeding, he said, is not a criminal trial although "many of the elements of fairness" of a trial have to have a place in impeachment "and the judiciary committee will see that they do have a place."

The appointment of Doar advanced the pace of the House impeachment procedure. House Republican Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz., said that if the House voted for impeachment, Nixon should consider resigning rather than face trial by the Senate.

Rhodes told a group of reporters yesterday he felt it was likely the Judiciary Committee, with its Democratic majority, would call for impeachment.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford indicated he would lobby with his former House colleagues against impeachment although he said he saw a "tremendous falling off" in public pressure for either Nixon's impeachment or his resignation.

"I'll do my best to help in any way that I can, on the grounds that as of today I don't believe there is any grounds to justify impeachment," Ford told a news conference Thursday.

Rhodes said he felt an impeachment inquiry became "as inevitable as night and day" once Nixon had fired Archibald Cox as Watergate special prosecutor.

"The idea of resigning should be pretty high up in Nixon's mind," Rhodes said.

In Beloit, Wis., Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said he believed 75 to 80 per cent of his congressional colleagues agreed with him there would be a new president next year.

"A large and growing number of my constituents are ready to accept the idea of impeachment, but I'm not sure that's the answer," said Aspin. "I'd prefer President Nixon's resignation." Doar said he planned to examine all material collected by the Senate Watergate committee and other investigators and then make a preliminary report to the Judiciary committee, suggesting what further inquiries might be needed.

Rodino said "we are going to try to have open hearings in every case possible" but there would be closed sessions if the committee heard witnesses "who would be producing evidence and information we think might be subject to grand jury proceedings, in order to make sure no rights are violated."

IS IT A GAS BURNER?

When Tom Case of Miami planned this unusual motor machine there wasn't an energy crisis. A work of six months, he probably startled a few motorists yesterday as he took it out for a test and its safety inspection. The creation combines a Corvair and a Harley Davidson motorcycle. It is powered by the original Corvair engine, has an automatic transmission and three sets of brakes.

Security Block Inmates Strike

Some 59 of the 97 inmates of the adjustment center,a maximum security cell block, have been staging a kind of hunger strike since Sunday, San Quentin prison officials reported today.

Prison spokesman William D. Nyberg, said, "We are not sure if it is a hunger strike or not, nor are we sure that the men are not eating." He said that the men take their food trays in their cells and later throw them out on the tier. "We do not know if they have eaten any of the food from them or not," he said.

Nyberg said the strike was started after the men claimed brutality was used in taking food trays from them last week. The inmates had refused to give up thier trays, according to Nyberg, who said,"We had to go in and forcibly take them away from them."

Academies Open Now To Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by voice vote and with no audible negatives, has voted to allow women candidates into the nation's military academies.

In brief debate, several senators said women candidates they had suggested for the academies had been rejected. "I'm pretty burned up about it," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said. "I nominated two women this year.

"The passed the examination. But there were 'regulations.'"

Mansfield said, however, he was not giving up.

To Light Building

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Transamerica Corp., which owns a new Christmas-tree shaped skyscraper in downtown San Francisco, said today it will light the building for Christmas despite the energy shortage.

Two Held, Two Released On Charges Of Burglary

Two Tiburon youths face trial in Marin Superior Court on burglary charges but two other persons were released yesterday.

Dennis Paul Munger, 19, charged with burglarizing the Country Club Bowl on Vivian Street in San Rafael Nov. 24, will have a jury trial the week of Jan. 28.

And David Wayne Sander, also 19, is slated to appear Thursday in superior court on the same burglary charge. Both youths live in Tiburon.

Judge Gary W. Thomas yesterday dismissed burglary and possession of stolen property charges against Sherry Linda Munger, 22, Dennis's sister, and Oddie Eugene Jefferes, 28, of Petaluma.

San Rafael police arrested Munger and a 17-year-old boy at the bowling alley, then, acting on information supplied by the boy, raided the Tiburon apartment shared by the Mungers and Sander.

There they said they discovered $7,000 worth of loot from several recent Tiburon burglaries and arrested Sander, Jeffers and Miss Munger.

Former Anderson Student Describes Instruction

A former Tamalpais High School student testified yesterday that she learned 'to communicate' in teacher Kenneth A. Anderson's English class, but admitted that she learned nothing about English literature, poetry, drama or grammar in the class.

Mary Dyder, who was one of Anderson's students in 1970, was on the stand as a defense witness, during the Marin Superior Court trial in which the Tamalpais High School District is trying to fire Anderson.

She was cross-examined by William O. Weissich, the district's attorney.

"Do you think you learned about English literature in the class?"

"No," she replied, "I learned to express myself in my journal," a journal that each of Anderson's students kept. Weissich's further questioning brought out that Anderson never corrected the journals for grammar or composition errors. "The journals were personal," Miss Dyder said.

"Did you hear any four-letter words" in Anderson's classes?," Weissich asked.

"I heard them in every classroom in Tam," the former coed said. If she heard Anderson use any of them, she thought nothing of it, she said.

She testified during questioning by defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro, that she thought Anderson sometimes made "outrageous" statements simply because he was trying to spark student discussion of current events and significant issues.

Another defense witness earlier in the day discussed student Bruce Paul Lohman, who had declared in a sworn statement submitted in court, that Anderson knew Lohman had bombed two Bank of America branches and the high school restroom in 1971 and had encouraged the youth's violence.

Lohman was "an ugly American" during his summertime stay in La Paz, Baja California, in 1970, as one of 14 students from a Tam Spanish class, teacher Antonio M. Medrano testified.

The nonjury firing trial was to continue today before Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Protester's Picket Suit Tossed Out

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A suit filed by Robert Simpson, 93, dean of Capitol protestors, alleging false arrest and $5.2 million in damages, was dismissed yesterday in federal court.

Judge Thomas J. MacBride denied Simpson's request for a preliminary injunction to stop State Police from arresting him in violation of the state's Capitol anti-picketing law. At the same time, the judge granted a motion by the defendants to dismiss the action.

Named in the suit were State Police Chief Guy R. Oates and 12 John Does. Simpson has been arrested 264 times by his own count.

Nathaniel Colley, Simpson's attorney, earlier said the arrest of his client represented a violation of federal civil rights, especially the freedom of speech, the right to assemble and the right to petition the Legislature.

Simpson, who appears daily in the Capitol with signs denouncing the governor and Legislature in sometimes salty language, is arrested and taken to city hall where he is routinely released.

Warden Answers Hoffa Charges

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, who criticized the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary where he served 4-½ years for jury tampering and mail fraud, drew the ire of the warden yesterday.

"He does not know how this prison is run now," said Warden Marvin Hogan. "Hoffa left long before I came here. Whatever he was talking about was part of the last administration."

Hoffa made his charges in an address to the Philadelphia County Medical Society Wednesday night, saying Lewisburg was "the worst prison in Pennsylvania" and said inmates were "treated as animals."

Girl Asks Santa For Belts On Bus

A 4-year-old Novato girl, who was once in an accident in a car that didn't have seat belts, has sent a letter to Santa Claus requesting seat belts for her school bus.

Rosemary Paton of 26 Boulevard Terrace, who attends the Head Start class at the Novato Human Needs Center, sent the letter, her mother, Kathleen Slattery, reported.

Would you like your child to feel close to God?

GOD

The simplicity of children makes them very receptive to love. And to God.

In the Christian Science Sunday School, children learn that God is Father and Mother to us all. They learn that all mankind belongs to one spiritual family—and how this truth draws members of an individual family closer together.

We would love to meet you and your family this Sunday.

Long Beach Accused Of Illegal Expenditures On Queen Mary

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The City of Long Beach was accused yesterday of "improperly" spending $14 million in public funds for private commercial ventures on the controversial Queen Mary project.

The charge was leveled by the staff of the state Lands Commission, which recommended that the city be sued to recover the funds. The three-man commission will decide early next year whether to bring the legal action.

In a 2,000-page report, the staff said city funds derived from tidelands oil revenues were used to install air conditioning, heating and electrical systems which benefited private enterprises in the converted luxury ocean liner.

Robert W. Parking, a deputy Long Beach city attorney, denied any impropriety and charged the staff report "contains many inaccuracies, inconsistencies and contradictory statements."

State Finance Director Verne Orr, a commission member, said he was "disturbed" that the state would have to pay costs of the proposed suit while any recovery merely would be transferred from the city's general fund to its oil trust fund.

"It would go from the city's left-hand pocket to the city's right-hand pocket," said Orr, Gov. Ronald Reagan's finance chief. "It's a no-win game from our standpoint."

The City of Long Beach in 1967 was permitted to use its share of revenue from tidelands oil to convert the Queen Mary into a museum. In addition, almost half of the converted liner has been leased for a hotel and specialty shops.

At the time, the staff said, the city agreed to charge the private enterprises for "any expense incident to conversion or improvement of commercial areas."

But $14 million in "improper tidelands trust expenditures" have been made for air conditioning, heating and other improvements for the commercial areas without refund, the staff said.

For example, $3.5 million in public oil revenues were spent to install the Queen Mary's electrical system. About 66 per cent of the system is used by commercial areas of the ship, the staff said.

The staff also noted that the trust fund had incurred a whopping $3.8 million deficit during the past two years because money was spent on the Queen Mary.

In addition to the suit, the staff recommended that the legislature pass new laws preventing use of tidelands oil revenue for enhancement of commercial projects.

The staff report was the product of four years of investigation. Similar charges have been made in the past by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, but little was done about the.

Originally, the city estimated the Queen Mary project would cost about $8.75 million. The actual cost escalated to over $52 million, the staff said.

Parkin noted that private companies have put more than $10 million into the project. He also argued that if the commission had any objection to the city's use of public funds, the complaint should have been voiced long ago.

Machines No Help To Winery

FRESNO (UPI) — Technology has hindered rather than helped the wine making industry, according to an E. J. Gallo Wine Co. spokesman.

That's why the firm is not going to accept any mechanically harvested grapes, other than Thompson seedless, in 1974.

"Machine harvested grapes make bitter wine because the machine chops the leaves in with juice," the Gallo spokesman said yesterday.

The Gallo decision has stirred concern in the grape growing industry because Gallo wineries crush 50 per cent of California's wine grapes.

Growers are concerned that some 14,000 acres of new wine grapes anticipated to come into production in the next few years won't be harvested because of a labor shortage.

The spokesman also said Gallo will accept a limited number of machine harvested grapes on an experimental basis.

He said that Gallo wants to work along with the growers all they can and if they see there is an improvement in quality they will start accepting machine harvested grapes again.

He said the wineries will still accept machine harvested Thompson seedless variety grapes because they don't have the "bitterness" problem that other varieties have.

Peanut Problems Appear In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Use of improper or poorly adjusted equipment cost Texas peanut growers $1.5 million in damaged peanuts last year.

James S. Denton, area economist for the Texas Agricutural Extension service, said the faulty equipment causes split kernels, loose shelled kernels and foreign material in the peanuts, lowering their grade.

Protester's Picket Suit Tossed Out

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A suit filed by Robert Simpson, 93, dean of Capitol protestors, alleging false arrest and $5.2 million in damages, was dismissed yesterday in federal court.

Judge Thomas J. MacBride denied Simpson's request for a preliminary injunction to stop State Police from arresting him in violation of the state's Capitol anti-picketing law. At the same time, the judge granted a motion by the defendants to dismiss the action.

Named in the suit were State Police Chief Guy R. Oates and 12 John Does. Simpson has been arrested 264 times by his own count.

Nathaniel Colley, Simpson's attorney, earlier said the arrest of his client represented a violation of federal civil rights, especially the freedom of speech, the right to assemble and the right to petition the Legislature.

Simpson, who appears daily in the Capitol with signs denouncing the governor and Legislature in sometimes salty language, is arrested and taken to city hall where he is routinely released.

Warden Answers Hoffa Charges

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, who criticized the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary where he served 4-½ years for jury tampering and mail fraud, drew the ire of the warden yesterday.

"He does not know how this prison is run now," said Warden Marvin Hogan. "Hoffa left long before I came here. Whatever he was talking about was part of the last administration."

Hoffa made his charges in an address to the Philadelphia County Medical Society Wednesday night, saying Lewisburg was "the worst prison in Pennsylvania" and said inmates were "treated as animals."

Girl Asks Santa For Belts On Bus

A 4-year-old Novato girl, who was once in an accident in a car that didn't have seat belts, has sent a letter to Santa Claus requesting seat belts for her school bus.

Rosemary Paton of 26 Boulevard Terrace, who attends the Head Start class at the Novato Human Needs Center, sent the letter, her mother, Kathleen Slattery, reported.

Would you like your child to feel close to God?

GOD

The simplicity of children makes them very receptive to love. And to God.

In the Christian Science Sunday School, children learn that God is Father and Mother to us all. They learn that all mankind belongs to one spiritual family—and how this truth draws members of an individual family closer together.

Former Anderson Student Describes Instruction

A former Tamalpais High School student testified yesterday that she learned 'to communicate' in teacher Kenneth A. Anderson's English class, but admitted that she learned nothing about English literature, poetry, drama or grammar in the class.

Mary Dyder, who was one of Anderson's students in 1970, was on the stand as a defense witness, during the Marin Superior Court trial in which the Tamalpais High School District is trying to fire Anderson.

She was cross-examined by William O. Weissich, the district's attorney:

"Do you think you learned about English literature in the class?"

"No," she replied, "I learned to express myself in my journal," a journal that each of Anderson's students kept. Weissich's further questioning brought out that Anderson never corrected the journals for grammar or composition errors. "The journals were personal," Miss Dyder said.

"Did you hear any four-letter words" in Anderson's classes?," Weissich asked.

"I heard them in every classroom in Tam," the former coed said. If she heard Anderson use any of them, she thought nothing of it, she said.

She testified during questioning by defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro, that she thought Anderson sometimes made "outrageous" statements simply because he was trying to spark student discussion of current events and significant issues.

Another defense witness earlier in the day discussed student Bruce Paul Lohman, who had declared in a sworn statement submitted in court, that Anderson knew Lohman had bombed two Bank of America branches and the high school restroom in 1971 and had encouraged the youth's violence.

Lohman was "an ugly American" during his summertime stay in La Paz, Baja California, in 1970, as one of 14 students from a Tam Spanish class, teacher Antonio M. Medrano testified.

The nonjury firing trial was to continue today before Judge E. Warren McGuire.

A GLIMPSE OF THE LARKSPUR FERRY TERMINAL

Golden Gate Bridge District's terminal is to look like this when the $10.4 million terminal opens in June, 1975. The diamond-shaped plexiglass roof will be supported by an open frame of steel pipe, with windscreens providing additional weather protection around the seating areas. Magazine, snack and bar kiosks were eliminated to save money, but commercial interests may pay for them instead. Passengers will load on the upper deck of the floats.

Barnes Given A New Shoreline Contract

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night gave Supt. Kenneth E. Barnes a new two-year contract from July 1974 to July 1976.

Barnes said his $22,000-a-year salary was left unchanged. A raise for him will be considered at budget sessions next year.

Barnes was appointed assistant superintendent in December, 1971, and named superintendent last July, succeeding Charles E. McCully, who resigned.

The Shoreline Unified School District board also:

BLOOMFIELD LAND — Received an environmental impact report on a planned 420-acre residential development south of Bloomfield. Barnes said the development's impact would not be severe, since it would add only about 25 pupils to the district.

ENERGY CRISIS — Learned that district thermostats have been lowered and that electricity in buildings is being turned off nights and weekends to conserve energy. The board suggested Barnes investigate the possibility of combining or shortening bus runs to save fuel.

EUROPEAN TRIP — Denied a request by Joanne McCann, Tomales high school teacher, to take a few students to Europe next spring because the trip would conflict with a planned trip to Washington, D.C.

PRICES — Raised the price of a high school lunch from 45 to 50 cents (for lunch alone) and from 52 to 55 cents for lunch and milk. The price for milk alone remained at seven cents.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of tools, donated by David Van Pelt of Nicasio for West Marin School.

COMMENDATION — Received a letter from the Tomales Middle School staff commending James Baroni, a custodian, for his work at the school.

Bridge Widening Project Blocked

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Metropolitan Transportation Commission Wednesday blocked the proposed widening of a five-mile trestle section of the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge.

Commissioners objected to spending $25 million to widen the bridge to six lanes when the highway leading to it is only four lanes.

The legislative act authorizing the widening had stipulated that MTC approval was necessary.

Hub Chamber Picks Officers

Helen Dellwig has been elected new president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce.

Other new officers are Russell Goodman, vice president and Joan Vivaldo, treasurer.

Esther Dearth will continue as chamber manager and secretary in 1974.

Two File For Cotati City Council Seats

An incumbent city councilman and the chairman of the city's planning commission have filed for the two seats on the Cotati City Council up for election March 5.

Seeking another term is Harry E. Fassio, who was appointed to the council last September. Allen C. Stansbury, a planning commission member for the past two years, also has filed for a seat on the city council.

The terms of Fassio and Laura Washburn expire. She has not yet filed for the election.

Stansbury, 31, is a marketing services representative for Union Carbide in San Francisco. He holds a bachelor's degree in government from the University of Texas.

In a campaign statement, Stansbury said, "I have lived in or been associated with Cotati since 1952 and am a product of the local school system . .. "

He also said that in his two years on the planning commission he had been a liaison between the commission and the city council, thus becoming familiar with the problems faced by councilmen.

"During this service I became well acquainted with the legislative process and, in fact, have drafted or recommended several ideas which are now city policy or city ordinance," Stansbury said.

Uniting the community and dispelling apathy among some of the city's "more established residents" are two of Stansbury's goals. He also wants to assure more representation for Cotati on county, regional and state levels.

Stansbury lives with his wife and three children at 550 School Street.

Fassio, 49, was appointed to the city council after two members, Herbert T. Winter and Frank P. Dolinsek, quit in the wake of a recall election which failed last September. Winter and Dolinsek had supported the recall of their three younger colleagues, with whom they frequently disagreed.

Fassio was considered a noncontroversial choice, although he had opposed the recall.

Fassio, 49, is a former Sonoma city councilman and also was a member of the Sonoma Valley School District board before moving to Cotati two years ago.

He is a maintenance supervisor at Mare Island Naval Shipyard.

Fasio has said he wants to attract light industry and commercial development to Cotati to lift some of the tax burden from homeowners.

TV Cameraman Suing Coppola

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A television cameraman asserts in a $300,000 lawsuit that "Godfather" director Francis Ford Coppola "unlawfully assaulted, beat and struck" him.

The suit filed yesterday by cameraman Harold A. (Buck) Joseph of KGO-TV said the incident occurred Feb. 20 at a Pacific Heights park.

According to Joseph's lawyer, the cameraman and a reporter from the station went to the park after residents of the neighborhood complained that a movie company was using a smoke generator.

Coppola told Joseph to stop taking pictures, according to the lawyer, and then he and several other men assertedly attacked Joseph.

Nurse Found Dead From Gun Wound

A 31-year-old nurse was found shot to death last night in her Sausalito home, apparently the victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound to the temple, according to the Marin County Coroner's office.

Kathryn Ann Maberry of 34 Lincoln Drive had been dead several days, the coroner said.

A friend telephoned police at 10:55 to request that officers check on Miss Maberry's well-being. She had been despondent for several weeks, police said.

Her body was discovered lying on the floor beside her bed, a .32 caliber revolver nearby. Officers said they found a bullet hole in the ceiling and three suicide notes in the home.

Miss Maberry is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maberry of Uniontown, Pa. Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

It's Almost Too Late!
But Take Heart—We Saved Our Best Holiday Sale for You Late Shoppers

Christmas is only a few days away now, and those last few names on your shopping list probably have you in a mild state of panic. Why not bring your list into Pacific Stereo and consider our gift suggestions? We've never heard of anyone who was disappointed with a piece of good stereo gear, and these last minute specials are so attractively priced, probably all you'll have left to do is the gift wrap. By the way, if you were planning to buy yourself some new equipment this year, now's the time to do it. You won't find better prices or easier terms, and you'll be sure there's fine music in your home in time for the holidays.

We've Knocked Off $130 for Last Minute Savings

The SHERWOOD 8900A is probably the best FM stereo receiver you'd find at $430; the amplifier section delivers an honest 120 watts (RMS) from 20 to 20,000 Hz, and the tuner's superb specifications (such as a 70 dB signal-to-noise ratio) assure you of the best possible sound from any station on the air. The 8900A also has all the convenience features you'd want; the price is $429.95 (walnut case not included).

GARRARD's SL72B automatic record player has a sophisticated tonearm that can handle even badly warped records, and its Synchro-Lab motor guarantees rock-steady speed. Our price of $110.95 includes a base and an Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge.

The AR-8 is a two-way system with a ten-inch bass driver and a 1¼-inch cone treble speaker; its frequency response is very smooth, with no trace of the midrange "hole" often apparent in two-way designs. Highs are dispersed over a very wide arc so good stereo isn't restricted to just one spot in the listening room. A pair of AR-8's normally sell for $238, bringing the total value of this system to $778.90. Buy it now and you'll save $129.90, with our rock solid five-year warranty included free!

We've Knocked Off $82 for Last Minute Savings

The SHERWOOD 7100A stereo receiver is an excellent value at its regular low price. Now you can include it in this carefully matched system and save $81.80 in the bargain. The 7100A boasts 44 watts (RMS) of low distortion power and an FM tuner section that brings in stations refreshingly free of background noise. You'll find the most useful control features on this receiver too, including FM muting and a tape monitor switch. The walnut case is included in its regular price of $219.95.

The new GARRARD 62 record player offers the kind of precision previously available only in more expensive models. There's a new low-mass aluminum tonearm, adjustable anti-skate, and damped cueing. Our $90.95 price includes a base and the Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge.

TRANSAUDIO 1010's are two-way speaker systems with big ten-inch drivers for strong, clear bass lines. They normally sell for $119.90 a pair. Purchased separately, these components would total $430.80, but our holiday sale price saves you $81.80 – and our no-hassle, five-year warranty is included at no extra cost.

We've Knocked Off $92 for Last Minute Savings

This attractive system won't crowd even the tiniest of rooms, yet it delivers the full-bodied sound that only components can give you. The TRANSAUDIO 5502 stereo receiver normally sells for $149.95, including a walnut case, and its AM/FM tuner section offers noise-free reception of any station within range.

The 5502 has a 16-watt (RMS) amplifier, and that's all the QUADRAFLEX 26 speakers need. Their two-way acoustic suspension design produces really satisfying music for the surprisingly low price of only $89.90 a pair.

GARRARD's 40B is a thoroughly reliable automatic record player with a gentle record changing mechanism and damped cueing to help keep your discs in mint condition. Our price for the 40B, complete with a base and an Empire 999XE/X elliptical cartridge, is $50.95; so the regular total for these components is $290.80. This week you can buy this system for $91.80 less, and our sale price includes a written five-year warranty.

A GLIMPSE OF THE LARKSPUR FERRY TERMINAL

Golden Gate Bridge District's terminal is to look like this when the $10.4 million terminal opens in June, 1975. The diamond-shaped plexiglass roof will be supported by an open frame of steel pipe, with windscreens providing additional weather protection around the seating areas. Magazine, snack and bar kiosks were eliminated to save money, but commercial interests may pay for them instead. Passengers will load on the upper deck of the floats.

Barnes Given A New Shoreline Contract

The Shoreline Unified School District board last night gave Supt. Kenneth E. Barnes a new two-year contract from July 1974 to July 1976.

Barnes said his $22,000-a-year salary was left unchanged. A raise for him will be considered at budget sessions next year.

The Shoreline Unified School District board also:

BLOOMFIELD LAND — Received an environmental impact report on a planned 420-acre residential development south of Bloomfield. Barnes said the development's impact would not be severe, since it would add only about 25 pupils to the district.

ENERGY CRISIS — Learned that district thermostats have been lowered and that electricity in buildings is being turned off nights and weekends to conserve energy. The board suggested Barnes investigate the possibility of combining or shortening bus runs to save fuel.

EUROPEAN TRIP — Denied a request by Joanne McCann, Tomales high school teacher, to take a few students to Europe next spring because the trip would conflict with a planned trip to Washington, D.C.

PRICES — Raised the price of a high school lunch from 45 to 50 cents (for lunch alone) and from 52 to 55 cents for lunch and milk. The price for milk alone remained at seven cents.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of tools, donated by David Van Pelt of Nicasio for West Marin School.

Bridge Widening Project Blocked

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Metropolitan Transportation Commission Wednesday blocked the proposed widening of a five-mile trestle section of the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge.

Commissioners objected to spending $25 million to widen the bridge to six lanes when the highway leading to it is only four lanes.

The legislative act authorizing the widening had stipulated that MTC approval was necessary.

Hub Chamber Picks Officers

Helen Dellwig has been elected new president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce.

Other new officers are Russell Goodman, vice president and Joan Vivaldo, treasurer.

Esther Dearth will continue as chamber manager and secretary in 1974.

Two File For Cotati City Council Seats

An incumbent city councilman and the chairman of the city's planning commission have filed for the two seats on the Cotati City Council up for election March 5.

Seeking another term is Harry E. Fassio, who was appointed to the council last September. Allen C. Stansbury, a planning commission member for the past two years, also has filed for a seat on the city council.

The terms of Fassio and Laura Washburn expire. She has not yet filed for the election.

Stansbury, 31, is a marketing services representative for Union Carbide in San Francisco. He holds a bachelor's degree in government from the University of Texas.

In a campaign statement, Stansbury said, "I have lived in or been associated with Cotati since 1952 and am a product of the local school system . .. "

He also said that in his two years on the planning commission he had been a liaison between the commission and the city council, thus becoming familiar with the problems faced by councilmen.

"During this service I became well acquainted with the legislative process and, in fact, have drafted or recommended several ideas which are now city policy or city ordinance," Stansbury said.

Uniting the community and dispelling apathy among some of the city's "more established residents" are two of Stansbury's goals. He also wants to assure more representation for Cotati on county, regional and state levels.

Stansbury lives with his wife and three children at 550 School Street.

Fassio, 49, was appointed to the city council after two members, Herbert T. Winter and Frank P. Dolinsek, quit in the wake of a recall election which failed last September. Winter and Dolinsek had supported the recall of their three younger colleagues, with whom they frequently disagreed.

Fassio was considered a noncontroversial choice, although he had opposed the recall.

Fassio, 49, is a former Sonoma city councilman and also was a member of the Sonoma Valley School District board before moving to Cotati two years ago.

He is a maintenance supervisor at Mare Island Naval Shipyard.

Fasio has said he wants to attract light industry and commercial development to Cotati to lift some of the tax burden from homeowners.

TV Cameraman Suing Coppola

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A television cameraman asserts in a $300,000 lawsuit that "Godfather" director Francis Ford Coppola "unlawfully assaulted, beat and struck" him.

The suit filed yesterday by cameraman Harold A. (Buck) Joseph of KGO-TV said the incident occurred Feb. 20 at a Pacific Heights park.

According to Joseph's lawyer, the cameraman and a reporter from the station went to the park after residents of the neighborhood complained that a movie company was using a smoke generator.

Coppola told Joseph to stop taking pictures, according to the lawyer, and then he and several other men assertedly attacked Joseph.

Nurse Found Dead From Gun Wound

A 31-year-old nurse was found shot to death last night in her Sausalito home, apparently the victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound to the temple, according to the Marin County Coroner's office.

Kathryn Ann Maberry of 34 Lincoln Drive had been dead several days, the coroner said.

A friend telephoned police at 10:55 to request that officers check on Miss Maberry's well-being. She had been despondent for several weeks, police said.

Her body was discovered lying on the floor beside her bed, a .32 caliber revolver nearby. Officers said they found a bullet hole in the ceiling and three suicide notes in the home.

Miss Maberry is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maberry of Uniontown, Pa. Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

OLD MR. CLAUS SHARES HIS LETTERS

Santa Claus is a very busy fellow these days, putting finishing touches on the toys he is making and trying to keep up with his mail. Recently, on a whirlwind visit to California, he stopped briefly in San Rafael to pick up a batch of letters from boys and girls who wanted to be sure he didn't miss their homes on Christmas Eve. The Merry Old Elf agreed to share a few of the missives with the Independent-Journal. He chuckled heartily over one letter from a boy who was eager to lighten Santa's chores. The youngster informed Mr. Claus that all the toys he wanted this year could be found, quite easily and conveniently at a single store — Sears. To make the task even simpler, the boy even included the serial numbers of the items he wanted.

OLD MR. CLAUS SHARES HIS LETTERS

Santa Claus is a very busy fellow these days, putting finishing touches on the toys he is making and trying to keep up with his mail. Recently, on a whirlwind visit to California, he stopped briefly in San Rafael to pick up a batch of letters from boys and girls who wanted to be sure he didn't miss their homes on Christmas Eve. The Merry Old Elf agreed to share a few of the missives with the Independent-Journal. He chuckled heartily over one letter from a boy who was eager to lighten Santa's chores. The youngster informed Mr. Claus that all the toys he wanted this year could be found, quite easily and conveniently at a single store — Sears. To make the task even simpler, the boy even included the serial numbers of the items he wanted.

INJURY ACCIDENT IN SAN RAFAEL

Officer James Cunha writes up the circumstances that created this tangled wreckage. The accident at 8 o'clock last night in San Rafael sent the driver of the truck and his wife to Marin General Hospital where he was reported in satisfactory condition today and she is in fair condition. The truck, according to Cunha, accelerated through the intersection of A and B streets and into a private parking lot at 709 B Street, sideswiping one parked car and coming to a halt only after pushing this car owned by Josephine P. Cambria of 111 Sunrise Lane, Novato, 52 feet out onto the road. Manuel Furtado of 23 Glen Drive, San Rafael, suffered a cut scalp and his wife Mary was treated for a dislocated right shoulder. Furtado was booked in absentia at Marin County Jail for felony drunk driving and driving without a license.

Moderate Income Housing For Elderly Possible In Tiburon

Tiburon might build some moderate income housing through a proposed downtown redevelopment project, a city councilman has indicated.

Councilman Allan N. Littman told a group Wednesday at a workshop on the city's adopted downtown plan that the project could be used to finance 15 units of housing for the elderly, according to planning commissioner E. Bruce Ross.

The workshop is one of a series being held by the Tiburon Planning Commission on the downtown plan and on the downtown developments proposed by Sequoia Pacific of Santa Ana and Fred Zelinsky of Belvedere.

Littman spoke after a discussion on which of the two developers should be asked to include moderate income housing in their plans.

After Edwin G. Weed, president of the Tiburon Ecumenical Association, pleaded that one of the developers build such housing, Philip K. Buskirk, Sequoia Pacific's architect, said that the city's original plans showed that the housing should go on Zelinsky's property.

Buskirk also said that since Sequoia Pacific already was planning to donate extensive open space to the city, it was not feasible financially for the firm to give up land for moderate income housing as well.

Zelinsky's architect, Allan Thompson, then said that both his client and Sequoia Pacific should be required to produce the housing.

Kingston, with a population of 85,000, is the capital of Jamaica and is the largest English-speaking city in the Caribbean and South America. Its harbor is the seventh largest in the world.

Split On Ridge Land Develops

Sausalito planning commissioners split last night on whether to exclude 2.3 acres on the South Ridge from the city's open space element for the general plan.

At issue were seven parcels east of Highway 101, including the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation, and less than an acre near 319 Sausalito Boulevard, where a housing development has been approved by the city.

Commissioners Violeta Autumn and Dorothy Gibson argued that the property would serve as a transition area between the city and the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, according to Planning Director Herb Case.

Commissioners Robert L. Nissen and Thomas H. Gildersleeve countered that the land is too costly, amounting to one-third of the assessed valuation for the entire proposed open space area on only 8 per cent of the land, Case said.

The city council previously recommended that the property be omitted. The open space element now will go to councilmen, who will consider its adoption at their meeting Jan. 8

Rent-A-Cow Business Triples In 11 Years

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Rent a cow?

That's what three large firms are doing — leasing cows to Wisconsin dairy farmers as an alternative to their spending large sums to purchase cows and going into debt.

The companies are Metz Farms of Appleton, Darcey Rent-A-Cow, Inc. of Watertown, and Tomlen Associates of Janesville.

Harold Niedfeldt, head of Darcey Rent-A-Cow, said his firm has been leasing cows since 1962. In the past 11 years the business has tripled, he said.

Darcey rents its animals for between $150 and $200 per cow per year, compared to the $700 price of a good dairy cow that will produce an average of 45 pounds of milk a day.

This adds up to 16,425 pounds of milk a year, which at $8 a hundred pounds would gross the farmer $1,312 a year. In most cases the farmer also gets the keep the yearly calf.

President Won't Pay For Survey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon does not intend to reimburse the government for surveys made of his San Clemente property, his chief spokesman said yesterday.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren was asked if Nixon would repay the $5,500 spent by the General Services Administration on the surveys. "The answer is no," said Warren.

Warren said the President's villa in San Clemente, "is a home where he has entertained world figures and world leaders."

The General Accounting Office said in a report earlier this week that there had been "a casual attitude" on the part of Nixon's aides in ordering landscaping, street paving, and other improvements at the California estate. The GAO is a congressional investigating agency.

Weinberger Calls Welfare Fund Misuses A 'Scandal'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said yesterday a nationwide report stating that four out of every 10 welfare families were ineligible or incorrectly paid was a "national scandal."

The findings from an intensive six-month study of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program (AFDC), the nation's largest and costliest welfare program, said that $1.17 billion a year goes to families ineligible for such aid.

"Perilously close to half the people in this program are not getting the payments they should," Weinberger said. "I think this is a national scandal."

Weinberger also said he believed the figures quoted in the report were "conservative, if anything."

Based on a national sample of 44,000 recipients this year, the report said 10.2 per cent of the 10.8 million AFDC recipients are ineligible, 22.8 per cent are overpaid and 8.1 per cent are underpaid.

Weinberger said he didn't ascribe a significant amount of the incorrect payments to fraud, but said cause of the payment errors was "inept administration with no will or necessity to do anything about it."

Weinberger said a leading factory in AFDC mispayments was a rule that a state could not move to verify information on an application for welfare assistance unless the applicant gave written permission for such a veritication.

"That regulation was absurd," Weinberger said. "We have issued new regulations which will permit this simple verification, and other similar management necessities."

On other subjects, the HEW chief said the $1.1 billion in education and health money President Nixon released from compoundment Wednesday had always been available for payment. The argument the Administration had with Congress, Weinberger said, was on how to spend the funds.

"Rather than prolong the uncertainty," he added, "the President decided to release the funds even though we think there are better ways to spend them."

Weinberger also said the administration was getting ready for Jan. 3, 1974, the mailing of the first Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks in the history of the country.

"It's the biggest civilian job government has evern undertaken," he said.

100 YEARS OLD

Delta Gammas Mark A Birthday

One-hundred years ago at Christmastime three young women were snowbound at the Lewis School in Mississippi, where they were students. Unable to get home for the holidays they formed a sorority, Delta Gamma.

Members of the Marin County Alumnae of Delta Gamma sorority, founded in 1949, celebrated the centennial Wednesday at a party at the home of Mrs. Robert S. Crowder in Tiburon. They gathered antique ornaments to decorate a tree in memory of their founders.

At their national centennial convention recently the sorority presented a $50,000 grant to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness to fund publication and nationwide distribution of a home eye testing kit for pre school age children. Sight conservation and aid to the blind is Delta Gamma's internation philanthropic project.

Marin County alumnae have supported Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael, a pilot dance program for blind Marin teen-agers and local camperships to the Enchanted Hill Camp for the blind in Napa. Last year 1,034 pre school age children were vision screened at 27 nursery schools in Marin by 38 Delta Gamma volunteers. Mrs. George Aster of Larkspur is chairman of the project.

Members will begin the second century with projects revolving around the local theme "Recycling."

Books Spotlight Big Crafts Boom

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Christmas books for craftsmen cut a wide swathe providing the best in basics but orbiting to the zenith in expertise.

For beginners especially, the "Golden Hands Complete Book of Knitting and Crochet," one of a series, offers a wide range of instructions which includes some easy-to-follow techniques for sophisticated work with sequins, stripes, tweed effects. For an engaged girl, a floor length bridal coat or the popular Irish Aran fisherman sweater for her fiance, could be labors of love.

The book series includes individual pattern books — knitting, embroidery, crochet, bargello. A book on handcrafts provides instructions for beadwork, collage, leathercraft.

And there are the books of well-known knitters, Barbara Walker — "The Craft of Multicolor Knitting" — and Barbara Abbey, whose "Complete Book of Knitting" includes instructions for left handers. Her "101 Ways to Improve Knitting" has been reprinted 21 times.

AMONG NEEDLEPOINT books that seem to provide for every need is "Lisbeth Perrone's Needlepoint Workbook." The big loose-leaf book by this well known needlewoman — she is a director of "The American Embroiderers' Guild" where she also teaches — has more than 40 needlepoint designs with directions for tracing them right on canvas and instructions for using colors and the quantity needed.

"Needlepoint Designs from American Indian Art" was inspired by artifacts in The American Museum of Natural History where the author, Nora Cammann, an expert in embroideries, is a volunteer worker. A primitive goat and turtle from about 1000 A.D. are a delightful pair that may be done either in crewel or needlepoint.

Another book inspired by old arts, some ancient, is "Designs for Bargello" by Nikki Scheuer, which adapts 62 full color designs from old laces, quilts, brocades, embroideries and mosaics of more than 15 countries.

IN "THE NEEDLEPOINT Alphabet Book," Meredith and Gary Gladstone, suggest the a-b-c's in many forms for application to canvas, and for those who find needlepoint an expensive hobby, Mira Silverstein offers "Needlepoint on a Shoe String," suggesting the use of string, ribbon, raffia, and of course, shoestring on burlap and other materials.

Fancy stitches are broken down to a simple formula of numbers on a diagram in the well-planned "Needlepoint Stitchery" by Margaret Boyles. Muriel Crowell, author of "The Fine Art of Needlepoint," provides unusual designs — including a jaunty bicycle seat cover with a road runner motif — that have been popular with customers who frequent her shop.

Apiece-de-resistance for needlepointers may be Katherine Irey's "Finishing and Mounting Your Needlepoint Pieces." It is touted as the first book to provide full details on the subject. Long-awaited by needlepointers, especially those with unfinished work, instructions are given for finishing 40 different kinds of needlepoint.

"Erica Wilson's Embroidery Book" includes designs not only in crewel which she helped make famous in America, but a variety of techniques — needlepoint with silk and gold threads, stumpwork with its raised designs, silhouette work, and blackwork — black silk and gold thread on cream linen.

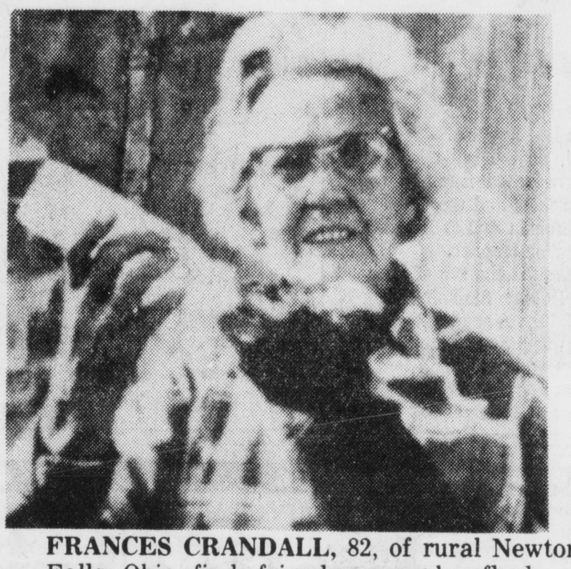
THE FASHIONABLE Indian mirror embroidery, ecclesiastical work and doodle and ink blot designs are among interesting directions given in Eirian Short's "Embroidery and Fabric Collage," and Spencer Depas combines weaving and macrame in imaginative designs in "Macrame, Weaving and Tapestry." His double weave creates a new effect in wall hangings.

For those who want to see if they really can weave, the "Off Loom Weaving Book," by Rose Naumann and Raymond Hull provides directions for building an inexpensive do-it-yourself frame.

In assembling her "Crafts of Mexico," Marian Harvey takes the reader on a travel tour as she provides authentic techniques in papier mache, yarn painting, masks, wood saints, black pottery and so on from five craft-producing areas of fame. Among 250 illustrations are directions on projects using reeds — wheat, bamboo, palm, sugar cane.

Barbara Maynard's "Modern Basketry from the Start" goes from basics to technicalities with weaves, borders, handles, hinges and lots of patterns.

"SCRAP CRAFT" By Elizabeth Logan should cheer environmentalists with its suggestions for turning cans, cream jars, egg shells and what not into delightful tin castles and the like. And for those who want to convert scarves, blankets and lace tablecloths into some with-it garments, there is Vicki Gerber's "Find It, Sew It, Wear It." There are some excellent directions too in Rejean Metzler's "Forever Flowers" for transforming leaves, nuts, berries and so on into everlasting decorative objects.



FRANCES CRANDALL, 82, of rural Newton Falls, Ohio, finds friends among her flocks of sheep, fowl and other animals on the 50 acre farm she operates alone. Feeding time finds her giving a bottle to an orphan nanny goat (left) and handsful of grain to the geese, ducks and chickens (right).

No Hired Hands For Her At 82

By GLEN SCHOTTEN

NEWTON FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Frances Ruth Crandall, 82, believes "'fighting like cats and dogs' applies better to people than to animals," and her herds, flocks and gaggles back her up.

Mrs. Crandall, known as "Grandma Crandall" to friends, and a widow since December 1972, runs a 150-acre farm without human help. A pair of Border Collies, Lady and Nudder Puppy, come to her aid.

Not too long ago, for instance, Nudder Puppy shepherded 20 fat, shortlegged ducklings back to the safety of the front yard from the road into which they had strayed.

The collies also drive the cows, head the goats off from slipping away, and serve as watchdogs. And they — like the cows, horses, steers, sheep, chickens, geese, ducks and rabbits — are her companions since her painter and paperhanger husband, Benjamin, died at 84.

"Animals get along together a lot better than so-called civilized people," she says, "and they're reliable and honest as the day is long.

"We've got a Garden of Eden here," she says, petting one of her Pomeranians in the kitchen of her large farmhouse near this community about eight miles west of Warren.

All the animals are named and "love it when you talk to them," Mrs. Crandall says. She also thinks they communicate with her as she walks among them, listening to their whinnies, cackles, bleats, honking, mooing and barking.

The geese, George and Sarah, are 20 years old. Sarah still lays eggs. Speckled Lady, one of two show horses, and a black billy goat buddy up for hours, the goat standing quietly under Lady's neck.

There are an old buck sheep and a Hereford calf which are inseparable. And there is a Muscovy drake that never lets a certain white Pekin duck out of his sight.

Being alone and facing a heavy workload, will Grandma Crandall quit, giving up her old barn, her aging corncrib and her gnarled tree whose apples are still sweet?

"When a cow used to misbehave I used to swing it around three times by the tail before letting fly," she replies. "Now I only swing her two times.

"When I can't swing her but once, I'll probably leave the farm," she says.

But her eyes twinkle as she says it.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She Doesn't Understand Why Husband Doesn't Understand

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 24-year-old woman married to a man of 35. I can't understand his ideas on life. This is my second marriage. My first husband was younger than me — in fact he was a good deal like this male friend I go out with.

My present husband knows I would never want to marry my "boyfriend" because he isn't serious-minded and fools around, like my ex did. We just go out for laughs while my husband is studying or working. (He makes a good living for us and is trying to finish up his college work so he can get a degree, which keeps him very busy.)

Now why would a man resent his wife having fun, if he knows she would never leave him for the other guy? He ought to be glad I'm having a good time — and that he's my first choice. — FAITHFUL IN MY FASHION, BUT TIRED OF FOUR WALLS

DEAR "FAITHFUL":

Now look! You dumped your first husband because he "fooled around." So why the surprise when your present husband resents a stand-in? Do you deserve special privileges you wouldn't extend to your man?

If you want this marriage to last, you'd better start having fun with only one — your legal partner. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our government officials are beating the drums for energy conservation. But (as of this writing) I notice our state office buildings are lit up like Christmas trees all night long, just because someone high up says it's cheaper to let fluorescent lights burn continuously — saves the elements. Also, I don't see any top politicians taking the bus to work. Most get squired around in limousines, and when they go by air, a government plane makes a long, fuel-consuming, expensive trip for just one small party. I think this is only okay for the President and Mr. Kissinger.

If we little guys are asked to bundle up against the cold, drive 50 miles an hour in carpools, turn off every light behind us, and use our ovens only when it's absolutely necessary, it seems to me the high muckamucks could make a little effort too. Right? — FREEZING, SQUINTING, WALKING and HOPING FOR BETTER EXAMPLES

DEAR FSWHFBE:

Right! And let's hope by the time your letter hits print, your hopes will have come true. Meanwhile I forwarded your comments to Washington where they might stir up something more than a form reply . . . maybe. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My family and my husband's parents will be all together this Christmas for the first time in several years. I wanted only family, but it seems my sister and her husband just took in a waif — the daughter of a playgirl type who was judged unfit to care for her.

This girl could be with her natural mother on Christmas — they keep in touch. The mother could certainly take one day from her own pleasures to entertain her 13-year-old daughter.

The point is, I had my heart set on a family Christmas, and this girl isn't one of us, but only a foster child. If she had no place to go, I wouldn't make an issue, but — don't you think my sister should realize she's causing a problem? —FAMILY AFFAIR

DEAR F.A.:

No!

Instead, I think you should realize that Christmas is for giving — and give a little kindness. This girl has been shoved around enough, without being made to feel unwanted again! — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

SALT LAKE CITY — Even though many of us vow every year we are not going to participate in the American frenzy of material gift-giving, most of us eventually yield to the traditional practice in some form. What to give friend or foe is always a problem. Below are a few gift suggestions.

For Yvonne Brathwaite Burke: a baby-sitting gift certificate to be used during the next session of Congress.

For Hank Aaron: a blank check from the cities of Atlanta and Milwaukee for services rendered above and beyond the call of duty.

For Maude's maid, Florida: a maid.

For Terry, 4-year-old black orphan with incredible brown eyes: a loving, adoptive home.

For Mercedes (new auto status symbol for blacks) owners: fuel.

For Wilt Chamberlain: autographed copies of old Shirley Temple movies, particularly those in which she co-stars with Willie Benson, Stepin Fetchit's movie replacement.

For the city of Oakland: deepest sympathy for the loss of school superintendent Marcus Foster.

For George Foreman: a colossal (though doomed to failure) contender.

FOR THOSE starving inhabitants of the Sahel region of West Africa: vigorous and real support from all of us who are eating regularly.

For all black women: a revised sense of self.

For Paul Wynter, Mr. Universe (he happens to be black): a year's supply of muscle relaxant.

For Sammy Davis Jr.: a "Smoking Is Injurious to Your Health" pamphlet. Would hate to lose Mr. Wonderful prematurely.

For all black children: a sensitive, creative film version of Nina Simone's "To Be Young, Gifted and Black."

For sickle cell anemia researchers: continued support.

For all black males: peace of mind.

For many black prisoners: another shot at justice.

For black parents: fierce commitment to the child-rearing process.

For the White Socialist Party: a beefy source of income so they can send authentic (rather than simulated) "back-to-Africa tickets" to their favorite black columnist.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She Doesn't Understand Why Husband Doesn't Understand

DEAR HELEN:

I am a 24-year-old woman married to a man of 35. I can't understand his ideas on life. This is my second marriage. My first husband was younger than me — in fact he was a good deal like this male friend I go out with.

My present husband knows I would never want to marry my "boyfriend" because he isn't serious-minded and fools around, like my ex did. We just go out for laughs while my husband is studying or working. (He makes a good living for us and is trying to finish up his college work so he can get a degree, which keeps him very busy.)

Now why would a man resent his wife having fun, if he knows she would never leave him for the other guy? He ought to be glad I'm having a good time — and that he's my first choice. — FAITHFUL IN MY FASHION, BUT TIRED OF FOUR WALLS

DEAR "FAITHFUL":

Now look! You dumped your first husband because he "fooled around." So why the surprise when your present husband resents a stand-in? Do you deserve special privileges you wouldn't extend to your man?

If you want this marriage to last, you'd better start having fun with only one — your legal partner. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our government officials are beating the drums for energy conservation. But (as of this writing) I notice our state office buildings are lit up like Christmas trees all night long, just because someone high up says it's cheaper to let fluorescent lights burn continuously — saves the elements. Also, I don't see any top politicians taking the bus to work. Most get squired around in limousines, and when they go by air, a government plane makes a long, fuel-consuming, expensive trip for just one small party. I think this is only okay for the President and Mr. Kissinger.

If we little guys are asked to bundle up against the cold, drive 50 miles an hour in carpools, turn off every light behind us, and use our ovens only when it's absolutely necessary, it seems to me the high muckamucks could make a little effort too. Right? — FREEZING, SQUINTING, WALKING and HOPING FOR BETTER EXAMPLES

DEAR FSWHFBE:

Right! And let's hope by the time your letter hits print, your hopes will have come true. Meanwhile I forwarded your comments to Washington where they might stir up something more than a form reply ... maybe. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My family and my husband's parents will be all together this Christmas for the first time in several years. I wanted only family, but it seems my sister and her husband just took in a waif — the daughter of a playgirl type who was judged unfit to care for her.

This girl could be with her natural mother on Christmas — they keep in touch. The mother could certainly take one day from her own pleasures to entertain her 13-year-old daughter.

The point is, I had my heart set on a family Christmas, and this girl isn't one of us, but only a foster child. If she had no place to go, I wouldn't make an issue, but — don't you think my sister should realize she's causing a problem? —FAMILY AFFAIR

DEAR F.A.:

No!

Instead, I think you should realize that Christmas is for giving — and give a little kindness. This girl has been shoved around enough, without being made to feel unwanted again! — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Doctor Disturbed By New Decisions On Life, Death

By EVE SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Genetic engineering decisions worry Dr. Amital Etzioni.

The curly-haired professor of sociology at Columbia University and director of the Center for Policy Research is apprehensive that we may be preparing to do in genetics "what we did in fouling up" the environment.

Medical technology he said, "has improved to the point that it is possible to open a Pandora's box of decisions without any institutional provisions for thinking through responsibility for them.

"Decisions facing us now are like a genetic steam engine," he said in an interview. "In the beginning of the Industrial Revolution, technology created the steam engine. Nobody asked what it meant in terms of mass production, industrialization or urbanization.

"In genetics, the same is true. The opening wedges are here and they are not hypothetical."

IN A NEW book, "Genetic Fix," Etzioni warns of dangers inherent in blindly accepting new medical techniques as they are developed.

"People must inform themselves on ways of dealing with these problems. For example, death today is more than a natural, sudden event. Because of two technological developments, people are making active decisions about death," he said.

Machines that keep the heart beating and the lungs inhaling and exhaling after the brain has ceased to function are the first development. The need for kidneys, eyes and other organs the individual cannot use anymore for transplants is the second.

"The active decision to turn off the machines is difficult to make, but most people have yet to come to terms with it," Etzioni added.

The researcher said local participation in decision making about each hospital and health system is needed in America. People should ask if people who can pay keep on "breathing" while others have the plug pulled."

ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT he cited was amniocentesis, a procedure through which doctors can determine the sex of a fetus and whether or not it has several diseases.

"Before, it was nature's decision if a family had a boy or a girl. This minute, right now, any pregnant woman could 'in effect' decide whether to abort a child if it wasn't the sex she chose. It is not a whimsical matter," he said.

Etzioni suggests that women should shop around for doctors the same as for other things. A doctor associated with one of the better medical centers might, he added, provide better medical care if a woman is interested in one of the new medical procedures.

"Amniocentesis can tell whether or not a child will be mongoloid, and that is a problem for many pregnant women over 35. Some other diseases are revealed through the tests. And we must consider that it costs the nation $1.7 billion a year for institutional care of mongoloid children. But who is going to make these decisions?" he asked.

Human subjects of experiments also concern the professor.

"Legislation has been introduced to set up a national Health Ethics committee, and Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has a bill that would regulate subjects of experiments," he said. "We need both national and local health ethics committees to be involved in policy making, debates, education and public discussion of new procedures medical services will have to develop to handle these problems. Health care is not just an area of concern for doctors."

ETZIONI BECAME interested in genetics problems five years years ago, when, he says, he and his wife wanted to add a daughter to their family of three sons. He studied the possibilities and now the Etzionis have four sons, and are very happy with each of them.

"My colleagues say I write so much because I don't have to commute," the author of six books added. He lives near his office, and in his free time plays tennis and chess. Born in Germany, he was educated in Israel and the United States and spent three and a half years in the Israeli commandos.

At the Center for Policy Research, Etzioni is "involved in anything in the domain of public policy, from the costs of hospitals to volunteer crime patrols to citizen participation in elections. People won't listen to us, but I have learned to enjoy the process rather than waiting just for results."

He is not completely serious when he suggests setting up a credit bank for experts, so that when the President or a government finally implements one of the center's suggestions, the experts would get some sort of recognition too.

"If I could get people's names right, I would run for office," he added. "Public policy is often mindless. We need to get our intellectual centers and our political centers together. We need a domestic Kissinger and a council of social advisors. Most of all, we need to marshal our forces to control machines and technology that push us around."

Avoid Risks Of Reactions To Cosmetics

Each year, an estimated 60,000 persons suffer an adverse reaction to a cosmetic so severe that they require medical treatment or lose time from work; many more suffer milder discomfort, according to Mrs. Virginia Knauer, special assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs.

Most permanent hair dyes contain aniline (coal tar) or aniline derivatives. Manufacturers of such products are required by federal law to label such preparations with a warning that a predisposition test should be given before each hair coloring service. The purpose of the predisposition test — commonly referred to as a patch test — is to determine whether or not the consumer is sensitive to adverse reactions and potential hazards of the aniline ingredient.

A person who suffers such an allergic reaction to aniline derivatives may experience severe burning, itching, swelling or eruptions of the scalp, etc.

Licensed cosmetologists are trained to give the test and administer cosmetic products in accordance with the manufacturers' instructions.

Course To Spotlight The Family

The Marin Young Men's Christian Association will offer a course, "Family Focus," beginning Jan. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Marin YMCA in San Rafael. The six week course will be taught by Sheryl Barnard, program director of the YMCA.

Each session will deal with bridging the gaps between generations, family communications, discipline and improvement of the quality of family life, according to the instructor.

The course will use transactional analysis as a tool for dealing with the intricacies of being parents. It is based on the premise that among the various skills people obtain on their way to becoming adults, the skills for being parents are sadly neglected, she said.

Registration for the course can be made by contacting Sheryl Barnard at the Marin YMCA.

Leaders Of District Are Feted

Administrators in the Dixie School District were guests yesterday at a luncheon at Lin Fa restaurant hosted by their secretaries and other clerical workers in the district.

Chairman of the luncheon was Vicky Jones, receptionist clerk in the school district office, and president of the group, which calls itself the Dixie District Darlings.

The women presented a skit, "A Day in the Life of a School Secretary." The luncheon had an Hawaiian theme, and other entertainment was presented by a choral group of 16 girls, led by the district's choral teacher, Janice Chaffin. The girls did the hula and sang Hawaiian songs.

Formerly called the Dixie Secretarial Association the organization was expanded last year to include all clerical workers in the district. They meet monthly and discuss common problems.

MEN'S FASHIONS

The Shawl-Collared Sweater—Hot Item

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henry VII used to wear shawl collars back in the 16th Century when he was courting his eight wives. They persisted through the ages and reached their heyday at the turn of the century when people motored in touring cars.

Ralph Lauren revived them last year when he showed a black heavy knitted shawl collared sweater as informal formal wear. Now shawl-collared sweaters are the No. 1 new sweater look for men—and women, too.

In the days of Henry VIII and King Francis I of France the shawl collars were usually fur since the people had an energy crisis in those days too. When they re-emerged as part of automobile costumes they were bulky Shaker-knit wools. By 1910 they were the cat's pajamas, worn by both men and women.

The new sweater-jackets for men have a much wider application of use and variety of styling than did the originals. They are not only in thick Shaker knits but in rich cable knits, tweedy textures that look as if they had been handknitted by your grandmother. There are Mexican and Indian patterns.

THE MOST prophetic look of the season is Lauren's black shaker-knit wool that tops off black tie evening clothes with ease and flair for an evening at home. He also has produced one in a lighter weight cashmere, slightly more informal.

Before it ended up being a sweater fashion the shawl collar had a long history of great opulence. It first appeared in the Middle Ages when it was part of the furred and jeweled decor on ceremonial garments. The Holbein portrait of Henry VIII shows him wearing such a collar in fur. The French dandies of the 1800s wore elaborate vests and coats with velvet shawl collars. The shawl carried over into more modern times and for years was a fixture on men's dinner jackets.

Another fashion fixture this winter, sleeveless pullovers sweater and vests, part of the popular layered look, is also firmly rooted in history. You look up that Holbein picture of Henry and you will find he is in four layers — a knee-length coat with fur shawl collar, a jerkin with full skirts to the knee, and worn over a short doublet or waistcoat which has rows of slits through which the fourth layer, a white shirt, puffs out.

THE THREE-PIECE Suit is back in favor this season and giving it added interest is a wool sweater vest as a variation on the matching woven vest —and as a money saver. A sweater vest costs less than the vest that comes extra with a three-piece suit. It is a little more informal, of course.

The word "sweater" began in the middle of the 19th century when athletes wore them to keep out the chill after exercise, usually long-sleeved sweaters with turtle necks. Now they mean almost anything knitted for the upper part of the body, and their infinite variations and use is currently making fashion history.

THE CARDIGAN is as popular as ever and even it had a historical past. It was named for the Earl of Cardigan who led the famed Charge of the Light Brigade in the Crimean War in 1854. It came into its own during the Klondike Gold Rush in 1896-97 when its warmth and comfort made it a favorite garment of the miners. Then years later along came such television stars as Perry Como and Andy Williams and it regained new popularity.

The current Great Gatsby look, expected to sweep into greater popularity when the movie comes out next year, stems largely from Lauren's recent designs. At a fashion show he showed sweaters that recalled the looks of the 1920s — a shawl-collared slipover worn with a turtle neck and plaid trousers to recapture the look of the Prince of Wales era; a cabled six-button cardigan for wear over a knitted vest, and his masterpiece, the black formal cabled cardigan worn with black tie and a wing collar of the 1920s.

ETZIONI BECAME interested in genetics problems five years years ago, when, he says, he and his wife wanted to add a daughter to their family of three sons. He studied the possibilities and now the Etzionis have four sons, and are very happy with each of them.

"My colleagues say I write so much because I don't have to commute," the author of six books added. He lives near his office, and in his free time plays tennis and chess. Born in Germany, he was educated in Israel and the United States and spent three and a half years in the Israeli commandos.

At the Center for Policy Research, Etzioni is "involved in anything in the domain of public policy, from the costs of hospitals to volunteer crime patrols to citizen participation in elections. People won't listen to us, but I have learned to enjoy the process rather than waiting just for results."

He is not completely serious when he suggests setting up a credit bank for experts, so that when the President or a government finally implements one of the center's suggestions, the experts would get some sort of recognition too.

"If I could get people's names right, I would run for office," he added. "Public policy is often mindless. We need to get our intellectual centers and our political centers together. We need a domestic Kissinger and a council of social advisors. Most of all, we need to marshal our forces to control machines and technology that push us around."

Avoid Risks Of Reactions To Cosmetics

Each year, an estimated 60,000 persons suffer an adverse reaction to a cosmetic so severe that they require medical treatment or lose time from work; many more suffer milder discomfort, according to Mrs. Virginia Knauer, special assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs.

Most permanent hair dyes contain aniline (coal tar) or aniline derivatives. Manufacturers of such products are required by federal law to label such preparations with a warning that a predisposition test should be given before each hair coloring service. The purpose of the predisposition test — commonly referred to as a patch test — is to determine whether or not the consumer is sensitive to adverse reactions and potential hazards of the aniline ingredient.

A person who suffers such an allergic reaction to aniline derivatives may experience severe burning, itching, swelling or eruptions of the scalp, etc.

Licensed cosmetologists are trained to give the test and administer cosmetic products in accordance with the manufacturers' instructions.

Leaders Of District Are Feted

Administrators in the Dixie School District were guests yesterday at a luncheon at Lin Fa restaurant hosted by their secretaries and other clerical workers in the district.

Chairman of the luncheon was Vicky Jones, receptionist clerk in the school district office, and president of the group, which calls itself the Dixie District Darlings.

The women presented a skit, "A Day in the Life of a School Secretary." The luncheon had an Hawaiian theme, and other entertainment was presented by a choral group of 16 girls, led by the district's choral teacher, Janice Chaffin. The girls did the hula and sang Hawaiian songs.

Formerly called the Dixie Secretarial Association the organization was expanded last year to include all clerical workers in the district. They meet monthly and discuss common problems.

Course To Spotlight The Family

The Marin Young Men's Christian Association will offer a course, "Family Focus," beginning Jan. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Marin YMCA in San Rafael. The six week course will be taught by Sheryl Barnard, program director of the YMCA.

Each session will deal with bridging the gaps between generations, family communications, discipline and improvement of the quality of family life, according to the instructor.

The course will use transactional analysis as a tool for dealing with the intricacies of being parents. It is based on the premise that among the various skills people obtain on their way to becoming adults, the skills for being parents are sadly neglected, she said.

Registration for the course can be made by contacting Sheryl Barnard at the Marin YMCA.

MEN'S FASHIONS

The Shawl-Collared Sweater—Hot Item

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henry VII used to wear shawl collars back in the 16th Century when he was courting his eight wives. They persisted through the ages and reached their heyday at the turn of the century when people motored in touring cars.

Ralph Lauren revived them last year when he showed a black heavy knitted shawl collared sweater as informal formal wear. Now shawl-collared sweaters are the No. 1 new sweater look for men—and women, too.

In the days of Henry VIII and King Francis I of France the shawl collars were usually fur since the people had an energy crisis in those days too. When they re-emerged as part of automobile costumes they were bulky Shaker-knit wools. By 1910 they were the cat's pajamas, worn by both men and women.

The new sweater-jackets for men have a much wider application of use and variety of styling than did the originals. They are not only in thick Shaker knits but in rich cable knits, tweedy textures that look as if they had been handknitted by your grandmother. There are Mexican and Indian patterns.

THE MOST prophetic look of the season is Lauren's black shaker-knit wool that tops off black tie evening clothes with ease and flair for an evening at home. He also has produced one in a lighter weight cashmere, slightly more informal.

Before it ended up being a sweater fashion the shawl collar had a long history of great opulence. It first appeared in the Middle Ages when it was part of the furred and jeweled decor on ceremonial garments. The Holbein portrait of Henry VIII shows him wearing such a collar in fur. The French dandies of the 1800s wore elaborate vests and coats with velvet shawl collars. The shawl carried over into more modern times and for years was a fixture on men's dinner jackets.

Another fashion fixture this winter, sleeveless pullovers sweater and vests, part of the popular layered look, is also firmly rooted in history. You look up that Holbein picture of Henry and you will find he is in four layers — a knee-length coat with fur shawl collar, a jerkin with full skirts to the knee, and worn over a short doublet or waistcoat which has rows of slits through which the fourth layer, a white shirt, puffs out.

THE THREE-PIECE Suit is back in favor this season and giving it added interest is a wool sweater vest as a variation on the matching woven vest —and as a money saver. A sweater vest costs less than the vest that comes extra with a three-piece suit. It is a little more informal, of course.

The word "sweater" began in the middle of the 19th century when athletes wore them to keep out the chill after exercise, usually long-sleeved sweaters with turtle necks. Now they mean almost anything knitted for the upper part of the body, and their infinite variations and use is currently making fashion history.

THE CARDIGAN is as popular as ever and even it had a historical past. It was named for the Earl of Cardigan who led the famed Charge of the Light Brigade in the Crimean War in 1854. It came into its own during the Klondike Gold Rush in 1896-97 when its warmth and comfort made it a favorite garment of the miners. Then years later along came such television stars as Perry Como and Andy Williams and it regained new popularity.

The current Great Gatsby look, expected to sweep into greater popularity when the movie comes out next year, stems largely from Lauren's recent designs. At a fashion show he showed sweaters that recalled the looks of the 1920s — a shawl-collared slipover worn with a turtle neck and plaid trousers to recapture the look of the Prince of Wales era; a cabled six-button cardigan for wear over a knitted vest, and his masterpiece, the black formal cabled cardigan worn with black tie and a wing collar of the 1920s.

A Series Of Four Operas Is Announced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Spring Opera Theater of San Francisco announced a 1974 season yesterday of four productions, including two new to its repertory. All will be sung in English.

The Spring Opera will give California its first major staging of "Of Mice and Men," a piece based on the Steinbeck novel and composed by Carlisle Floyd. It was premiered in 1970.

Another new production will be "L'Ormindo" by Francesco Cavalli, a comic opera premiered in Venice in 1644.

Two comic operas which will be repeated in the 1974 season are Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" and Offenbach's "Duchess of Gerolstein."

The Spring Opera was begun by opera general director Kurt Herbert Adler in 1960 as the spring season of the Opera House. In 1971, Spring Opera added theater to its name and moved to the Curran Theater. The 1974 season will include 17 performances between March 5 and March 30.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Fiddler On The Roof" — Charming musical of the life of a Jewish dairyman in a small village in Czarist Russia who has five unmarried daughters. The girls efforts to break the tradition of arranged marriages stirs deep emotions, joyous humor and a rare insight into the lives of Jewish people.

"Jonathan Livingston Seagull" — This story of a seagull who strives for perfection has visual impact. As a parable of freedom, individuality, discipline and devotion to community, film helps to free our too often earthbound aspirations.

"Robinhood" — In grand Disney tradition this animated musical has animals play the parts of the characters of famed English folk legend. Satirical dialog will appeal to adults, who will have as good a time as youngsters.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin County, story is just one night's activities in 1962 in the lives of four boys. Some suggestive sex scenes and scruffy language.

"Harold and Maude" — A comedy about a rich, confused, suicidal young man who is shown the more positive side of life by an 80-year-old woman. He finally decides to marry her.

"Man of La Mancha" — A musical within a play. A playwright is jailed by the Spanish Inquisition. A kangaroo court of his peers inspires him to stage a fantasy play with other prisoners as the cast. Lengthy but engrossing. Some sex scenes.

"A New Land" — Sequal to "The Emigrants." Homesteaders in Minnesota Territory in 1850s show details of frontier life. Film is a lesson in history, beauty and life. Grim realism of childbirth, mass hanging of Indians and other violence and cursing. English subtitles.

"Paper Chase" — Serio-comic story about the pressures in the lives of three freshman students at Harvard Law School. Well cast, and acted, some sex scenes and profanity.

"Paper Moon" —Sophisticated drama recreating the 1930s. A salesman-con-artist agrees to deliver a 9-year-old orphan girl to an aunt. The child is tough, smokes and swears and outswindles her mentor. Ethically poor, violence and sex.

"Salzburg Connection" — Inept spy thriller has plot so confusing it dispels any suspense. A horde of international spies descend on Salzburg, Austria in search of a cache of Nazi documents. Violence.

"Sting" — A couple of confidence men in Chicago in the 1930s are seeking revenge on mobsters by a scheme to fleece them of a half-million dollars. (Products Digest)

"The 7 Ups" — Crime-drama about a contingent of super-cops who hunt down hardcore criminals on the streets of New York. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"The Way We Were" — A sentimental and humorous love story that starts in the 1930s and ends in the 1950s. An idealistic politically radical young woman and a well-to-do apolitical young man make an odd couple.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Ash Wednesday" — An aging woman fearful of losing her husband to a young girl, resorts to plastic surgery in an effort to win him back. Some disturbing real scenes depicting facial cosmetic surgery. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Sergeant Is Elevated To Lieutenant

Sgt. Ronald C. Schanakerof the Novato Police Department has been appointed to the post of lieutenant, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported recently.

Schanaker will succeed Lynn T. Stoutt, who left in September to become police chief in Kelso, Wash.

After written and oral examinations, which included applicants from outside the department, Schanaker "came out tops," Brown said.

Schanaker, 40, has been a member of the Novato department since May 1969, after working for the Whittier department.

He, his wife and three children live in Santa Rosa.

Man Arrested On Two Counts

A 26-year-old San Rafael man has been arrested on suspicion of illegal use of a credit card and possession of stolen property.

Paul Kenneth McSweeney of 467 Merrydale Road, Apt. 17, was released on $2,000 bail from Marin County Jail. He is scheduled to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Police reported that he was arrested by a security officer at Sears Roebuck and Co. in the Northgate Shopping Center trying to use a credit card which had been stolen Tuesday in San Francisco. Police found other credit cards, thought to be stolen, in his possession.

Long Flight

MOSCOW (UPI) — A swallow flew from Canada to Soviet Uzbekistan, then fell exhausted in a pistachio grove near the town of Termez, the Tass news agency said today.

Tass said forestry workers found the bird, which bore a band indicating it came from Canada. After a rest, the bird flew away.

Champions End Their Marriage

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — The dance team of Marge and Gower Champion has split up offstage too.

Marjorie B. Champion, 48, was granted a dissolution of marriage in Superior Court yesterday from Gower Champion, 52. She was granted custody of their children, Gregg, 17, and Blake, 11.

The Champions, who starred in several MGM movie musicals, were married in 1947. They separated in August, 1972.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — The dance team of Marge and Gower Champion has split up offstage too.

Marjorie B. Champion, 48, was granted a dissolution of marriage in Superior Court yesterday from Gower Champion, 52. She was granted custody of their children, Gregg, 17, and Blake, 11.

The Champions, who starred in several MGM movie musicals, were married in 1947. They separated in August, 1972.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Fiddler On The Roof" — Charming musical of the life of a Jewish dairyman in a small village in Czarist Russia who has five unmarried daughters. The girls efforts to break the tradition of arranged marriages stirs deep emotions, joyous humor and a rare insight into the lives of Jewish people.

"Jonathan Livingston Seagull" — This story of a seagull who strives for perfection has visual impact. As a parable of freedom, individuality, discipline and devotion to community, film helps to free our too often earthbound aspirations.

"Robinhood" — In grand Disney tradition this animated musical has animals play the parts of the characters of famed English folk legend. Satirical dialog will appeal to adults, who will have as good a time as youngsters.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"American Graffiti" — Filmed in Marin County, story is just one night's activities in 1962 in the lives of four boys. Some suggestive sex scenes and scruffy language.

"Harold and Maude" — A comedy about a rich, confused, suicidal young man who is shown the more positive side of life by an 80-year-old woman. He finally decides to marry her.

"Man of La Mancha" — A musical within a play. A playwright is jailed by the Spanish Inquisition. A kangaroo court of his peers inspires him to stage a fantasy play with other prisoners as the cast. Lengthy but engrossing. Some sex scenes.

"A New Land" — Sequal to "The Emigrants." Homesteaders in Minnesota Territory in 1850s show details of frontier life. Film is a lesson in history, beauty and life. Grim realism of childbirth, mass hanging of Indians and other violence and cursing. English subtitles.

"Paper Chase" — Serio-comic story about the pressures in the lives of three freshman students at Harvard Law School. Well cast, and acted, some sex scenes and profanity.

"Paper Moon" —Sophisticated drama recreating the 1930s. A salesman-con-artist agrees to deliver a 9-year-old orphan girl to an aunt. The child is tough, smokes and swears and outswindles her mentor. Ethically poor, violence and sex.

"Salzburg Connection" — Inept spy thriller has plot so confusing it dispels any suspense. A horde of international spies descend on Salzburg, Austria in search of a cache of Nazi documents. Violence.

"Sting" — A couple of confidence men in Chicago in the 1930s are seeking revenge on mobsters by a scheme to fleece them of a half-million dollars. (Products Digest)

"The 7 Ups" — Crime-drama about a contingent of super-cops who hunt down hardcore criminals on the streets of New York. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"The Way We Were" — A sentimental and humorous love story that starts in the 1930s and ends in the 1950s. An idealistic politically radical young woman and a well-to-do apolitical young man make an odd couple.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Ash Wednesday" — An aging woman fearful of losing her husband to a young girl, resorts to plastic surgery in an effort to win him back. Some disturbing real scenes depicting facial cosmetic surgery. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Sergeant Is Elevated To Lieutenant

Sgt. Ronald C. Schanakerof the Novato Police Department has been appointed to the post of lieutenant, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported recently.

Schanaker will succeed Lynn T. Stoutt, who left in September to become police chief in Kelso, Wash.

After written and oral examinations, which included applicants from outside the department, Schanaker "came out tops," Brown said.

Schanaker, 40, has been a member of the Novato department since May 1969, after working for the Whittier department.

He, his wife and three children live in Santa Rosa.

Long Flight

MOSCOW (UPI) — A swallow flew from Canada to Soviet Uzbekistan, then fell exhausted in a pistachio grove near the town of Termez, the Tass news agency said today.

Tass said forestry workers found the bird, which bore a band indicating it came from Canada. After a rest, the bird flew away.

Sherry Levit Candidate In Belvedere

Sherry C. Levit, chairman of the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission, filed for candidacy yesterday in the city's March 5 council election.

Mrs. Levit, 31, is a San Francisco native who has lived in Belvedere for six years. She has served on the parks and recreation commission for two years.

She is the third to file for two seats open in the election. Incumbent Mayor Allan Steinau and Councilman Willard G. Pittman have not announced their plans. Other candidates include real estate broker Barbara J. Egoian and Dr. Stuart C. Cullen.

Mrs. Levit said she is running because she wants all segments of Belvedere represented on the council. "For example, young mothers and people with young children like myself," she said.

She also said that while she has worked on the parks and recreation commission it has been "an active, forward looking group" which has renovated the city park, planned for the building of playground equipment and become involved in starting an adult education program with Tiburon.

"That kind of vigor should be translated to the city council," she said.

A Stanford University graduate with a bachelor's degree in economics, Mrs. Levit is now at San Francisco State working on a graduate degree in urban studies.

She and her husband, Victor B. Levit, a San Francisco attorney, live at 45 Beach Road with their two children.

Plea Change Results In Jail Term

A Marin City woman who has changed pleas several times on charges of attempted burglary and receiving stolen property, yesterday was sentenced to one year in Marin County Jail and placed on three years probation.

Patricia Ann Fusiliereia, 22, was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best, after again changing her plea to guilty. Her plea followed a bargaining session at which it was agreed she would receive no more than the year in jail on each of the two charges, with the sentences running concurrently.

In October, Judge Best refused to approve an agreement reached in earlier plea bargaining with Judge David Menary Jr., who had said Miss Fusiliereia would get a year in jail on the attempted burglary and six months on the stolen property charge.

Judge Best yesterday also ordered the woman to submit to drug tests at any time, without a warrant. He said she need not begin the jail term until Dec. 26 — but she is already in jail in another case, involving conspiracy to commit auto theft, for which she was arrested Aug. 24.

She was arrested Jan. 14 on the charge of concealing stolen property when San Rafael police found a quantity of stolen firearms in her home. While still awaiting court action in that case, she was arrested April 11, on the charge of trying to burglarize a Corte Madera home.

Christmas Gifts For Convalescents

The Mar Val Homeowners Association of Marin Valley Mobile Country Club in Novato will deliver Christmas gifts to about 200 residents of two convalescent homes in the Novato area, according to Christmas gift chairman Sol Becker.

The gifts, to be delivered Christmas morning, have been addressed to each patient and personal requests will be filled. "Last year one old fellow asked for a baseball cap and we got one for him."

Suit Blocks Planned Sale Of Patrick Corporations

A Marin court order has temporarily blocked plans for the parent corporations of the late William Penn Patrick's complicated business empire to sell part of its holdings to European and Asian firms.

Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire ordered officers of U.S. Universal Inc. and Marketing Enterprises to show in court Jan. 3 why they shouldn't be prevented from selling their majority stock holdings in several Holiday Magic corporations to the franchise holders in Europe and Asia.

Henry F. Scarpelli of San Francisco filed suit against the San Rafael based parent corporations on Tuesday. He said in the suit that he owns 1 per cent of the outstanding shares in the Holiday Magic firms of Finland, Hong Kong, Japan, Spain and France, all incorporated in Nevada.

The Nevada corporations, in turn, control Holiday Magic corporations in the foreign countries, Scarpelli's suit states.

He also charges that Marketing Enterprises has sold the Finnish Holiday Magic firm the franchise for another Patrick enterprise, Mind Dynamics, for $400,000 — but that it is worth only $50,000 — and that the Finnish firm also was required to pay an excessive price of $750,000 for a Convair 880 aircraft. According to Scarpelli's suit, his stock's value is endangered because of the unprofitable deal forced on the Finnish firm.

Scarpelli's suit declared that until Dec. 10, U.S. Universal and Marketing Enterprises had identical officers, but that Thomas Donnelly, president, Jack Sanders, vice president and Albert Baggiani, secretary-treasurer, no longer are officers and he cannot determine who are their replacements.

Women Get More From Tank Of Gas

LONDON (UPI) — The woman's touch can save gasoline, oil company official Geoftrey Sheppard said yesterday.

He said tests by the Automobile Association showed that a wmman can get more miles than a man from a tankful of gasoline. "It is just because a woman has a gentler touch on the accelerator," he said.

Firehouse Burns While Men Away

NEW YORK (UPI) — A one-alarm blaze gutted Ladder Co. 34's firehouse last night while its firefighters were out fighting another blaze a few blocks away.

A fire department spokesman said the fire apparently started in the kitchen of the three-story brick structure but the exact cause was not known.

ARE YOU CARRYING A BOMB IN YOUR TRUNK

. . . or in the back of your station wagon, back seat of your car, bed of your pick-up or any place gasoline storage is dangerous?

The California Highway Patrol has a one-word response for motorists who contemplate carrying a container of gasoline in their cars to beat the fuel shortage: DON'T.

Trying to beat the gasoline shortage by storing gasoline in the family car can turn your holiday outing into a bad trip. Gasoline in containers become fire bombs when jolted in rear end collisions. Better to run out gas, than gamble with life.

Also, fumes from gasoline cans may be ignited by pilot lights or other heat sources when stored in closed garages.

CHRISTMAS — Vietnam veteran David D. Buckley holds his daughter, Jennifer, and with his wife, Tanya, manages a smile despite mounting financial woes. A veterans' benefits check may brighten the family's Christmas, but a finance company has threatened to take the family furniture, and repossess the couple's car and pickup truck as payment for a loan.

BENEFITS CHECK ARRIVES

A Viet Veteran Will Have Little Brighter Christmas

By NELS JOHNSON

Prospects of a merry Christmas, which seemed remote earlier this week for a San Rafael Vietnam veteran and his family, brightened somewhat yesterday as the Veteran's Administration announced that a long-overdue GI Bill benefits check was on its way.

The news was greeted with a sigh of relief by David D. Buckley of 78 Novato Street, although the check for $104 will barely dent his financial woes.

Buckley, 23, who served as a seaman aboard the carrier Midway in the South China Sea from 1969 to 1972, has been trying for months to obtain benefit checks from the federal government. As of yesterday, he had yet to receive a cent.

Buckley joined the Valentine Corp., a San Rafael construction firm, last August as a carpenter's apprentice, and in September enrolled in night carpentry course at College of Marin. Then, under terms of the GI bill, he applied for veteran's benefits.

Buckley, his wife, Tanya, and 2-year-old daughter, Jennifer, are entitled to $196 monthly, he said. He expected his first check in October, but it never arrived.

In mid-November, Buckley said he was told by an official at the Veteran's Administration in San Francisco that his records had been misplaced, lost amid thousands of other applications.

Attempting to straighten out the bureaucratic tangle, he turned in desperation to veterans officials in the Marin Civic Center, representatives of the American Legion, his union, and Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, but still no check came.

He also applied for an emergency hardship check from the VA, "But now they tell us they've lost the hardship application," he said.

"We've got a phone bill of over $100 this month, just trying to get a hold of these people," he said of his struggle to receive benefits.

"There will be no Christmas here," he said glumly yesterday afternoon.

Then, a VA official told the Independent-Journal that a check for $104, an initial payment for two weeks Buckley spent on the job in August, had been mailed last Tuesday.

"We did not receive a signed training agreement that certifies he was approved" for benefits until November, said San Francisco VA interview chief Frederick L. Simonson, explaining the lag in payments.

Simonson pledged that Buckley will get the remainder of benefits owed him — a check for $588 — as soon as his employer certifies that he has been working for the past three months.

"I don't know who he talked to," but his records have not been misplaced, Simonson declared.

Robert O. Valentine, Buckley's employer, said today that no one requested certification of the veteran's status as an employee until yesterday, when the VA called to obtain the number of hours Buckley has logged with the firm.

Buckley's problems, however, are far from over.

As he sat in his modest Canal area apartment yesterday, he said he had less than 50 cents in his pocket, no bank account, no milk for Jennifer, and no ability to buy Christmas presents.

In addition, a San Rafael finance firm has threatened to take all the family's furniture, and reposses a car and a truck, because Buckley has been unable to make payments on a $3,000 loan.

"They could take the furniture today or tomorrow," he said. "I just can't make the payments. What am I supposed to do? Stop feeding the baby?"

Tighter Builder Controls Asked

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials, predicting a rush of large developments before federal controls on them become effective next summer, called yesterday for tightening rules to prevent builders from escaping the pending controls.

Air Pollution Control District directors quickly agreed with the warning of the staff, and set a hearing for their Feb. 6 meeting to consider limiting the "grandfather clause" that will exempt projects already under way from the controls proposed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

The federal agency is expected to issue the controls late next month as law, but as drafted they will not be effective until six months after made official.

The controls will require a construction permit from the EPA or a designated entity such as the local air pollution control district. They will apply to any "indirect source" which increases use of automobiles, including highways and roads, parking lots and garages, shopping centers, recreational centers and amusement parks, sports stadiums, commercial airports and all large commercial or industrial developments.

The EPA's draft rule would exempt any project where there has been "a continuous program of construction or modification or that a binding general construction contract has been entered into" to do the work.

The district's counsel, David Self, cautioned the definition is too vague and subject too easily to legal challenge. Even the seemingly tight wording about a contract could exempt anyone who simply signed a contract for work, even before they had expended any other funds or had any government permits, he said.

The traditional limit in grandfather clauses, Self said, requires the builder to have made a "substantial investment," with the issue of whether it is substantial enough to qualify for an exemption left to the local agency — or courts, if challenged.

The district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, termed the situation "a serious problem," saying the EPA draft regulation would be difficult to administer. He and Self agreed the EPA regulations left room for the district to adopt a more stringent grandfather clause.

In other business, district directors granted a one-year extension from the deadline this Jan. 1 for gasoline stations to install systems to recover vapors from filling operations. The staff said the equipment had not yet been perfected.

Bid Received For Widening Of Highway 101

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A $3,086,000 bid to widen Highway 101 between Greenbrae and Richardson Bay Bridge, $486,000 more than engineers estimated four months ago, was received Wednesday by the state Department of Transportation.

Department spokesman Robert Halligan attributed the difference to the effect of four months of inflation since the $2.6 million estimate was made. He said it would be reviewed before any contract is awarded. The $2,430,000 originally budgeted now stands at $2.9 million.

The bid by Freeman-Sondgroth of Palo Alto was the lowest of five, according to Halligan, who said next lowest was $3,158,000, by O. C. Jones. Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael was third with $3,177,000, he said.

Lee Seeks Seat In 7th District

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (UPI) — Attorney Robert M. Lee, a former legislative aide, yesterday announced he will seek the Republican nomination for assemblyman in the newly redrawn 7th district.

The area currently is represented by Assemblyman Eugene A. Chappie, R-Cool, who has moved to Roseville to be in the new 3rd District.

Lee served as an aide to former Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan and former assemblyman, now senator, John Stull.

Golden Gate Transit will operate special early afternoon runs from San Francisco's Transbay Terminal to Marin and Sonoma on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

The service, in addition to regularly scheduled runs, will start at 12:30 p.m. It will operate only over the Civic Center route until 4 p.m.

Route 50 to Novato and routes 70 and 74 to Santa Rosa will depart hourly on the half-hour from Fremont Street between Mission and Howard streets, while additional service will be added as needed. Route 36 to Terra Linda and Route 40 to Lucas Valley also will be provided as needed and will operate via San Rafael.

Routes 10 to Mill Valley and Tiburon and 20 to Corte Madera and San Anselmo will depart from Natoma Street behind the terminal every half-hour beginning at 12:30 p.m. with additional runs as needed. Routes 8 to Tiburon and 24 to Greenbrae and San Anselmo will provide service as needed.

All fully-loaded buses will operate directly to their destinations.

Cancer Drug Jury Unable To Reach Verdict

BERKELEY (UPI) — The three-week trial of Dr. John S. Richardson, accused of illegally prescribing Laetrile as a cancer treatment, ended Wednesday with a hung jury.

When the jury of five men and seven women failed to agree on a verdict after three days of deliberations, Municipal Judge James R. Holmstrom declared a mistrial. He set Jan. 21 for a new trial.

Richardson, 48, and two nurses were charged on eight counts.

They were first arrested on Laetrile charges in June 1972, and they were convicted of violating the California Health Code by making false claims for the drug. However, the conviction was reversed on a technicality by the Alameda Superior Court's appeallate division.

Outlook Of Optimism In Novato

Councilmen View Brown's Leaving, Plans For Future

Novato city councilmen are accepting calmly the upcoming departure of City Mgr. Charles A. Brown after a year of top level turnover and occasional furore.

They are optimistically viewing the shakeup as an "evolutionary" change that will result in "more sophisticated" city government and "new thinking."

Councilmen, questioned by the Independent-Journal in the aftermath of Brown's unexpected, agreed that it won't mean any change in the city's direction.

"I don't think there will be any major breakdown in the governmental process," said Gail Wilhelm, a council candidate.

Several said the upcoming city council election March 5 will have more of a bearing on the city's future than Brown's departure.

City Councilman George C. Quesada said there would be "a greater feeling of upheavel if Planning Director Brian W. Mattson were to leave since planning policy underlies the city's goals."

Since the resignation of Police Chief Allen V. Klemme, amid controversy, and the resignations of Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps and Parks and Recreation Director Edward E. Adams, Mattson is the only veteran department head remaining.

Councilmen view the new few months as crucial in planning, as effort is to be made to put into effect the city's general plan, including a policy to limit growth to 500 dwelling units a year.

Councilman E. Wayne Sartain said, "With building in Southern Marin shut down and Petaluma under growth control, Novato is left as the prime area for development.

Councilmen agreed that Novato is going to grow and change, but yet to be determined is how much of its rural character can be retained.

Mayor Fred F. Ruegg said the city "is going through growing pains," and "we have a lot of growing up to do."

Two councilmen sounded a call for unity, in the wake of a comment by Brown that there has been "a lot of polarization that's not conducive to enjoyable working conditions."

Quesada said he would "look for greater cohesiveness and solidatiry from a philosophical point of view," and Councilman Dorothy P. Young said "I think what the city needs is for various interest groups to try and understand the other person's purpose and what they are trying to accomplish."

Several termed the departure of the deaprtment heads in a short period unfortunate and Sartain said the three resignations were unrelated, "not part of a single problem."

Council members praised Brown for his work, but Mrs. Wilhelm said she "had the feeling" that Brown would be leaving afterthe Klemme affair, referring to the episodes that led to the resignation of the police chief and allegations by police and residents that Brown had mishandled the matter.

Several councilmen said they were pleased with the new department heads and said they would be seeking a new city manager, who would provide leadership, make the management group function as a unit, be strong in personnel matters and have broad experience.

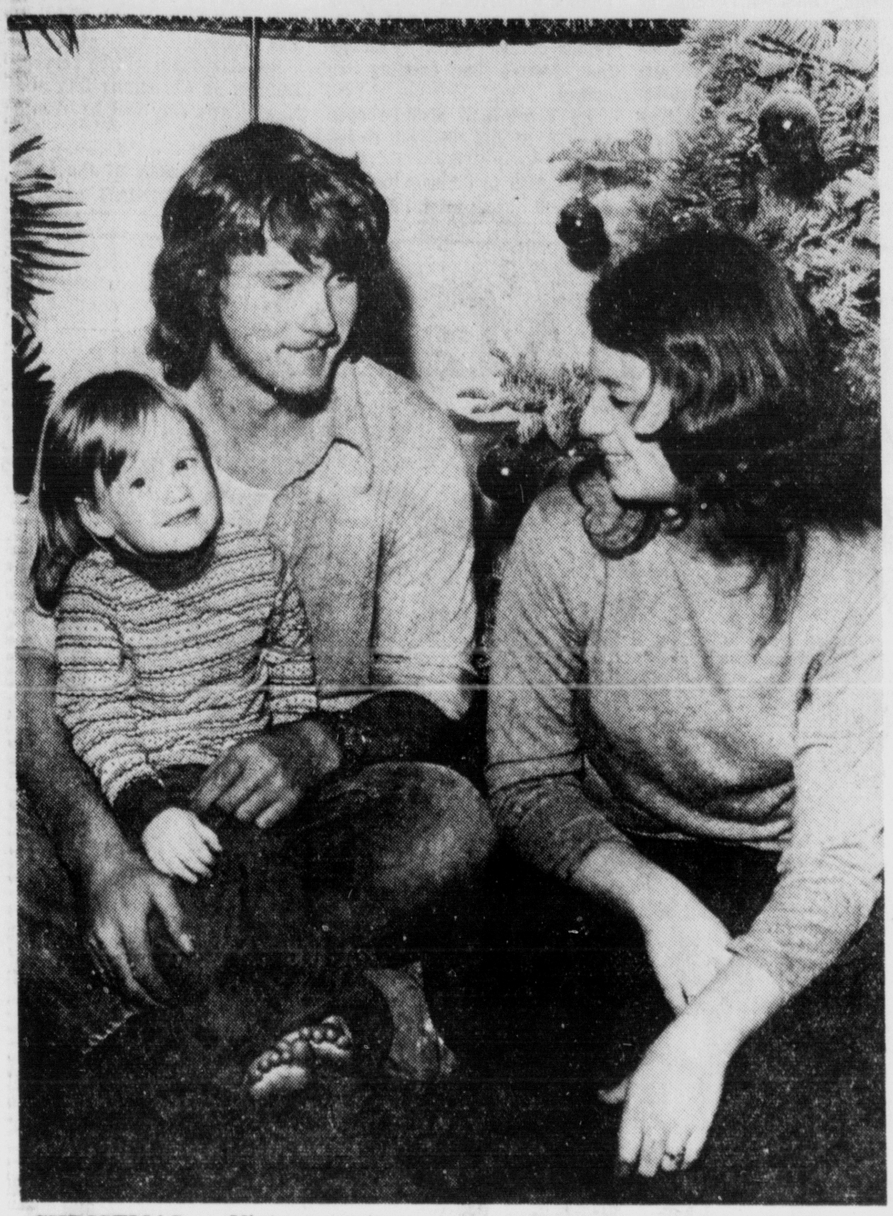
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1973 23



CHRISTMAS — Vietnam veteran David D. Buckley holds his daughter, Jennifer, and with his wife, Tanya, manages a smile despite mounting financial woes. A veterans' benefits check may brighten the family's Christmas, but a finance company has threatened to take the family furniture, and repossess the couple's car and pickup truck as payment for a loan.

BENEFITS CHECK ARRIVES

A Viet Veteran Will Have Little Brighter Christmas

By NELS JOHNSON

Prospects of a merry Christmas, which seemed remote earlier this week for a San Rafael Vietnam veteran and his family, brightened somewhat yesterday as the Veteran's Administration announced that a long-overdue GI Bill benefits check was on its way.

The news was greeted with a sigh of relief by David D. Buckley of 78 Novato Street, although the check for $104 will barely dent his financial woes.

Buckley, 23, who served as a seaman aboard the carrier Midway in the South China Sea from 1969 to 1972, has been trying for months to obtain benefit checks from the federal government. As of yesterday, he had yet to receive a cent.

Buckley joined the Valentine Corp., a San Rafael construction firm, last August as a carpenter's apprentice, and in September enrolled in night carpentry course at College of Marin. Then, under terms of the GI bill, he applied for veteran's benefits.

Buckley, his wife, Tanya, and 2-year-old daughter, Jennifer, are entitled to $196 monthly, he said. He expected his first check in October, but it never arrived.

In mid-November, Buckley said he was told by an official at the Veteran's Administration in San Francisco that his records had been misplaced, lost amid thousands of other applications.

Attempting to straighten out the bureaucratic tangle, he turned in desperation to veterans officials in the Marin Civic Center, representatives of the American Legion, his union, and Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, but still no check came.

He also applied for an emergency hardship check from the VA, "But now they tell us they've lost the hardship application," he said.

"We've got a phone bill of over $100 this month, just trying to get a hold of these people," he said of his struggle to receive benefits.

"There will be no Christmas here," he said glumly yesterday afternoon.

Then, a VA official told the Independent-Journal that a check for $104, an initial payment for two weeks Buckley spent on the job in August, had been mailed last Tuesday.

"We did not receive a signed training agreement that certifies he was approved" for benefits until November, said San Francisco VA interview chief Frederick L. Simonson, explaining the lag in payments.

Simonson pledged that Buckley will get the remainder of benefits owed him — a check for $588 — as soon as his employer certifies that he has been working for the past three months.

"I don't know who he talked to," but his records have not been misplaced, Simonson declared.

The Tortola Bringing A Family Tradition To San Rafael Locale

There is a compatible marriage of two interesting background stories leading into the opening this week of San Rafael's newest restaurant — The Tortola.

The Scarpulla family which operates it has its own traditions. They date back four generations into the 19th Century when a disillusioned gold miner gave up his quest of the yellow metal in the hills and rivers and turned instead to the food business. He struck pay dirt in the Spanish and Mexican recipes of early California, putting them to work first as a tamale manufacturer and later as a restaurateur in Oakland.

It was a Scarpulla of the next generation who opened the first Tortola restaurant at 1237 Polk Street, San Francisco in 1922. He died six years later but his widow took over the business and recipes and added to them. Her son Francisco (known to many as Scarp) still continues at the same location today, using the same recipes.

Came still another generation of Scarpullas and expansion was in order. So it is young Fred and his brother Ronald whom you will come to know in San Rafael.

The old West End Villa building at Second and G streets where they are located also has a venerable past, thought to extend back 90 to 100 years. Most of that time it was owned by the Ciocca family, who purchased it in 1906 from the Zirngbergs, who apparently had it about 30 years before that.

Oldtimers remember it as a candy and ice cream store at the West End station on the Northwestern commute line before it was made into a restaurant by the late Pete Ostaggi. He was followed in turn by other restaurateurs — Abe Marowitz, the Franchinis and most recently Adolph Motta. Each of them contributed something to its history.

With a name like Scarpulla the Italian influence continues strong, even though the Tortola menu is predominantly Spanish-Mexican. And you can add still another to the list — Alioto, the family name of Mrs. Francisco Scarpulla.

Food specialties are the several types of tamales which made the Scarpullas famous, diversified selections of enchiladas, chile, tostadas, tacos, chalupas, tortas and combination plates. The names are almost all Spanish, even applied to steaks, pork chops or chicken. But there are a few exceptions, mostly on the luncheon menu where you will see featured spaghetti and ravioli Milanese and such familiar names as clubhouse, Reuben and grilled ham and cheese sandwiches, cheeseburgers, corned beef, shrimp curry, chicken giblets and several others.

The assortment of Spanish-Mexican and contemporary dishes has gone over well in San Francisco and it should in Marin. Prices are moderate.

The Tortola is closed Mondays, but open the rest of the week. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights you'll see a familiar figure in Pablo Castro, with his guitar and repertoire of Latin-American songs.

IT SHOULD BE MENTIONED that Le Vivoir at the Casa Madrona Hotel in Sausalito is definitely continuing its dinners and serving them as usual despite the publicity about possible condemnation of the building.

However, it will close Dec. 23, 24 and 25, so don't look for a Christmas dinner.

New Year's Eve is another matter. The Deschamps are offering three dinners at $14, $15 and $16, featuring noix d'agneau, canard a l'orange or tournedos — along with a complement of French hors d'oeuvres, soups, choice of quenelle brochet or salmon verte, also a salad of French endives and watercress — and their special New Year's cake, gateau Sylvestre.

We are assured there is no chance whatever of your sliding downhill in the middle of this repast or afterward, no matter how festive the evening becomes.

Le Vivoir will also be open Dec. 28, 29 and 30 — but closed on New Year's Day.

A PLACE in Tiburon that will be open on Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day is The Caprice.

Regular menu will be served. Dinners on Christmas Day and New Year's Day will be from 4 p.m.

Food specialties are the several types of tamales which made the Scarpullas famous, diversified selections of enchiladas, chile, tostadas, tacos, chalupas, tortas and combination plates. The names are almost all Spanish, even applied to steaks, pork chops or chicken. But there are a few exceptions, mostly on the luncheon menu where you will see featured spaghetti and ravioli Milanese and such familiar names as clubhouse, Reuben and grilled ham and cheese sandwiches, cheeseburgers, corned beef, shrimp curry, chicken giblets and several others.

The assortment of Spanish-Mexican and contemporary dishes has gone over well in San Francisco and it should in Marin. Prices are moderate.

The Tortola is closed Mondays, but open the rest of the week. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights you'll see a familiar figure in Pablo Castro, with his guitar and repertoire of Latin-American songs.

IT SHOULD BE MENTIONED that Le Vivoir at the Casa Madrona Hotel in Sausalito is definitely continuing its dinners and serving them as usual despite the publicity about possible condemnation of the building.

However, it will close Dec. 23, 24 and 25, so don't look for a Christmas dinner.

New Year's Eve is another matter. The Deschamps are offering three dinners at $14, $15 and $16, featuring noix d'agneau, canard a l'orange or tournedos — along with a complement of French hors d'oeuvres, soups, choice of quenelle brochet or salmon verte, also a salad of French endives and watercress — and their special New Year's cake, gateau Sylvestre.

We are assured there is no chance whatever of your sliding downhill in the middle of this repast or afterward, no matter how festive the evening becomes.

Le Vivoir will also be open Dec. 28, 29 and 30 — but closed on New Year's Day.

A PLACE in Tiburon that will be open on Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day — The Caprice.

Regular menu will be served. Dinners on Christmas Day and New Year's Day will be from 4 p.m.

don Arms in San Anselmo will observe his usual Christmas Day custom and have the bar open from noon to 3 p.m. But no food will be served, except for a few appetizers. He will be open on both New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

Big Monday favorite is the bouillabaise special.

NORMANDIE on the San Rafael side of the Miracle Mile will close Christmas Day and New Year's Day, but will open New Year's Eve. A special menu with a choice of four entrees will be offered.

There's more off street parking now. Owners Michel Braud and Roger Minhondo have taken down the garage in the rear, enlarging the backyard capacity to about 15 cars.

RESTAURANT LE CHATEAU at Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road, San Rafael, will be closed Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

But reservations are being taken for New Year's Eve dinners, served from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. Regular menu and prices will be in effect.

LAST TIME I talked to Paul Devaux at La Petite Auberge in San Rafael there were still a few places left for the 10 p.m. to midnight dinner New Year's Eve — but not many. Tables were going fast, but you can try.

Best chance is for the early-dinner, served to 8 p.m.

THE GROTTO in San Rafael will close Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, (Dec. 24, 25 and 26) and the same three days a week later over New Year's.

SAN RAFAEL JOE'S has its regular day of closing on Sunday, so don't look for it to be open Dec. 23 or Dec. 30. It will also be closed on Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

But it will be open Christmas Eve and of course on New Year's Eve when things are always popping.

LARK CREEK INN in Larkspur will close Dec. 23, 24 and 25 and reopen Wednesday, Dec. 26.

New Year's Eve dinners will be according to the regular menu and price list, starting at 5:30 p.m. No reservations will be taken. Manager Terry Fischer tells me that on Thanksgiving 20 tables were left open waiting for the people to show up.

Please, for all restaurants — if you can't make it when you say you will, cancel any reservation you have made, as soon as possible — and let someone else have your table.

SCOMA'S in Sausalito is now closed until Dec. 28.

LE CHALET BASQUE in Santa Venetia will close Christmas Day but will be open with the regular menu and prices New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. Reservations should be made for New Year's Eve.

DO YOU LIKE to go away over New Year's?

If you don't care to drive too far, consider the Hexagon House at Guerneville, which has planned an overnight package for that occasion. Nice accommodations. Phone first for reservations.

Hexagon House will close during the month of January.

A Massachusetts City To Become Computer Dream

By STEWARD DILL McBRIDE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

PITTSFIELD, Mass. — The "cashless economy" that has been talked about for the past several years — where and when will it begin?

Here in this western Massachusetts city — within the next year.

That is the feeling of many in the banking business. They expect that Pittsfield (population, 77,000) will become a "microcosm of future computer banking" and will set off a "chain reaction" of similar projects across the United States.

"Within a year, banking customers in Pittsfield will be paying bills, purchasing merchandise and making payroll deposits electronically," says Thomas Carrington, president of Pittsfield's Berkshire County Savings Bank.

John Davidson, the bank's savings-division manager, speculates that the "new system will not only eliminate the excessive paper work generated in the banking business but over the next few years will probably rule out the use of any bills over $10."

Under the new banking system — technically known as Electronic Monetary Funds Transfer System (EFTS) — paychecks are relayed directly from employers to a central computer in the bank of the employee's choice.

Purchases from local merchants will be made by inserting a specially coded bank-credit card into computer outlets situated next to the cash register, thus drawing on the customer's account for the amount of the purchase.

In a few succinct electronic impulses, "money" will be transferred from the buyer's account to that of the merchant — whether or not they do business at the same bank.

EFTS will make it nearly impossible to "bounce" checks or write checks on funds that have not yet been deposited in the bank. Because transferral of electronic money is instantaneous, the merchant will know immediately whether or not a purchase can be covered by the customer's bank account.

Furthermore, EFTS may face legal difficulties in Pittsfield.

Freida Koplow, commissioner of Massachusetts' Division of Banks and Loans, says the Pittsfield project may require not only the state's permission but also authorizing state legislation.

But Dale Reistad, head of Payment Systems, Inc. — the New York-based firm which is coordinating the EFTS joint study in Pittsfield — says that the necessary federal regulatory bodies have reviewed and approved the plan.

Christian Science Monitor sketch by Gene Langley

Electronic banking, however, is far from flawless, and so some tough questions remain:

Who will finance the EFTS service? Should it be controlled by private banking institutions or regulated by the Federal Reserve Board?

Will thrift institutions be driven from the market by existing nonbank credit-card networks like American Express and BankAmericard?

The largest obstacle looming on the road to instituting EFTS, though, appears to be the increased ease of fraud.

"The problem of fraud is a real one," says T. J. Oden, assistant counsel for the U.S. Senate subcommittee on financial institutions. "Theoretically anyone with a sophisticated knowledge of computers could illegally move millions of dollars over the telephone in the safety of his own home."

Odgen added that computer experts were presently researching the use of "voice prints" on banking credit cards as possible unalterable means of identification.

Today is Friday, Dec. 21, the 355th day of 1973 with 10 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Soviet Premier Josef Stalin was born Dec. 21, 1879.

On this day in history:

In 1620, the Pilgrims set foot for the first time on American soil at Plymouth, Mass.

In 1942, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the validity of six-week divorces granted in Nevada.

In 1944, horse racing was suspended in the United States for the duration of World War II.

In 1968, Apollo 8 blasted off for moon orbit carrying Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders.

A thought for the day: British poet Richard Trench said, "We kneel, how weak. We rise, how full of power."

Midwest Clogged By Snow

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The last storm of autumn dumped snow on a wide swatch of the central United States today, clogging highways from Colorado to Indiana with massive drifts.

At least 23 deaths have been attributed to the storm in traffic accidents and other mishaps. Kansas, Illinois, and Nebraska each had five fatalities, Indiana had four, Mississippi three and Iowa one.

Dozens of schools remained closed because of the snow, giving students an extra two days of Christmas vacation.

The National Weather Service issued travelers' warnings of snow or freezing rain for much of the Appalachian mountain region into Kentucky, southeast Indiana, Alabama and Mississippi.

Subzero temperatures were found in parts of the upper and mid Mississippi Valley, with freezing temperatures to the Gulf Coast.

An ice storm warning was posted in northern Vermont, and rain and snow were scattered over the Pacific Northwest and northern California into the Great Basin and extreme western Montana.

Two Bombs Exploded Near London Hilton

LONDON (UPI) — Extremists set off two bombs outside the Hilton Hotel in London today and postal workers in Dublin found two others in a pre-Christmas terror campaign that spanned two countries.

The Hilton bombs packed inside empty cigarette packages blew the hood off a car parked beside the U.S.-owned hotel in the fashionable Mayfair district but caused no injuries. A Scotland Yard spokesman blamed the Irish Republican Army (IRA) for the blast, but said there was no indication why the outlawed Roman Catholic extremist group picked the Hilton.

The letter bombs discovered in the Irish Republic's capital were defused before they exploded.

Dublin authorities said 13 letter bombs have been received in the Irish Republic within the past 24 hours, but declined comment on reports they were mailed by Protestant extremists in Northern Ireland in retaliation for the five-day-old IRA bomb campaign in London.

The IRA launched its campaign in the British capital Monday. Since then, 66 persons have been injured in nine explosions ranging from letter bombs to cars filled with explosives.

Police said the two Hilton bombs exploded within minutes of each other on the car and in a doorway of the hotel.

The spokesman said the hotel was not damaged, but the first bomb dented the car and smashed its windows.

Housewife Carol Simpson, 28, accidentally kicked the packet containing the second bomb, but managed to get away before the explosion came.

"I picked it up and opened it and found what appeared to be a lady's watch and some wires inside," she said. "I knew right away something was wrong and dropped it and ran into the Hilton to report what I had found."

A hotel spokesman said the building was not evacuated. "No one was injured, and if there was any damage it was minimal," he said.

Police warned the public today to watch out for suspicious packages after a bomb in a plastic bag was found hanging on railings outside the French Embassy. A Hyde Park employee spotted the bomb and explosives experts defused it.

A spate of hoax bomb warnings kept police and firemen busy last night.

A LOW HEART

West opens the four of hearts, and it is up to you to make six spades. A glance tells you that there are no losers in the red suits. You must think about the king of clubs and about the trump suit.

What can you lose by leading the jack of trumps from the dummy to begin the play of the trumps?

WITH THE ACE

You don't really intend to let the jack ride for a finesse. You intend to play the ace of trumps if East plays a small trump with no apparent thought.

Now look at it from East's point of view. How can he play a low trump when dummy's jack is led? East will probably cover with the queen and think about it later. Even if East decides not to cover, he will surely have to give thought to the matter; and in that case you will know who has the queen.

NO GOOD

It does East no good to cover with the queen of trumps. You win with the ace and discover that West cannot follow suit. It is then easy to get back to dummy and lead another trump for a finesse through East's ten.

If East has only one or two small trumps, he will play low without a problem. Then you will take the first trick with the ace of trumps and clear up the trumps with the king. If East has no trumps at all, you are sure to lose a trump trick no matter which card you lead first.

FOR SUCCESS

In short, it can cost you nothing to lead the jack of trumps first, and the play may well make all the difference between success and failure.

A Massachusetts City To Become Computer Dream

By STEWARD DILL McBRIDE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

PITTSFIELD, Mass. — The "cashless economy" that has been talked about for the past several years — where and when will it begin?

Here in this western Massachusetts city — within the next year.

That is the feeling of many in the banking business. They expect that Pittsfield (population, 77,000) will become a "microcosm of future computer banking" and will set off a "chain reaction" of similar projects across the United States.

"Within a year, banking customers in Pittsfield will be paying bills, purchasing merchandise and making payroll deposits electronically," says Thomas Carrington, president of Pittsfield's Berkshire County Savings Bank.

John Davidson, the bank's savings-division manager, speculates that the "new system will not only eliminate the excessive paper work generated in the banking business but over the next few years will probably rule out the use of any bills over $10."

Under the new banking system — technically known as Electronic Monetary Funds Transfer System (EFTS) — paychecks are relayed directly from employers to a central computer in the bank of the employee's choice.

Purchases from local merchants will be made by inserting a specially coded bank-credit card into computer outlets situated next to the cash register, thus drawing on the customer's account for the amount of the purchase.

In a few succinct electronic impulses, "money" will be transferred from the buyer's account to that of the merchant — whether or not they do business at the same bank.

EFTS will make it nearly impossible to "bounce" checks or write checks on funds that have not yet been deposited in the bank. Because transferral of electronic money is instantaneous, the merchant will know immediately whether or not a purchase can be covered by the customer's bank account.

Furthermore, EFTS may face legal difficulties in Pittsfield.

Freida Koplow, commissioner of Massachusetts' Division of Banks and Loans, says the Pittsfield project may require not only the state's permission but also authorizing state legislation.

But Dale Reistad, head of Payment Systems, Inc. — the New York-based firm which is coordinating the EFTS joint study in Pittsfield — says that the necessary federal regulatory bodies have reviewed and approved the plan.

Christian Science Monitor sketch by Gene Langley

Electronic banking, however, is far from flawless, and so some tough questions remain:

Who will finance the EFTS service? Should it be controlled by private banking institutions or regulated by the Federal Reserve Board?

Will thrift institutions be driven from the market by existing nonbank credit-card networks like American Express and BankAmericard?

The largest obstacle looming on the road to instituting EFTS, though, appears to be the increased ease of fraud.

"The problem of fraud is a real one," says T. J. Oden, assistant counsel for the U.S. Senate subcommittee on financial institutions. "Theoretically anyone with a sophisticated knowledge of computers could illegally move millions of dollars over the telephone in the safety of his own home."

Odgen added that computer experts were presently researching the use of "voice prints" on banking credit cards as possible unalterable means of identification.

GAZER'S GUIDE

Venus, Jupiter Close Together

By DR. THOMAS D. NICHOLSON
Director, the American Museum of Natural History, New York
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Jan 1: Venus, still an evening star, becomes stationary in right ascension and begins to move westwood (retrograde). The planet is still about 30 degrees to the left (east) of the sun, which it now is approaching rapidly.

Jan. 2-3: Look for Mars near the moon on both evenings, to the left of the moon on the night of the 2nd, to the right on the 3rd. On the 3rd the moon passes directly north of Mars, in conjunction, at 8:00 a.m. local standard time. Unfortunately, both moon and planet are below our horizon. Mars is still very bright, but is dimming rapidly as it moves almost directly away from earth.

Jan. 4: Earth is at perihelion, the point in its orbit where it is nearest the sun. Though the earth now receives more solar energy than at any time of the year, the difference may not be apparent to those of us who are living through another Northern Hemisphere winter.

Jan. 6: Saturn and the moon rise together this evening, a few hours before sunset. By dusk you will see them close to one another in the eastern sky, so close that it may be difficult to find the planet against the brightness of the gibbous moon. The moon will move closer to Saturn during the night, and actually cover the planet (an occultation) just before moonset tomorrow morning. By the evening of the 7th, the moon will be well to the east (left) of the planet.

Jan. 8: The moon is at perigee (nearest earth) today, only two hours before full moon. The resulting spring tide will produce exceptionally high tides. One reason is that perigee is so close to the time of full moon. Other factors that will enhance the tides today are the distance from earth to sun (perihelion was only a few days ago) and the fact that both sun and moon are well south and north, respectively, of the equator. Today's high tides could result in flood conditions along low lying coastal areas, especially if accompanied by strong onshore winds.

Jan. 9: Mercury is in superior conjunction with the sun, crossing from right to left behind it and entering the evening sky.

Jan. 23: The moon is at apogee, its greatest distance from earth for this month.

Jan. 23: Venus is in inferior conjunction with the sun, crossing the sky between sun and earth from left to right. The planet now enters the morning sun.

Jan. 24: If western skies are exceptionally clear tonight, you may see the early crescent moon. And it may just be possible to see Jupiter below and to the right of it. Jupiter leaves the evening sky in a few weeks.

Jan. 27: Mercury and Jupiter are in conjunction tonight at about 8 p.m., 1st. Though both are above the horizon at sunset, they will be setting within an hour and a half. Still, with an exceptionally clear western horizon, it may be possible to see them, quite close to one another in the sunset glow, and both very bright (Jupiter is the brighter).

Jan. 31: Mars is again near the moon, to the right and a little below it at dusk. But the planet is only about half as bright as it was when the moon passed it early this month.

All month: Venus and Jupiter can still be seen in the southwestern sky at dusk early in January. The two are very close at the beginning of the month (Venus is the brighter) but separate rapidly as Venus, moving retrograde, approaches the sun. By mid-month, Venus will be invisible in the sunset glow and Jupiter will be difficult to see. Venus leaves the evening sky on the 23rd, and Jupiter is all but gone at the month's end. Mars and Saturn remain evening stars through January, however. At dusk, Mars is high in the south and sets around midnight. Saturn is well up in the east at sundown and sets a few hours before sunrise, the only planet visible at that time. Mercury, becoming an evening star on the 9th, is not well placed for observing during January.

Comet Kohoutek has been in the evening sky all month after passing the sun on Dec. 28. From about Jan. 10, it is far enough from the sun so that it ought to be visible to the left of the sunset glow during evening twilight, and its tail extending upward to the left, away from the sun. The comet's motion is now away from the sun and away from the earth at the same time, and both factors cause it to dim rapidly in earth's sky. By the end of the month, even though the comet will be higher at sundown and will remain above the horizon into darkness, it may be difficult to see without optical aid.

A GI Believed A Viet Casualty Slips Into Quiet, Simple Life

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ron Ridgeway spent five Christmases in a Vietnamese prisoner of war camp. His mother spent those same five Christmas days placing flowers alongside a plaque from the Defense Department comemorating her "dead" son.

Ron Ridgeway is home now, but his mother is still alone. Ron married four weeks ago over his mother's objections. She wasn't invited to the wedding.

Mildred Ridgeway, in her late 40s, doesn't even know where her son and his bride are living now, although both are in Houston.

"He has cut himself off," she said yesterday. "He is still a child to me and I won't take his orders. Regardless of his age, he has not seen as much of life as I have."

Mrs. Ridgeway divorced her railroad switchman husband in 1965. Two years later Ronald dropped out of high school and joined the Marines. The Defense Department informed Mrs. Ridgeway in 1968 her son was killed in an ambush and was buried in a common grave with his buddies in Missouri.

"I always believed he was alive," she said. "They had a funeral in St. Louis and I attended the services. They buried someone. I didn't."

Eleven months ago she was told her son was being held prisoner by the Communists.

"I know I have a lot to be thankful for," she said. "Even though he will not be with us, this is still the best Christmas we ever had because he's back. He has been through so much."

Ridgeway is 24 now. He is 5-foot-6 and weighs 167 pounds, 39 more than when he was released from prison. He spent 2-½ months this year speaking to high school students and civic groups. He's living in Houston but asked that his address not be disclosed.

"It is worth all the time if I can change one person's attitude to convince them that our government is worthwhile," he said yesterday, "I love this country."

Ridgeway will register in college next month.

"At times I've felt out of place, uneasy as hell. There were always people around, people who really didn't care. Too many act so goody goody.

"They treat us POWs like we did something great. We didn't. We just did our job.

"I just want to get away now. I want to be me, not the guy in the papers. I want to be with Marie (his wife), to provide for her, and I want my education. I want to teach, maybe history. It was stupid to drop out of high school. I want to make something of myself.

"I guess I want to be simple, but I want to be left alone so I can be me. That's happiness."

Radioactive Cobalt Is Placed On Second Truck

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A shipment of radioactive cobalt, carried by a tractor-trailer that crashed on rain-slicked Interstate 80 yesterday, has been transferred safely to a second truck for return to its point of origin.

Police said the rig, which was carrying cobalt in lead containers weighing about 7,500 pounds, was en route to New York City from the Picker Corp. of Cleveland when the accident occurred about 10 miles west of here.

Eight vehicles were invloved in the pileup, but there was no leakage reported. Police said no problems were encountered when the cobalt was transferred to a second truck for shipment back to Ohio and inspection.

The crash involved six tractor-trailers and two automobiles and caused $203,000 in damages. Police rerouted traffic within a 10-mile radius after the accident and sealed off a 20-mile stretch of I-80 between Blakeslee Corners and Scotrun, Pa.

The driver, William Lytle, Lewisburg, Pa., was not injured and police said none of the other persons involved required hospitalization. They did not evacuate the sparsely populated area.

The cobalt, packed in its solid form inside lead containers that were shielded in maple wood four inches thick, remained intact during the crash.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Super Sensitivity To Cold Is A Big Problem For Some

Some people are unusually sensitive to the cold. One of our readers develops hives on her fingers and hands whenever she removes a bottle of milk from the refrigerator. The palm swells, turns red, and hurts. A similar cause is reponsible for hives after a cold shower.

These individuals have a physical allergy, and the reaction is comparable to that in persons sensitive to drugs, insect bites, or animal dander. More severe reactions occur when the hive-like swellings involve the windpipe. The most serious of all is generalized shock (anaphylactic reaction). The blood pressure falls, pulse quickens, and the skin turns blue following exposure to cold. The individual becomes ill rapidly and may lose consciousness.

THE ATTACK usually is precipitated by a cold shower, eating ice cream, or drinking an iced beverage. Anaphylactic shock may be responsible for some of the fatal accidents that occur among swimmers.

One of the most unusual responses of the body to chilling is cold hemoglobinuria. Some persons have special antibodies in the blood that are activated by cold. Seven to eight hours after exposure, these special antibodies disintegrate the red corpuscles and the iron content escapes from the blood into the urine.

The individual suffers from aching and pain in the back, legs, or abdomen, along with chills, fever, weakness, and the passage of dark brownish urine. Wholesale destruction of cells results in anemia. Meanwhile, the hands and feet become cold and white or bluish in color.

IN SOME instances, cold sensitivity results from previous injury due to cold, such as frostbite. The fingers, toes, ears, and nose become numb, cold, white, or blue following exposure to mild chilling.

Ordinary cold allergy is treated through repeated contact with cold. Adrenalin or cortisone may be used to counteract the more severe reactions.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

CLOT ENZYME

A reader writes: About a year ago, a horse kicked me in the leg and my doctor had me put it into ice packs for a week. Three times a day he gave me Papase. I have continued taking these enzyme tablets and feel fine. Why is it necessary to have a prescription for Papase? Would it be okay to give it to my horse?

Papase is an enzyme that is said to digest clots. I assume you had a hemorrhage at the site of the injury and your doctor wanted to hasten the absorption of the blood. It is a prescription item because the government says so. You can give it to your horse, if you kicked him back.

NEVER THIRSTY

B.T. writes: I never get thirsty. What would cause this?

REPLY

Probably the camel in you. Thirst comes only to those who are in need of water. Many solid foods contain liquids.

GALLBLADDER

B.T. writes: Can a diseased gallbladder burst like an inflamed appendix?

REPLY

Yes—stones and all.

NIGHT HEADACHES

Mrs. N. writes: I am a very nervous and tense person. Can you explain why I have headaches only at night and not during the day?

REPLY

Headaches at night often stem from tension, but other possibilities such as poor cerebral circulation, strain, or arthritis of the neck must be considered. Position may also play a role, including sleeping on heavy, thick pillows.

WATER ON BRAIN

B. I. writes: If a child is born with hydrocephalus, can the water in the head be removed?

REPLY

Yes, and one of the most ingenious methods was discovered by the father of a hydrocephalic child. A valve is inserted to drain off the fluid from the brain. But before anything is done, the cause of the enlarged head must be determined by means of sophisticated tests.

DOUBLE BEAT

M. T. writes: Why would a person feel two heart beats? One is regular and the other sounds like starting a motor boat.

REPLY

Throw away your stethoscope. I assume you are listening to your heart and, if so , the sound of a motor boat may be a murmur.

OZENA

A reader writes: Is Ozena curable? Which treatment do you recommend?

REPLY

In ozena, all structures of the nasal cavity atrophy and give off a foul smell. Crusting is common. The object of treatment is to eliminate the odor and lessen the formation of crusts. For this purpose, a solution containing 50 per cent glucose and 50 per cent glycerin may help. The glucose lessens the odor and the glycerin softens the greenish crustations. Furacin has proved beneficial in some cases. The use of vitamin A (oral and topical) has also given good results.

DENTAL DELIGHTS

W.K. writes: I heard about a new pill that makes dental work almost a pleasure. What do you know about it?

REPLY

Nothing, unless it is a tranquilizer. But be sure to write me when you find out, as I have a dental appointment next month.

GAZER'S GUIDE

Venus, Jupiter Close Together

By DR. THOMAS D. NICHOLSON
Director, the American Museum of Natural History, New York
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Jan 1: Venus, still an evening star, becomes stationary in right ascension and begins to move westwood (retrograde). The planet is still about 30 degrees to the left (east) of the sun, which it now is approaching rapidly.

Jan. 2-3: Look for Mars near the moon on both evenings, to the left of the moon on the night of the 2nd, to the right on the 3rd. On the 3rd the moon passes directly north of Mars, in conjunction, at 8:00 a.m. local standard time. Unfortunately, both moon and planet are below our horizon. Mars is still very bright, but is dimming rapidly as it moves almost directly away from earth.

Jan. 4: Earth is at perihelion, the point in its orbit where it is nearest the sun. Though the earth now receives more solar energy than at any time of the year, the difference may not be apparent to those of us who are living through another Northern Hemisphere winter.

Jan. 6: Saturn and the moon rise together this evening, a few hours before sunset. By dusk you will see them close to one another in the eastern sky, so close that it may be difficult to find the planet against the brightness of the gibbous moon. The moon will move closer to Saturn during the night, and actually cover the planet (an occultation) just before moonset tomorrow morning. By the evening of the 7th, the moon will be well to the east (left) of the planet.

Jan. 8: The moon is at perigee (nearest earth) today, only two hours before full moon. The resulting spring tide will produce exceptionally high tides. One reason is that perigee is so close to the time of full moon. Other factors that will enhance the tides today are the distance from earth to sun (perihelion was only a few days ago) and the fact that both sun and moon are well south and north, respectively, of the equator. Today's high tides could result in flood conditions along low lying coastal areas, especially if accompanied by strong onshore winds.

Jan. 9: Mercury is in superior conjunction with the sun, crossing from right to left behind it and entering the evening sky.

Jan. 23: The moon is at apogee, its greatest distance from earth for this month.

Jan. 23: Venus is in inferior conjunction with the sun, crossing the sky between sun and earth from left to right. The planet now enters the morning sun.

Jan. 24: If western skies are exceptionally clear tonight, you may see the early crescent moon. And it may just be possible to see Jupiter below and to the right of it. Jupiter leaves the evening sky in a few weeks.

Jan. 27: Mercury and Jupiter are in conjunction tonight at about 8 p.m., 1st. Though both are above the horizon at sunset, they will be setting within an hour and a half. Still, with an exceptionally clear western horizon, it may be possible to see them, quite close to one another in the sunset glow, and both very bright (Jupiter is the brighter).

Jan. 31: Mars is again near the moon, to the right and a little below it at dusk. But the planet is only about half as bright as it was when the moon passed it early this month.

All month: Venus and Jupiter can still be seen in the southwestern sky at dusk early in January. The two are very close at the beginning of the month (Venus is the brighter) but separate rapidly as Venus, moving retrograde, approaches the sun. By mid-month, Venus will be invisible in the sunset glow and Jupiter will be difficult to see. Venus leaves the evening sky on the 23rd, and Jupiter is all but gone at the month's end. Mars and Saturn remain evening stars through January, however. At dusk, Mars is high in the south and sets around midnight. Saturn is well up in the east at sundown and sets a few hours before sunrise, the only planet visible at that time. Mercury, becoming an evening star on the 9th, is not well placed for observing during January.

Comet Kohoutek has been in the evening sky all month after passing the sun on Dec. 28. From about Jan. 10, it is far enough from the sun so that it ought to be visible to the left of the sunset glow during evening twilight, and its tail extending upward to the left, away from the sun. The comet's motion is now away from the sun and away from the earth at the same time, and both factors cause it to dim rapidly in earth's sky. By the end of the month, even though the comet will be higher at sundown and will remain above the horizon into darkness, it may be difficult to see without optical aid.

"I always believed he was alive," she said. "They had a funeral in St. Louis and I attended the services. They buried someone. I didn't."

Eleven months ago she was told her son was being held prisoner by the Communists.

"I know I have a lot to be thankful for," she said. "Even though he will not be with us, this is still the best Christmas we ever had because he's back. He has been through so much."

Ridgeway is 24 now. He is 5-foot-6 and weighs 167 pounds, 39 more than when he was released from prison. He spent 2-½ months this year speaking to high school students and civic groups. He's living in Houston but asked that his address not be disclosed.

"It is worth all the time if I can change one person's attitude to convince them that our government is worthwhile," he said yesterday, "I love this country."

Ridgeway will register in college next month.

"At times I've felt out of place, uneasy as hell. There were always people around, people who really didn't care. Too many act so goody goody.

"They treat us POWs like we did something great. We didn't. We just did our job.

"I just want to get away now. I want to be me, not the guy in the papers. I want to be with Marie (his wife), to provide for her, and I want my education. I want to teach, maybe history. It was stupid to drop out of high school. I want to make something of myself.

"I guess I want to be simple, but I want to be left alone so I can be me. That's happiness."

Radioactive Cobalt Is Placed On Second Truck

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A shipment of radioactive cobalt, carried by a tractor-trailer that crashed on rain-slicked Interstate 80 yesterday, has been transferred safely to a second truck for return to its point of origin.

Police said the rig, which was carrying cobalt in lead containers weighing about 7,500 pounds, was en route to New York City from the Picker Corp. of Cleveland when the accident occurred about 10 miles west of here.

Eight vehicles were invloved in the pileup, but there was no leakage reported. Police said no problems were encountered when the cobalt was transferred to a second truck for shipment back to Ohio and inspection.

The crash involved six tractor-trailers and two automobiles and caused $203,000 in damages. Police rerouted traffic within a 10-mile radius after the accident and sealed off a 20-mile stretch of I-80 between Blakeslee Corners and Scotrun, Pa.

The driver, William Lytle, Lewisburg, Pa., was not injured and police said none of the other persons involved required hospitalization. They did not evacuate the sparsely populated area.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Super Sensitivity To Cold Is A Big Problem For Some

Some people are unusually sensitive to the cold. One of our readers develops hives on her fingers and hands whenever she removes a bottle of milk from the refrigerator. The palm swells, turns red, and hurts. A similar cause is reponsible for hives after a cold shower.

These individuals have a physical allergy, and the reaction is comparable to that in persons sensitive to drugs, insect bites, or animal dander. More severe reactions occur when the hive-like swellings involve the windpipe. The most serious of all is generalized shock (anaphylactic reaction). The blood pressure falls, pulse quickens, and the skin turns blue following exposure to cold. The individual becomes ill rapidly and may lose consciousness.

THE ATTACK usually is precipitated by a cold shower, eating ice cream, or drinking an iced beverage. Anaphylactic shock may be responsible for some of the fatal accidents that occur among swimmers.

One of the most unusual responses of the body to chilling is cold hemoglobinuria. Some persons have special antibodies in the blood that are activated by cold. Seven to eight hours after exposure, these special antibodies disintegrate the red corpuscles and the iron content escapes from the blood into the urine.

The individual suffers from aching and pain in the back, legs, or abdomen, along with chills, fever, weakness, and the passage of dark brownish urine. Wholesale destruction of cells results in anemia. Meanwhile, the hands and feet become cold and white or bluish in color.

IN SOME instances, cold sensitivity results from previous injury due to cold, such as frostbite. The fingers, toes, ears, and nose become numb, cold, white, or blue following exposure to mild chilling.

Ordinary cold allergy is treated through repeated contact with cold. Adrenalin or cortisone may be used to counteract the more severe reactions.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

CLOT ENZYME

A reader writes: About a year ago, a horse kicked me in the leg and my doctor had me put it into ice packs for a week. Three times a day he gave me Papase. I have continued taking these enzyme tablets and feel fine. Why is it necessary to have a prescription for Papase? Would it be okay to give it to my horse?

Papase is an enzyme that is said to digest clots. I assume you had a hemorrhage at the site of the injury and your doctor wanted to hasten the absorption of the blood. It is a prescription item because the government says so. You can give it to your horse, if you kicked him back.

NEVER THIRSTY

B.T. writes: I never get thirsty. What would cause this?

REPLY

Probably the camel in you. Thirst comes only to those who are in need of water. Many solid foods contain liquids.

GALLBLADDER

B.T. writes: Can a diseased gallbladder burst like an inflamed appendix?

REPLY

Yes—stones and all.

NIGHT HEADACHES

Mrs. N. writes: I am a very nervous and tense person. Can you explain why I have headaches only at night and not during the day?

REPLY

Headaches at night often stem from tension, but other possibilities such as poor cerebral circulation, strain, or arthritis of the neck must be considered. Position may also play a role, including sleeping on heavy, thick pillows.

WATER ON BRAIN

B. I. writes: If a child is born with hydrocephalus, can the water in the head be removed?

REPLY

Yes, and one of the most ingenious methods was discovered by the father of a hydrocephalic child. A valve is inserted to drain off the fluid from the brain. But before anything is done, the cause of the enlarged head must be determined by means of sophisticated tests.

DOUBLE BEAT

M. T. writes: Why would a person feel two heart beats? One is regular and the other sounds like starting a motor boat.

REPLY

Throw away your stethoscope. I assume you are listening to your heart and, if so , the sound of a motor boat may be a murmur.

OZENA

A reader writes: Is Ozena curable? Which treatment do you recommend?

REPLY

In ozena, all structures of the nasal cavity atrophy and give off a foul smell. Crusting is common. The object of treatment is to eliminate the odor and lessen the formation of crusts. For this purpose, a solution containing 50 per cent glucose and 50 per cent glycerin may help. The glucose lessens the odor and the glycerin softens the greenish crustations. Furacin has proved beneficial in some cases. The use of vitamin A (oral and topical) has also given good results.

DENTAL DELIGHTS

W.K. writes: I heard about a new pill that makes dental work almost a pleasure. What do you know about it?

REPLY

Nothing, unless it is a tranquilizer. But be sure to write me when you find out, as I have a dental appointment next month.

TOMORROW NIGHT'S SHOW

Edith Will Face Worry Of Cancer 'In Family'

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — We all laughed at "All In The Family" when Edith went through menopause and Mike was impotent.

There was a touch of pathos to the show about Gloria's miscarriage. But the number one hit show on CBS is after all a comedy and that episode had its moments of hilarity.

But can they pull it off tomorrow night when Edith (Jean Stapleton) discovers a lump in her breast and thinks it's cancer? And a Christmas show on top of that.

I think they do, with an outrageous juxtaposition of visual humor and clowning and Edith's worries over the lump. She worries not only that it might be malignant but that Archie will find out and if he does that he will view her differently.

The show manages to be touching, humorous and informative. Cancer is, of course, no laughing matter and there are no sick jokes here. All the references to cancer are handled tastefully and straightforward.

That "All In The Family" is at the top of the ratings, is, I believe, in no small way due to the ability of the producers to find a manageable and humorous way to handle so-called controversial subjects.

This Saturday's show resulted from a suggestion by Austin and Iram Kalish, who wrote the teleplay with Don Nicholl, the series' script consultant.

"This is the kind of challenge that is enormously exciting to us," said Norman Lear, the executive producer. "The problem is universal. There isn't anything in life in my opinion that can't be treated from the side of the telescope that is comedic."

Worked into this story is

JEAN STAPLETON
Will face a crisis

something that happened during a rehearsal of the show about seven months ago. Someone brought in some novelty store false noses and eyeglasses and the cast clowned around with them.

The idea of using the false noses was tucked away until the cancer show. Everyone clowns with the noses and Edith uses the moment to relieve her anxieties of discovering the lump.

The show also imparts information. Edith discovers the lump herself and goes immediately to a doctor. She worries that Archie will act differently toward her if she has a breast operation. Her neighbor, Irene Lorenzo tells her that she had a similar operation six years before and her husband is still loving and attentive.

I don't want to give away the show, but you can figure out for yourself that it turns out well. Archie, true to character, is alternately frightened, relieved and peeved.

Governor Asks Cuts In Lighting

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has called on Californians to turn off lighted advertising signs and all other "nonessential" outdoor lights for the duration of the energy crisis.

Reagan yesterday said elimination of such lighting was needed because the energy crunch is "entering a critical stage with some cities facing severe shortages."

In a prepared statement, Reagan said nonessential lighting also includes outdoor display lighting and decorations.

TOMORROW NIGHT'S SHOW

Edith Will Face Worry Of Cancer 'In Family'

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — We all laughed at "All In The Family" when Edith went through menopause and Mike was impotent.

There was a touch of pathos to the show about Gloria's miscarriage. But the number one hit show on CBS is after all a comedy and that episode had its moments of hilarity.

But can they pull it off tomorrow night when Edith (Jean Stapleton) discovers a lump in her breast and thinks it's cancer? And a Christmas show on top of that.

I think they do, with an outrageous juxtaposition of visual humor and clowning and Edith's worries over the lump. She worries not only that it might be malignant but that Archie will find out and if he does that he will view her differently.

The show manages to be touching, humorous and informative. Cancer is, of course, no laughing matter and there are no sick jokes here. All the references to cancer are handled tastefully and straightforward.

That "All In The Family" is at the top of the ratings, is, I believe, in no small way due to the ability of the producers to find a manageable and humorous way to handle so-called controversial subjects.

This Saturday's show resulted from a suggestion by Austin and Iram Kalish, who wrote the teleplay with Don Nicholl, the series' script consultant.

"This is the kind of challenge that is enormously exciting to us," said Norman Lear, the executive producer. "The problem is universal. There isn't anything in life in my opinion that can't be treated from the side of the telescope that is comedic."

Worked into this story is

JEAN STAPLETON
Will face a crisis

something that happened during a rehearsal of the show about seven months ago. Someone brought in some novelty store false noses and eyeglasses and the cast clowned around with them.

The idea of using the false noses was tucked away until the cancer show. Everyone clowns with the noses and Edith uses the moment to relieve her anxieties of discovering the lump.

The show also imparts information. Edith discovers the lump herself and goes immediately to a doctor. She worries that Archie will act differently toward her if she has a breast operation. Her neighbor, Irene Lorenzo tells her that she had a similar operation six years before and her husband is still loving and attentive.

I don't want to give away the show, but you can figure out for yourself that it turns out well. Archie, true to character, is alternately frightened, relieved and peeved.

Governor Asks Cuts In Lighting

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has called on Californians to turn off lighted advertising signs and all other "nonessential" outdoor lights for the duration of the energy crisis.

Reagan yesterday said elimination of such lighting was needed because the energy crunch is "entering a critical stage with some cities facing severe shortages."

In a prepared statement, Reagan said nonessential lighting also includes outdoor display lighting and decorations.

A Mystery Of Colossi Said Solved

BERKELEY (UPI) — A team of University of California scientists said yesterday it has solved the 3,000-year-old puzzle of the origin of the Colossi of Memnon near Thebes in Egypt.

The colossi, two giant statutes of King Amenhotep III who lived in the 14th century B.C., once guarded Amenhotep's mortuary temple.

But researchers had never been able to determine where the extremely hard and beautiful quartzite from which the statues were carved came from.

Robert F. Heizer, professor of anthropology at Berkeley, said in the magazine "Science" that his team of scientists was able to prove that the stone came from the Gebel el Ahmar quarry near Cairo, some 420 miles downstream from Thebes on the Nile.

Heizer theorized that the colossi, which he found weighed 720 metric tons each and towered 47 feet above the pedestals they rested on, were lashed to a sledge in the quarry and run over friction-reducing logs to a waiting barge.

He estimated that between 3,500 and 15,000 men were needed to complete such a task.

After that, Heizer said probably as many as 1,800 daggers and oarsmen moved the colossi upstream, most likely when the Nile was flooded.

Heizer and his staff worked nearly three years doing research on findings made in Egypt through the use of petrographic studies and complicated neutron analysis of the stones.

Although the discovery of the origin of the stone answers some questions, it raises others and Heizer plans a trip to Thebes again next summer to try to find out how the colossi were moved from the banks of the Nile a mile inland to Thebes.

Some scientists believe they were again dragged but Heizer believes they were probably floated through a special access canal and then into a man-made lake.

Lagunitas Schools Are Cooler

The Lagunitas School District administration has turned school thermostats down in response to the nation's energy crisis, the district board learned Wednesday night.

Supt. Harry F. Roche told trustees that the heat has been lowered from 72 degrees to 68 degrees in school facilities, and also reported that lights are being doused when not in use, according to district secretary Anna Mae Kondratieff.

In response to a proposal by a resident, Roche said his staff will look into a program of educating youngsters about energy, and how to conserve it, she said.

The district board next meets at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 16 in Lagunitas School.

State Air Chief Says Rescue Device Will Save Many Fliers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's chief of aeronautics said yesterday a new mandatory rescue device for private aircraft will save lives by cutting search time for downed planes from days to hours.

"The signaling device will save both lives and man hours," William F. Shea, chief of the state Department of Transportation's Division of Aeronautics, told a news conference.

The small device, which sends out a signal when an aircraft crashes or is forced to land, becomes mandatory throughout the country Jan. 1.

Each of the state's 23,056 aircraft will be required to have one. The transmitter costs about $135. The signal from the transmitter can be picked up by special receivers in search and rescue planes as well as by plane radios set on a special frequency.

"I expect full cooperation from the aviation community," Shea said when asked about pilots refusing to spend the money for the device — which is just slightly larger than a pack of cigarettes.

Shea said all planes in California without the device will be grounded. He said violators will be caught during periodical mandatory aircraft inspections. He said he did not know what the fine would be but said the lawbreakers would be referred to the Federal Aviation Administration.

"Over one-half of those persons retrieved alive from downed aircraft were recovered within 12 hours after the accident," he said. Many of the victims of air crashes, according to Shea, die from exposure because they are not found in the first 12 hours.

Counties, which now spend an estimated $4 million a year for ground searches, will also save money because of shorter search efforts.

The Lake Paho Wildlife Area near Princeton, Mo., will produce 113,000 channel catfish this year for distribution to all parts of Missouri.

Patients Said Too Toug In Judging Of Doctors

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The public may be expecting too much from doctors, the president of the California Medical Association said yesterday.

Dr. Thomas Elmendorf of Willows told the Assembly Select Committee on Medical Malpractice that recent increases in malpractice suits may be because members of the public sometimes have "unreasonable expectations" as to what medicine can do for them.

"Recent successes in heart transplants and kidney transplants have stimulated the basic desire to achieve immortality," Elmendorf said. "I consider the achievement of immortality unrealistic since none of my patients have achieved this status."

Bicycle trail maps, produced in the 19th century, were the forerunners of the modern road maps and road atlases, according to Rand McNally, the world's largest publisher of them.

"It is not unreasonable, however, to expect to be involved with a competent physicians when one goes in for medical care."

The president of the 25,000-member association said the profession was well aware of the problem of malpractice suits and spiralling costs of malpractice insurance.

This has sometimes resulted, he said, in the conscious or unconscious practice of "defensive medicine."

Drake '5', Novato Win

Drake and Novato high schools kept their glittering non-league basketball records intact with victories yesterday, as the Pirates beat a tough prep opponent and the Hornets defeated a college foe.

Drake's last-minute charge overcame Wilson of San Francisco, 65-63, in the first round of the McClymonds Christmas Tournament, while Novato also rallied to subdue the host College of Marin junior varsity, 65-61. Drake is now 8-1 and Novato 7-1.

Drake will play host McClymonds of Oakland tonight at 9 o'clock in the feature game of the prestigious tournament at California State University, Hayward. A victory will put the Pirates in the finals tomorrow at 9 p.m. against the winner of Berkeley-Oakland Tech.

"The deciding factor was that we were pretty scrappy at the end," said Drake coach Pete Hayward. After trailing by as much as 10 points in the first half, the Pirates rallied to make the game close in the fourth quarter.

Center Dan Trimble hit a 15-foot jump shot with about 25 seconds left to put Drake ahead by one point, and Eddie Joe Chavez later added the final free throws.

Trimble finished with 14 points and Chavez led with 20. "They (Wilson) were all over him (Chavez), opening up other people," said Hayward. "He did a fine job on the boards and with his assists."

Hayward also singled out Mark Lavin, who scored eight points "in key spots."

Novato played without regulars Mike Moroski infected foot), Dave Brazell (injured leg) and George Diruscio (flu), but got 21 points from Willie Barnes and 15 from Curtis Saine to take up the slack.

Barnes scored 14 of Novato's points in a row as the Hornets overcame a 31-23 halftime deficit.

The Hornet defense held the Tars to 10 points during a 10-minute period of the second half, and the Hornet free-throw shooters sank 19 of 23.

Garner Keys Tars' Victory Over San Jose

By TOM THOMPSON

Breaking the 100-point barrier for the second time in a week, the unbeaten College of Marin basketball team drubbed San Jose City College last night, 106-78, for its 10th straight victory.

The high-scoring non-conference affair in Kentfield was highlighted by Wil Garner's 29-point performance. Teammates John Channell scored 22 and Bill Donnellan 18. Ken Hartsough finished with 24 points, mostly on outside shots from the floor, to lead the Jaguars.

Channell, a 6-foot-4 freshman, scored his highest total of the year. He started in place of Harry Norman, who showed up late, according to coach John Panagakis.

George Swift put the Tars over 100 for the second consecutive time after doing the same in Marin's 104-50 victory over Moffett Field of Mountain View last Friday. Swift sank a free throw with 1:05 left to play, making the score, 100-75. The two-digit-per-team scoreboard read, "visitors 75, home 00," but that was hardly the case at that point.

San Jose (6-4) actually led by five early in the first half, but after Channell put the Tars ahead 19-18 a few minutes later, Marin scored nine consecutive points and held on to the momentum the rest of the way. Marin led, 51-37, at the half.

"They're playing together now," said Panagakis of his team, which is currenlty ranked third in the state. "That's making all the difference."

'WILLIAMS MY MANAGER'

Finley Sustains His Hard Stand

NEW YORK (UPI) — A feisty Charles O. Finley today showed no signs of softening in his stand to keep manager Dick Williams in an Oakland A's uniform.

"Williams was my manager yesterday, he's my manager today and he'll be my manager tomorrow," Finley said emphatically from his home in LaPorte, Ind..

Until yesterday, it was uncertain whether Williams was Finley's manager or would be the New York Yankees' field leader since both had him under contract. But American League president Joe Cronin made a clear-cut decision that Williams belonged to Finley.

After earlier bargaining with the Yankees for compensation to release the Oakland manager from his contract with the A's, Finley now says he may not accept any form of compensation for Williams.

"That's entirely possible," affirmed the A's scrappy owner.

Finley is now saying Williams may be the A's manager when the baseball season opens next year.

Williams, however, has said emphatically he will never work for Finley again, even if it means staying out of baseball for two years.

"Don't you worry about that — let me worry about that," said Finley. "And I'm not worried. Let Williams worry about that."

When asked if he would really want a disgruntled manager on his hands next season, Finley grew angry.

CHARLES FINLEY
Not softening

"When I hear all this bull about how Williams won't be happy, I could care less. Let me tell you, I could care less if Mr. Williams is happy. Anything that has occurred was caused by Mr. Williams and the Yankees."

Finley declined to comment on how long he could afford to battle with Williams for his services as the A's manager before having to name a successor to guide the world champions.

"I'll stand on what I said earlier. Williams was my manager yesterday, he's my manager today and he'll be my manager tomorrow."

While Finley was taking his stand in Indiana, the Yankees were very indecisive in New York. A spokesman for the club said that the Yankees "were considering the various options open to them" and the club would probably not announce any decision before Christmas.

"We don't know which way we'll go," said the spokesman.

And baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn was continuing to reserve judgment on the whole affair.

"It was Joe Cronin's statement that the commissioner would rule on the matter," said a spokesman for the commissioner's office. "The commissioner feels that Joe Cronin has done an able job and is handling the matter to his satisfaction."

NFC All-Star Squad Has Three 49ers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Though the San Francisco 49ers suffered through a disastrous year as a team (5-9), several of their players had fine seasons individually, and were named to the United Press International 1973 National Football Conference all-star team.

The three are tight end Ted Kwalick, center Forrest Blue and linebacker Dave Wilcox.

No 49ers made the second team, however, and only one — cornerback Bruce Taylor — received honorable mention recognition.

The Minnesota Vikings and Dallas Cowboys each placed five players on the team while the Los Angeles Rams had four and the Washington Redskins three. A nationwide panel of 39 sportswriters — three from each of the 13 conference cities — picked the team.

The five Vikings on the team are wide receiver John Gilliam, tackle Ron Yary, end Carl Eller, tackle Alan Page and safety Paul Krause while the five Cowboys are tackle Rayfield Wright, guard John Niland, running back Calvin Hill, middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan and cornerback Mel Renfro.

The others on the squad are wide receiver Harold Jackson of Los Angeles, guard Tom Mack of Los Angeles, quarterback John Hadl of Los Angeles, running back John Brockington

Raiders My Choice To Win Tomorrow

After studying all the statistics and sending in reams of material to the I-J computer, I have reached agreement with the football oddsmakers who have picked the Raiders by four points over the Pittsburgh Steelers in their playoff game tomorrow.

The Raiders make up a very fine team, one that decided to play its best football at the end of the season rather than at the start. In sports such as track and field and swimming, athletes try to improve their performances each week, building to a peak at the time the big meets arrive. You hear the expression, "he peaked too soon." That is to say his best performances have come before the championships and he is physically unable to duplicate it when the showdown arrives.

After a lackluster start this season, the Raiders were being counted out by some. On paper, it was a sound team, one blessed with depth at all positions, but still the Raiders were losing. Then came the final four weeks of the season and the chips were down: the Raiders had to win all four of those remaining games to assure itself of an American Football Conference division championship. The Raiders won those four games, and played near errorless ball in the final two against Western Division rivals Kansas City and Denver.

Against Kansas City, a 37-7 victory, the Raiders showed what can happen when a very strong team plays to its fullest potential. Against Denver, the Raiders became too conservative when they realized the championship was within their grasp and had to hold on to retain a 21-17 triumph. But the Raiders were still able to come up with the big play when it was needed.

For awhile, it looked as if the Steelers had done all their winning too early. After taking eight of their first nine games, they lost three straight and Franco's Army, Gerela's Gorillas and all the rest of those Pittsburgh fanatics started to get a little uneasy. But then along came a pair of impressive victories, 33-7 over Houston and 37-14 over San Francisco, and the Steelers again had that momentum. So, after sagging somewhat, Pittsburgh also might be peaking. It leads one to believe that tomorrow's game will be one heck of a battle.

But the Raiders must win. How else can there be an all-California Super Bowl? Smile, you Ram fans.

Vikings, Redskins Looking

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Minnesota Vikings and the Washington Redskins, preparing for tomorrow's National Football Conference playoff match, have spent the week looking for one thing.

The Vikings were searching for a place to practice that wasn't covered by a foot of snow and the Redskins were looking for a starting quarterback.

Both had varying degrees of success in the search yesterday.

The Vikings, who had gone from Bloomington to Tulsa, Okla. in search of a field that wasn't covered by snow only to be hit by a snowstorm, were able to practice outdoors Thursday.

And the Redskins got Billy Kilmer out of the hospital and on the field practice.

But until tomorrow's 1 p.m. EST test, it'll be difficult to tell which team fared better. The game will start a weekend of four nationally televised playoff games. Oakland hosts Pittsburgh in the second game tomorrow and Cincinnati is at Miami and Los Angeles is at Dallas in the two Sunday games.

On Wednesday, the snow was so bad in Tulsa that the Vikings had to practice indoors. And when one of the team buses was stopped behind stalled cars, some of the players got out and pushed to clear up the jam.

Yesterday, coach Bud Grant was able to have his team practice outdoors on Tartan turf.

The Vikings flew to Bloomington last night from Tulsa and will have a workout today there.

The Redskins are going to practice at Redskin Park outside Washington today before flying to Bloomington. Coach George Allen, who doesn't like distractions, is skipping a workout in Minnesota. He'd rather have his team practice at home.

Allen has to decide whether to start Billy Kilmer or Sonny Jurgensen at quarterback against the Vikings.

Kilmer was hospitalized earlier in the week with a stomach ailment while Jurgensen is hobbling on a bad knee that will need surgery at the end of the season. Kilmer got his first practice of the week in yesterday.

"Billy took nearly all the practice today and he did a good job," Allen said. "We'll see how he is tomorrow. He ha been on liquids so he's bound to be a little weak."

ENERGY WOES HIT BASKETBALL

The energy crisis has taken its first bite into local high school athletics, San Marin High athletic director Jim Van der Beets announced yesterday.

Sonoma High decided to cancel its Jan. 4 non-league basketball game at San Marin after its principal instructed the athletic department to cut gasoline consumption 15 per cent. The Dragons' trip to Novato would have been about 25 miles.

Cossacks End Road Loss String

I-J Special Report

PHOENIX, Ariz. — For awhile, it looked like Sonoma State College's disastrous road luck would continue, but Steve Tiedeman had other ideas.

Tiedeman scored 23 points last night, including the game-winning 18-foot jump shot with six seconds left, to give the Cossacks an 85-84 victory over Marymount College of Salina, Kan., in the opening round of the Grand Canyon Invitational basketball tournament here.

The victory boosted Sonoma into the championship game tonight at 9 o'clock against undefeated host Grand Canyon College, a victor last night over College of Idaho.

The Cossacks (3-5) had lost five straight games — all on the road — and it didn't appear they would do any better against Marymount, the nation's third-ranked team in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) polls.

Marymount, winner of 78 of its previous 81 games, shot out to a 22-4 lead. "We started playing a little bit better de-

Furor Over Raiders' Slip

OAKLAND (UPI) — Mean Joe Greene of the Pittsburgh Steelers thinks the Oakland Raiders have slipped, but Raider Art Thoms disputes the theory.

Warming up verbally for tomorrow's 1 p.m. American Football Conference playoff game, the two defensive linemen exchanged pleasantries while practicing 450 miles apart in storm-free California.

"Last year I thought Oakland was the best club in football," said Greene, a menacing 275-pound tackle. "This year the Raiders haven't played as well.

"When we beat them last month they didn't seem like the same team that almost knocked us over in the playoffs a year ago. They have the same personnel but there's something missing."

Despite Greene's feelings, the Raiders have been tabbed three-point favorites to beat the Steelers and advance to the AFC championship match.

"We've been playing well together towards the end of the season," said Thoms, a 260-pounder. "If we keep playing the way we have been, we'll beat Pittsburgh."

Thoms referred to the fact that the Raiders defensive front four which also includes Otis Sistrunk, Tony Cline and Horace Jones had 11 sacks and eight pass deflections in the last two games against Kansas City and Denver.

TERRY BRADSHAW
Keys attack

Terry Hanratty was subbing for an injured Terry Bradshaw when the Steelers beat the Raiders 17-9 in late October on a soggy turf at Oakland. Quarterback Ken Stabler of the Raiders left that game early with a knee injury, and the Steelers came up with four interceptions and a fumble recovery to blunt Raider drives.

"Oakland's tough, but we're tough," said Bradshaw. "Both teams are going to come out and knock the stuffing out of each other.

"We're going to score on them and we'll probably have to pass to do it."

However, Bradshaw may be without his favorite receiver Ron Shanklin who is suffering from a sprained back. Shanklin caught 30 passes this season for a whopping average of 23.7 yards, tops in the league.

Stabler was the AFC's leading passer this season with a completion percentage of .627, best in Raider history. But he'll be throwing against a secondary that includes safeties Mike Wagner and Glen Edwards and cornerback John Rowser who intercepted 37 passes this season to lead the National Football League.

There has been some ill will exchanged between the clubs in the last two seasons. The Steelers accused the Raiders of balking on an agreement to swap two game films before last year's playoff game won by Pittsburgh 13-7 on a deflected pass reception in the dying seconds.

After the Pittsburgh win this season, the Steelers filed a formal protest claiming the Raiders greased their jerseys, used deflated footballs and ran a slow clock. The protests were disallowed.

So you can figure Saturday's game won't exactly resemble a junior prom.

Drake '5', Novato Win

Drake and Novato high schools kept their glittering non-league basketball records intact with victories yesterday, as the Pirates beat a tough prep opponent and the Hornets defeated a college foe.

Drake's last-minute charge overcame Wilson of San Francisco, 65-63, in the first round of the McClymonds Christmas Tournament, while Novato also rallied to subdue the host College of Marin junior varsity, 65-61. Drake is now 8-1 and Novato 7-1.

Drake will play host McClymonds of Oakland tonight at 9 o'clock in the feature game of the prestigious tournament at California State University, Hayward. A victory will put the Pirates in the finals tomorrow at 9 p.m. against the winner of Berkeley-Oakland Tech.

"The deciding factor was that we were pretty scrappy at the end," said Drake coach Pete Hayward. After trailing by as much as 10 points in the first half, the Pirates rallied to make the game close in the fourth quarter.

Center Dan Trimble hit a 15-foot jump shot with about 25 seconds left to put Drake ahead by one point, and Eddie Joe Chavez later added the final free throws.

Trimble finished with 14 points and Chavez led with 20. "They (Wilson) were all over him (Chavez), opening up other people," said Hayward. "He did a fine job on the boards and with his assists."

Hayward also singled out Mark Lavin, who scored eight points "in key spots."

Novato played without regulars Mike Moroski infected foot), Dave Brazell (injured leg) and George Diruscio (flu), but got 21 points from Willie Barnes and 15 from Curtis Saine to take up the slack.

Barnes scored 14 of Novato's points in a row as the Hornets overcame a 31-23 halftime deficit.

The Hornet defense held the Tars to 10 points during a 10-minute period of the second half, and the Hornet free-throw shooters sank 19 of 23.

Garner Keys Tars' Victory Over San Jose

By TOM THOMPSON

Breaking the 100-point barrier for the second time in a week, the unbeaten College of Marin basketball team drubbed San Jose City College last night, 106-78, for its 10th straight victory.

The high-scoring non-conference affair in Kentfield was highlighted by Wil Garner's 29-point performance. Teammates John Channell scored 22 and Bill Donnellan 18. Ken Hartsough finished with 24 points, mostly on outside shots from the floor, to lead the Jaguars.

Channell, a 6-foot-4 freshman, scored his highest total of the year. He started in place of Harry Norman, who showed up late, according to coach John Panagakis.

George Swift put the Tars over 100 for the second consecutive time after doing the same in Marin's 104-50 victory over Moffett Field of Mountain View last Friday. Swift sank a free throw with 1:05 left to play, making the score, 100-75. The two-digit-per-team scoreboard read, "visitors 75, home 00," but that was hardly the case at that point.

San Jose (6-4) actually led by five early in the first half, but after Channell put the Tars ahead 19-18 a few minutes later, Marin scored nine consecutive points and held on to the momentum the rest of the way. Marin led, 51-37, at the half.

"They're playing together now," said Panagakis of his team, which is currenlty ranked third in the state. "That's making all the difference."

'WILLIAMS MY MANAGER'

Finley Sustains His Hard Stand

NEW YORK (UPI) — A feisty Charles O. Finley today showed no signs of softening in his stand to keep manager Dick Williams in an Oakland A's uniform.

"Williams was my manager yesterday, he's my manager today and he'll be my manager tomorrow," Finley said emphatically from his home in LaPorte, Ind..

Until yesterday, it was uncertain whether Williams was Finley's manager or would be the New York Yankees' field leader since both had him under contract. But American League president Joe Cronin made a clear-cut decision that Williams belonged to Finley.

After earlier bargaining with the Yankees for compensation to release the Oakland manager from his contract with the A's, Finley now says he may not accept any form of compensation for Williams.

"That's entirely possible," affirmed the A's scrappy owner.

Finley is now saying Williams may be the A's manager when the baseball season opens next year.

Williams, however, has said emphatically he will never work for Finley again, even if it means staying out of baseball for two years.

"Don't you worry about that — let me worry about that," said Finley. "And I'm not worried. Let Williams worry about that."

When asked if he would really want a disgruntled manager on his hands next season, Finley grew angry.

CHARLES FINLEY
Not softening

"When I hear all this bull about how Williams won't be happy, I could care less. Let me tell you, I could care less if Mr. Williams is happy. Anything that has occurred was caused by Mr. Williams and the Yankees."

Finley declined to comment on how long he could afford to battle with Williams for his services as the A's manager before having to name a successor to guide the world champions.

"I'll stand on what I said earlier. Williams was my manager yesterday, he's my manager today and he'll be my manager tomorrow."

While Finley was taking his stand in Indiana, the Yankees were very indecisive in New York. A spokesman for the club said that the Yankees "were considering the various options open to them" and the club would probably not announce any decision before Christmas.

"We don't know which way we'll go," said the spokesman.

And baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn was continuing to reserve judgment on the whole affair.

"It was Joe Cronin's statement that the commissioner would rule on the matter," said a spokesman for the commissioner's office. "The commissioner feels that Joe Cronin has done an able job and is handling the matter to his satisfaction."

Vikings, Redskins Looking

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Minnesota Vikings and the Washington Redskins, preparing for tomorrow's National Football Conference playoff match, have spent the week looking for one thing.

The Vikings were searching for a place to practice that wasn't covered by a foot of snow and the Redskins were looking for a starting quarterback.

Both had varying degrees of success in the search yesterday.

The Vikings, who had gone from Bloomington to Tulsa, Okla. in search of a field that wasn't covered by snow only to be hit by a snowstorm, were able to practice outdoors Thursday.

And the Redskins got Billy Kilmer out of the hospital and on the field practice.

But until tomorrow's 1 p.m. EST test, it'll be difficult to tell which team fared better. The game will start a weekend of four nationally televised playoff games. Oakland hosts Pittsburgh in the second game tomorrow and Cincinnati is at Miami and Los Angeles is at Dallas in the two Sunday games.

On Wednesday, the snow was so bad in Tulsa that the Vikings had to practice indoors. And when one of the team buses was stopped behind stalled cars, some of the players got out and pushed to clear up the jam.

Yesterday, coach Bud Grant was able to have his team practice outdoors on Tartan turf.

The Vikings flew to Bloomington last night from Tulsa and will have a workout today there.

The Redskins are going to practice at Redskin Park outside Washington today before flying to Bloomington. Coach George Allen, who doesn't like distractions, is skipping a workout in Minnesota. He'd rather have his team practice at home.

Allen has to decide whether to start Billy Kilmer or Sonny Jurgensen at quarterback against the Vikings.

Kilmer was hospitalized earlier in the week with a stomach ailment while Jurgensen is hobbling on a bad knee that will need surgery at the end of the season. Kilmer got his first practice of the week in yesterday.

"Billy took nearly all the practice today and he did a good job," Allen said. "We'll see how he is tomorrow. He ha been on liquids so he's bound to be a little weak."

ENERGY WOES HIT BASKETBALL

The energy crisis has taken its first bite into local high school athletics, San Marin High athletic director Jim Van der Beets announced yesterday.

Sonoma High decided to cancel its Jan. 4 non-league basketball game at San Marin after its principal instructed the athletic department to cut gasoline consumption 15 per cent. The Dragons' trip to Novato would have been about 25 miles.

BANDO IS SECOND

A's Jackson Wins Slugging Title

BOSTON (AP) — Reggie Jackson, a key man in the Oakland Athletics' drive to the World Series championship, was crowned officially today the American League's 1973 slugging king.

Figures announced by the league showed that Jackson compiled a slugging percentage of .531, far ahead of runnerup Sal Bando of the A's with .497.

Designated hitter Frank Robinson of California was third with .488, one point ahead of Milwaukee's George Scott and Texas' Jeff Burroughs.

Jackson, the league's most valuable player this year, had a .296 batting average with 286 total bases in 539 times at bat. He led the league with 32 homers and had 28 doubles and two triples to go with 96 singles.

The Boston Red Sox led in team slugging with .401, followed by Minnesota with .393, Baltimore and Detroit .390 each, and Oakland .389.

Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda helped the Red Sox to the slugging title with a mark of .444. Cepeda, barely able to run because of two bad knees, led the league by grounding into 24 double plays, two more than Minnesota's Bobby Darwin, Detroit's Eddie Brinkman and Kansas City's Lou Piniella.

Kansas City slugger John Mayberry was tops in bases on balls with 122 and in the most intentional walks, 17. Baltimore's Bobby Grich walked 107 times and Boston's Carl Yastrzemski 105.

Don Baylor of the Orioles was hit by the most pitches, 13, while Darwin was the leader in strikeouts with 137, nine more than Minnesota teammate Larry Hisle.

Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson continued to rewrite the major league record book, hiking marks in five categories at his position. They were: most games 2,488, most chances 7,736, most putouts 2,421, most assists 5,315, and most double plays 531.

Boston's 40-year-old Luis Aparicio also extended major league marks for a shortstop — most games 2,581, most chances 12,564, most assists, 8,016, and most double plays 1,553.

The American League set a total of 30 major league records and tied 15 others in 1973. Thirteen league marks were set and 12 others equalled.

Coach Of Year Award To Bryant

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paul "Bear" Bryant, coach of the United Press International 1973 national college football champion Alabama, today was named the Kodak coach of the year for an unprecedented third time.

Wittenberg's Dave Maurer was selected as the college division coach of the year.

Bryant was chosen by the vote of the nearly 3,000 members of the American Football Coaches Association. He had previously won the same award in 1961 and 1971. His Crimson Tide team had a perfect 11-0 regular season this year and will meet Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Eve.

Bryant was selected over eight other regional candidates. They were: Penn State's Joe Paterno, Dartmouth's Jake Crouthamel, Maryland's Jerry Claiborne, Miami of Ohio's Bill Mallory, Oklahoma's Barry Switzer, Texas Tech's Jim Carlen, Arizona's Jim Young and Southern Cal's John McKay.

Maurer beat out Connecticut's Larry Naviaux, Juniata's Walt Nadzak, Elon's Red Wilson, Western Kentucky's Jimmy Feix, Wisconsin-Lacrosse's Roger Harring, Abilene Christian's Wally Bullington, Boise State's Tony Knap and Joe Harper of Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo.

NHL ROUNDUP

Canucks Face Ill Will In Philly

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

After simmering at a slow boil for almost a year, the bad blood that seems to flow between the Philadelphia Flyers and Vancouver Canucks during the holiday season has erupted once again.

For the second year in a row, the Flyers and Canucks have marked the Christmas period with their own touch of violence. The latest explosion occurred last night at Philadelphia when nine players were involved in a second-period disturbance that delayed play for 25 minutes and resulted in four men being ejected from the game.

The Flyers went on to win the contest, 9-3, to move two points in front of idle Chicago in the battle for first place in the National Hockey League's West Division. But the victory wasn't achieved without the cost of blood.

At the 13:01 mark of the second period, Greg Boddy of Vancouver got into a fight with Philadelphia's Bill Flett. When Dave Schultz came to the rescue of Flett by attacking Boddy, several other skirmishes developed, one of the more prominent of which matched Dennis Ververgaert of the Canucks and Bob Kelly of the Flyers.

In addition, spare goaltenders Gary Smith of Vancouver and Bobby Taylor of Philadelphia both came off their benches.

Boddy, Smith, Schultz and Taylor all were thrown out of the game.

Last Dec. 29, in a game at Vancouver, seven members of the Flyers were charged with battling spectators in the Pacific Coliseum, marking the first time in league history that a confrontation between players and fans wound up in a court of law.

In more peaceful action at other NHL arenas last night, the New York Rangers climbed into third place in the East Division by beating the Detroit Red Wings, 5-2, the Boston Bruins edged the Pittsburgh Penguins, 6-5, and the Montreal Canadiens and Buffalo Sabres skated to a 2-2 tie.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Tourney Action For USF, Cal

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Christmas season may mean Santa, carols and mistletoe to some, but to basketball fans it also means the big holiday cage tourneys where teams from different parts of the nation battle to preserve their reputations.

For instance, Bay Area rivals Stanford and California tonight find themselves at the Kentucky Invitational and Dayton Classic respectively, while two more old Bay Area foes, San Francisco and Santa Clara, are the co-hosts at the Cable Car Classic at Oakland. Santa Clara meets unbeaten St. Joseph's and then San Francisco tangles with national power Maryland.

In non-tourney action, Southern California is at home to Houston in a good matchup while UCLA greets Ohio University and then catches unbeaten St. Bonaventure Saturday.

In action last night, unbeaten Fresno State got 45 points from Charles Bailey to nip North Texas State 96-95 in a two overtime thriller at Denton, Texas.

Washington lost its second decision in six tries with an 80-76 defeat at tough Bradley although Ray Price and Larry pounds each scored 26 for the Huskies.

Ken McKenzie's 26 points led Montana past Seattle 69-63 and Whitman had three men in double figures in an 84-65 win over Western Baptist.

Mark Holland scored 22 to lead Chapman past Life 95-54 and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo beat Sacramento State 74-53 in a game which saw both teams take the floor with 1-5 records.

Florida State Coach Jones Quits

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida State head football coach Larry B. Jones, whose Seminoles lost all 11 games this year, has resigned today, saying that his quitting is "in the best interests of the university and the intercollegiate athletics program."

Jones, who is vacationing at an undisclosed Texas location, advised FSU President Stanley Marshall of his decision by telegram.

"It is with regret that I submit my resignation as head football coach at Florida State University," said Jones. "I hope my action brings back together Florida State University's fans and alumni."

Jones, who joined the Seminoles in 1971 with a four-year contract, said his future plans are indefinite. His resignation will be effective Jan. 31.

After losing all 11 games this year, Jones said he had assurance from Marshall that his job was safe.

Although the announcement of Jones' resignation said he was quitting voluntarily, Marshall issued a statement saying that "I concur with his assessment" that leaving is in the best interest of FSU.

The Seminoles have lost 12 straight games—the last one of 1972 and all 11 this year—and Jones' three-season mark is 15-19-0.

The high point of his career was his rookie season, when he built an 8-3 mark and FSU lost a 45-38 thriller to Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

The loss to South Carolina last year, which started the 12-game slump, cost the Seminoles a Peach Bowl bid. They were 7-4 last year.

AGAINST PITT TONIGHT

Arizona State In Fiesta Bowl

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Arizona State sends its awesome offensive machine against Pittsburgh and its freshman wonder named Tony Dorsett in the third annual Fiesta Bowl tonight.

The 10th-ranked Sun Devils led the nation in total offense, averaging 565.5 yards, and scoring, 44.6 points, with a veteran backfield in which each man got more than 1,000 yards in his specialty this season. Their only loss in 11 games was to Utah.

The 19-year-old Dorsett ran for 1,586 yards, averaging 5.4 yards a carry, as he propelled Pitt to its first winning season in 10 years, first bowl appearance in 17 years and to a 6-4-1 record after a disastrous 1-9 mark in 1972. The Pitt comeback earned Johnny Majors the Football Writers of America Coach of the Year honor.

The game will be a battle between a predominantly senior Arizona State team and a Pitt squad that has only four senior starters on offense and three on defense.

Coach Frank Kush admits Arizona State practices have been more low key than usual, but says, "We have a lot of seniors and they should know what they're doing." He is not taking the game lightly, however, saying it could bring Arizona State, the Western Athletic Conference co-champion, prestige in the East and have a great effect on its program in the future.

Majors is interested in slowing down "as much as possible" the fleet Devil runners, led by Seniors Woody Green and Ben Malone, each of whom rushed for more than 1,000 yards this year.

"Green and Malone are two of the best backs we've faced," said Majors. "And then there's the versatility of the Arizona State offense. Danny White is one of the best quarterbacks in the country."

White, the starting quarterback in the previous two Fiesta bowls, passed for 2,609 yards this year and finished second in the nation in total offense with 2,862 yards. He and Green joined Dorsett in the second team All-America backfield. Arizona State junior Morris Owens caught 50 passes for 1,076 yards.

Dorsett and junior quarterback Bill Daniels were responsible for 3,196 of Pitt's 3,805 yards total offense, a school record. Fullback Dave Janasek and flanker Bruce Murphy, both juniors, join them in the backfield.

Sonoma never led until Tiedeman's final shot, but closed the gap steadily as Ron, Johnson scored 14 points, Bill Belander 13 and Bob LeBrun 11.

The Cossacks had a narrow 37-34 rebounding advantage, with Belander getting 11, LeBrun eight and Johnson seven. Belander and Jim Bristol also contributed a defensive job on Marymount All-American Jim Hearns, holding him to 14 points.

Picture Day For East, West Teams

STANFORD (UPI) — Athletes from the East team and the West team got together here yesterday for a picture-taking session as dozens of pro scouts were seen among the onlookers.

The East players then headed down the road to Foothill College in Los Altos Hills while the West team remained at Stanford for opening workouts for the annual East-West Shrine game Dec. 29.

At Foothill, East mentor Paul Dietzel of South Carolina installed his team's offense and finished up with a 10-minute scrimmage. The only player who missed the workout was punter Chuck Ramsey of Wake Forest.

At Stanford, West coach Jim Sweeney of Washington State also ran his team through his offensive drills.

of Green Bay, defensive end Claude Humphrey of Atlanta, defensive tackle Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles, outside linebacker Chris Hanburger of Washington, cornerback Ken Ellis of Green Bay and safety Ken Houston of Washington.

Hadl and Houston made the NFC all-star squad in their first year in the conference. Hadl joined San Diego in 1962 and Ken Houston started his pro career with the Houston Oilers in 1967. But Hadl was traded to Los Angeles and Houston was traded to Washington this season and both players became instant successes with their new clubs.

Hadl's quarterbacking played a major role in Los Angeles' surge to a 12-2 record and the Western Division crown after the Rams failed to make the playoffs for the previous three seasons. Houston strengthened the Redskin secondary and was more than worth the five players coach George Allen gave up to get him.

Also making the team for the first time this season was Lee Roy Jordan, the Dallas middle linebacker, who replaced perennial All-Star Dick Butkus, and John Gilliam, the Minnesota wide receiver who has been an effective deep threat for the Vikings.

Hill, Renfro, Eller and Olsen didn't make the team last season but had been All-Star selections in the past.

The other 14 players who were selected this season also made the team last season.

The top vote-getter on the team was Page, the Minnesota defensive tackle who received 29 votes. Coach Bud Grant said Page played as well as he did in 1971 when he became the only defensive player ever to win the Player of the Year award. Last year Page made the all-star squad but was hampered at the start of the season by a leg injury. Mack and Hill tied for second with 28 votes each.

Gilliam Named to the second team offensive unit were wide receivers Harold Carmichael of Philadelphia and Charley Taylor of Washington, tight end Charley Young of Washington, tackles George Kunz of Atlanta and Charlie Cowan of Los Angeles, guards Gale Gillingham of Green Bay and Joe Scibelli of Los Angeles, center Len Hauss of Washington, quarterback Fran Tarkenton and running backs Lawrence McCutcheon of Los Angeles and Dave Hampton of Los Angeles.

On the defensive unit were ends John Zook of Atlanta and Jack Youngblood of Los Angeles, tackles Diron Talbert of Los Angeles and Bob Lilly of Dallas, middle linebacker Jeff Siemon of Minnesota, outside linebackers Isiah Robertson of Los Angeles and Wally Hilgenberg of Minnesota, cornerbacks Lem Barney of Detroit and Bobby Bryant of Minnesota and safeties Bill Bradley of Philadelphia and Brig Owens of Washington.

Catholic Stars Gain Narrow Cage Victory

Tom Soden scored 12 points as the All-Catholic All-Stars overcame a 19-point effort by Ralph Dannenberg to defeat George and Charles Carpentry, 48-44, in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult basketball league game last night.

The other two games at San Rafael High saw the Hardhats top Mike's Bar and Grill, 36-30, behind John Schiquonie's 11 points, and Brookline Electric outscore Ward's Celtics, 55-41, as Jim Christensen tallied 10 for Brookline.

Redwood Frosh Win

Pete Cooper's 14 points led Redwood High School (3-2) to a 49-28 non-league victory over host Drake yesterday in a freshman basketball game.

WITH SNOWFALL GREETING

Warriors Open 3-Game Junket Vs. Pistons

DETROIT (upi) —The Golden State Warriors have only to look outside to know they are a long way from home. They arrived here yesterday in the middle of an 11-inch snowfall.

Golden State hopes to shoot up a storm of its own tonight when it battles Detroit in the opener of a three-game road swing that also takes the team to Chicago and Kansas City-Omaha.

Detroit looms large in the thoughts of both Golden State and the Los Angeles Lakers this season. Under rules adopted last year, the teams that make the playoffs will be the two division winners, plus the two conference teams with the best percentage marks.

Detroit is currently third in the Midwest Division with 21-13 .618. Thus the Pistons could oust either the Warriors (now 16-12) or the Lakers (19-15) from the playoffs should things continue at their current pace.

Warrior forward Cazzie Russell, bothered by back problems, hopes to play and coach Al Attles says "if Cazzie's ready, then we'll start him."

Stargell Earns Clemente Award

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Outfielder Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday was named winner of the first Roberto Clemente Memorial Award symbolizing athletic excellence.

The award was made by the Pittsburgh chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, which also chose outfielder Richie Zisk as 1973 Pirate rookie of the year.

Stargell was runnerup in the balloting for the National League's most valuable player award.

BANDO IS SECOND

A's Jackson Wins Slugging Title

BOSTON (AP) — Reggie Jackson, a key man in the Oakland Athletics' drive to the World Series championship, was crowned officially today the American League's 1973 slugging king.

Figures announced by the league showed that Jackson compiled a slugging percentage of .531, far ahead of runnerup Sal Bando of the A's with .497.

Designated hitter Frank Robinson of California was third with .488, one point ahead of Milwaukee's George Scott and Texas' Jeff Burroughs.

Jackson, the league's most valuable player this year, had a .296 batting average with 286 total bases in 539 times at bat. He led the league with 32 homers and had 28 doubles and two triples to go with 96 singles.

The Boston Red Sox led in team slugging with .401, followed by Minnesota with .393, Baltimore and Detroit .390 each, and Oakland .389.

Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda helped the Red Sox to the slugging title with a mark of .444. Cepeda, barely able to run because of two bad knees, led the league by grounding into 24 double plays, two more than Minnesota's Bobby Darwin, Detroit's Eddie Brinkman and Kansas City's Lou Piniella.

Kansas City slugger John Mayberry was tops in bases on balls with 122 and in the most intentional walks, 17. Baltimore's Bobby Grich walked 107 times and Boston's Carl Yastrzemski 105.

Don Baylor of the Orioles was hit by the most pitches, 13, while Darwin was the leader in strikeouts with 137, nine more than Minnesota teammate Larry Hisle.

Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson continued to rewrite the major league record book, hiking marks in five categories at his position. They were: most games 2,488, most chances 7,736, most putouts 2,421, most assists 5,315, and most double plays 531.

Boston's 40-year-old Luis Aparicio also extended major league marks for a shortstop — most games 2,581, most chances 12,564, most assists, 8,016, and most double plays 1,553.

The American League set a total of 30 major league records and tied 15 others in 1973. Thirteen league marks were set and 12 others equalled.

Coach Of Year Award To Bryant

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paul "Bear" Bryant, coach of the United Press International 1973 national college football champion Alabama, today was named the Kodak coach of the year for an unprecedented third time.

The other two games at San Rafael High saw the Hardhats top Mike's Bar and Grill, 36-30, behind John Schiquonie's 11 points, and Brookline Electric outscore Ward's Celtics, 55-41, as Jim Christensen tallied 10 for Brookline.

Redwood Frosh Win

Pete Cooper's 14 points led Redwood High School (3-2) to a 49-28 non-league victory over host Drake yesterday in a freshman basketball game.

WITH SNOWFALL GREETING

Warriors Open 3-Game Junket Vs. Pistons

DETROIT (upi) —The Golden State Warriors have only to look outside to know they are a long way from home. They arrived here yesterday in the middle of an 11-inch snowfall.

Golden State hopes to shoot up a storm of its own tonight when it battles Detroit in the opener of a three-game road swing that also takes the team to Chicago and Kansas City-Omaha.

Detroit looms large in the thoughts of both Golden State and the Los Angeles Lakers this season. Under rules adopted last year, the teams that make the playoffs will be the two division winners, plus the two conference teams with the best percentage marks.

Detroit is currently third in the Midwest Division with 21-13 .618. Thus the Pistons could oust either the Warriors (now 16-12) or the Lakers (19-15) from the playoffs should things continue at their current pace.

Warrior forward Cazzie Russell, bothered by back problems, hopes to play and coach Al Attles says "if Cazzie's ready, then we'll start him."

Stargell Earns Clemente Award

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Outfielder Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday was named winner of the first Roberto Clemente Memorial Award symbolizing athletic excellence.

The award was made by the Pittsburgh chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, which also chose outfielder Richie Zisk as 1973 Pirate rookie of the year.

Stargell was runnerup in the balloting for the National League's most valuable player award.

FISH AND GAME

Good Tides For Sturgeon Anglers

Great afternoon tides this weekend for sturgeon fishermen. It's been an in and out proposition so far this year, but certainly now is the right time. If only those cold east winds don't blow. Stripers have been few and far between too.

Last year on Dec. 22, I got a 75-pound sturgeon and three 20-pound stripers at the Richmond Bridge area. Fishing logs of past years show the fish should be off China Camp and at the Richmond Bridge at this time. The herring will be due soon in the lower San Francisco Bay to spawn, then the sturgeon will move down to the Paradise Park area, and even as far down as Sausalito where they will feed on the herring spawn.

STEELHEAD ARE DUE to arrive at White House Pool area of Papermill Creek, too. With the plants of silver salmon and steelhead yearlings made the past two years, we expected large runs, but so far only a fair run of salmon has materialized. Again, when looking at past year's logs, some runs of salmon came in as late as January. Dec. 17 was the approximate time the steelhead runs started. I saw the "Mayor of Papermill," Leo Claussen, there a few days ago. He had a six-pound, fresh run steelhead, and he pointed out that the pussywillows were in bloom! According to him, that is the time to fish for steelhead. Another angler had a large salmon.

Duck hunting has showed improvement at the state and federal refuge shooting areas. As the waters in the bypasses recede, several million birds will head for the rice field ponds. Sutter refuge may open again and it will be on a first come, first served basis — if the rains and flood waters permit the area to dry out somewhat. No date for the opening has been given as yet. Duck numbers this past week were estimated at 4.4 million birds. Of the total, 2.1 million were found in the Yolo Bypass, 570,000 in the Butte Sink, 468,000 on the Sutter Refuge and 360,000 on the Sacramento Refuge. More than 3.5 million of the birds were sprig. Goose numbers were estimated at 471,000. Ben Selfridge, Woodacre fire man, showed up with six cock sprig this week after hunting at Colusa. I guess he deserted our spoonie pond at the Sacramento refuge.

SPORT FISHING licenses and license stamps for 1974 are on sale at Department of Fish and Game offices and with license agents throughout the state.

Angling licenses are issued on a calendar year basis, and the 1974 licenses will be required beginning Tuesday, Jan. 1.

Fees are $4 for resident licenses, $1 for the inland waters stamp and $2 for the trout and salmon stamp. The three-day Pacific Ocean stamp costs $2.

With approximately 2.3 million licensed fishermen, California is the leading state in fishing license sales.

A BREEDING-AGE RAM has joined the experimental flock of California bighorn sheep in the Lava Beds National Monument where the only two adult rams were slain by a poacher.

The ram, 2 years old and weighing about 150 pounds, was captured on the Sheldon-Hart Mountain National Antelope Refuge in northwestern Nevada and transferred to the California site by truck.

Cooperating in the operation were personnel from the California and Nevada departments of fish and game and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which operates the refuge in Nevada.

The new ram and the 16 other animals at the Lava Beds are part of a project aimed at reestablishing the bighorn on its former range in northern California.

Eight ewes and two rams were transplanted onto the 1,100 acre site south of Tulekake, Siskiyou County, from British Columbia two years ago. The flock had grown to 18 animals until two were lost in a poaching tragedy Oct. 20.

Biologists expect the seven adult ewes in the flock to lamb next year, possibly later than usual because of the late arrival of the replacement ram.

DURING THE CAPTURE and transfer operations, a ram died after being immobilized — this although procedures at the site were directed by a veterinarian experienced in wild animal restaint.

A fund has been established by the Society for the Conservation of Bighorn Sheep to meet costs of the Fish and Game in the capture and transporting of the ram.

The society and two others — the Southern Council of Conservation Clubs and the Safari Club of Los Angeles — have joined forces to post a reward of $1,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the poacher.

REGISTRATION DATE for the next Hunter-Safety class at the San Rafael Police Range will be on 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 5.

A Negative Prospective At Fun On Mountainside

By CHARLIE COANE

Certainly it's one of the world's most fascinating sports. It's hard to beat the awe and splendor of the mountains and the great outdoors, and, of course, the personal challenge. Skiing's popularity over the past few years has boomed and the number of skiers continues to grow. And to put things very simply — it's fun to slide down a snowy mountainside on two boards strapped to your feet.

But let's take a tongue-in-cheek glance at the other side of the coin, if you please, and see how awful skiing can sound. What a strange thing for a ski writer to zero in upon — the BAD things about skiing!

Let us commence. First, what about all that equipment: how much is needed and where can a person get everything? There are skis of every color and size and boots the same way. Clothes, poles, goggles, gloves, wax, boot tree. The list seems endless. Where do you begin?

Expense? Holy smokes, how do you get away from that. Why, you can pay up to $300 each for a set of skis and boots; bindings run $40-$60, poles $10-$30. Then there're gloves, glasses, socks, long underwear, ski pants, sweaters, parkas and on and on. And just when you think you have all the latest gear — styles change, new skis and boots are thrust upon the market and away we go again. I think I figured out one time that for a family of four to go skiing for the weekend, the cost would be approximately $366! That's if they rent all their stuff (buy a few small things), drive up to the mountains, stay in a lodge or motel, eat meals out, take lessons and ski.

Let's assume money is no object. Plan ahead because maybe you can't find a place to stay. Pack the car with ski stuff and leave Friday night, maybe Saturday morning (better check the weather). Better get to the area early Saturday morning because maybe the parking lot will be full. Then what? Now to buy a ticket. Get in that line over there. A lesson ticket is purchased inside. Do you need both? What level should you start? Who's in your class? Where and when do you meet?

Of course, this is assuming you reach the ski area. Road could be closed, you know. Heavy snow. If you're lucky it's open and clear. If you're unlucky, it's closed, or you'll have to put on chains.

Well, now you're there. Got your ticket and away you go. What lift goes where? Over come the clouds and it's starting to snow. Leave your goggles in the cabin? Look at that lift line. You've got to be kidding! Are all those people doing the same thing as you are doing? Talk about cold. Wait until you're 200 feet up in the air and the lift breaks down for 18 minutes. The wind is belting your ears. Snow is piling up in your lap. You're wiggling your feet and clapping your hands to stay warm. Just terrific. Finally you get off the chair. Whew! Glad that's over.

Now it's a "whiteout" and the snow sticks. Well, maybe it will be better tomorrow. Might have to leave early to beat the rush. Let's hope you don't fall and twist your knee or break your leg. The doctors in the mountains have had lots of experience with broken legs. That's good. No, that's bad.

Finally back home, safe and sound, and your house wasn't robbed over the weekend. But you forgot to cancel the milk delivery on Saturday morning and now you have four half gallons of sour milk.

Oh well. Let's plan another trip.

SYDNEY, Australia — The United States made a bad start in its bid to regain some lost tennis prestige, when Australia led 2-1 after the first day of the Bonne Bell Women's Tennis Series today.

Only the tenacity of 19-year-old Chris Evert kept the United States team in the fight on the lightning fast grass courts.

Miss Evert, who celebrated her 19th birthday with the victory, came from behind against a tiring Kerry Melville to win 1-6, 6-2, 6-3 in a match lasting 100 minutes.

Then the Americans slumped when Lesley Hunt defeated Nancy Gunter 7-5, 7-5 in the second singles and Melville teamed with Kerry Harris to win the doubles later in the day against Pam Teeguarden and Janet Newberry 6-3, 6-2.

A Negative Prospective At Fun On Mountainside

By CHARLIE COANE

Certainly it's one of the world's most fascinating sports. It's hard to beat the awe and splendor of the mountains and the great outdoors, and, of course, the personal challenge. Skiing's popularity over the past few years has boomed and the number of skiers continues to grow. And to put things very simply — it's fun to slide down a snowy mountainside on two boards strapped to your feet.

But let's take a tongue-in-cheek glance at the other side of the coin, if you please, and see how awful skiing can sound. What a strange thing for a ski writer to zero in upon — the BAD things about skiing!

Let us commence. First, what about all that equipment: how much is needed and where can a person get everything? There are skis of every color and size and boots the same way. Clothes, poles, goggles, gloves, wax, boot tree. The list seems endless. Where do you begin?

Expense? Holy smokes, how do you get away from that. Why, you can pay up to $300 each for a set of skis and boots; bindings run $40-$60, poles $10-$30. Then there're gloves, glasses, socks, long underwear, ski pants, sweaters, parkas and on and on. And just when you think you have all the latest gear — styles change, new skis and boots are thrust upon the market and away we go again. I think I figured out one time that for a family of four to go skiing for the weekend, the cost would be approximately $366! That's if they rent all their stuff (buy a few small things), drive up to the mountains, stay in a lodge or motel, eat meals out, take lessons and ski.

Let's assume money is no object. Plan ahead because maybe you can't find a place to stay. Pack the car with ski stuff and leave Friday night, maybe Saturday morning (better check the weather). Better get to the area early Saturday morning because maybe the parking lot will be full. Then what? Now to buy a ticket. Get in that line over there. A lesson ticket is purchased inside. Do you need both? What level should you start? Who's in your class? Where and when do you meet?

Of course, this is assuming you reach the ski area. Road could be closed, you know. Heavy snow. If you're lucky it's open and clear. If you're unlucky, it's closed, or you'll have to put on chains.

Well, now you're there. Got your ticket and away you go. What lift goes where? Over come the clouds and it's starting to snow. Leave your goggles in the cabin? Look at that lift line. You've got to be kidding! Are all those people doing the same thing as you are doing? Talk about cold. Wait until you're 200 feet up in the air and the lift breaks down for 18 minutes. The wind is belting your ears. Snow is piling up in your lap. You're wiggling your feet and clapping your hands to stay warm. Just terrific. Finally you get off the chair. Whew! Glad that's over.

Now it's a "whiteout" and the snow sticks. Well, maybe it will be better tomorrow. Might have to leave early to beat the rush. Let's hope you don't fall and twist your knee or break your leg. The doctors in the mountains have had lots of experience with broken legs. That's good. No, that's bad.

Finally back home, safe and sound, and your house wasn't robbed over the weekend. But you forgot to cancel the milk delivery on Saturday morning and now you have four half gallons of sour milk.

Oh well. Let's plan another trip.

Questionable Staffing Policy For Honor Farm

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman, among others, is upset over the hiring of two ex-convicts to supervise the county jail honor farm.

It does seem a rather strange selection.

Certainly we should try to open the doors of gainful employment to those who have served their sentences for committing crimes and appear to have learned their lesson. The ex-convict has it very tough trying to return to law-abiding society. We should try to make it easier, not tougher.

But a career supervising an honor system for misdemeanants scarcely seems the most promising way to restore felons to useful society.

THE HONOR FARM was long promoted by Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to provide a better way of handling drunken drivers and minor-crime first offenders than incarceration in the county jail. Honor farm setups have worked well in some counties.

But the Marin County Board of Supervisors took the honor farm away from the sheriff and put it under a newly created department of corrections. To head the new department, the board chose Ralph Merola, a county probation officer and former business agent for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO. He is responsible for selection of the two ex-convicts as first employees of the new department.

IT MAY BE argued that men who have known the inside of prison and have succeeded in rising above their criminal backgrounds are able to relate better to those who have slipped into crime once or twice and run afoul of the law. We are reminded of the old adage, "Set a thief to catch a thief."

On the other hand, it may be argued that those who have been hardened criminals — and hardly any other kind makes it to prison in this state — are bound to have a jaundiced view of such things as social order, and honor, in spite of their best efforts. And it may be seriously questioned whether this background is a recommendation for placing them in charge of onetime offenders who are assigned to the honor farm because they are not considered to have rejected social order — men who have just slipped, who simply by their arrest and conviction probably are jarred back toward respectability.

WHEN MEROLA was appointed to his new job, it was announced that he would develop operating plans for the honor farm in coordination with the sheriff's department and the courts. Apparently this coordination did not extend to selection of personnel.

The honor farm was and is a good idea. It is overdue. Sheriff Mountanos pushed for it a long time. But it is placed under a cloud — first by being divorced from the sheriff's department, thus fractioning the supervision of prisoners, and now by questionable staffing.

This is another of the reorganizations of which our county supervisors seem so fond. Unhappily, like those which have gone before, it appears it may be headed for fiasco.

Presidential Press Conference Deteriorates To Worthlessness

WASHINGTON — The massive, Barnum-and-Bailey televised spectacular called the presidential press conference needs a heart transplant or it ought to be allowed to die.

It is a disservice to the public because it is no longer either a civil or an informative means of communication.

It is a liability to the press because it exhibits Washington correspondents at their worst and thereby undermines confidence in the media which is already low.

It has become almost useless to the president as a rational forum for expounding his views and policies.

I USED TO LOOK upon the press conference as a valuable window on the White House. Lately it has become so muddied that you can't see through it, besmirched by the press and degraded by the president and made nearly valueless by its uncontrollable size.

Something needs to be done — and soon.

It needs to be restructured so it can serve its legitimate purpose. Only the newspapermen themselves can do this.

If it can't be reformed — as one of the post-Watergate priorities — then it would better vanish as outmoded.

If its rescue by reform is unattainable, then something better should be put in its place. In such an event I would suggest that questioning the president by the press be transferred to the Congress through the kind of "question period" which prevails in parliamentary government.

NO ONE HAS WRITTEN more candidly nor more forthrightly about the grievous shortcomings of the presidential press conference than the Washington bureau chief of Time magazine, Hugh Sidey. These are some of the things he had to say after the latest mass performance in the East Room of the White House:

"The East Room was like a bear pit with over 200 newsmen and women shrieking and roaring for attention, jostling each other as they leaped up and down signaling frantically for the president's attention, ignoring the previous questions and the incomplete answers to press their own divergent points.

"Any appearance of a president produces some enlightenment. But the frustrations were as great as the satisfaction, and in the end the session degenerated into a display of insult and bitterness. It was all beamed to a people that already is in anguish."

And then Sidey makes this point which to me shows how urgent reforming the press conference is:

"Perhaps Nixon would give out more if the East Room had not become an arena for posturing and verbal bloodletting: Skepticism overwhelms reason, anger buries thoughtfulness. It is so big and its staging now so elaborate that it resembles something from Cecil B. De Mille and not a seminar for learning about the problems of the real world."

It couldn't be better or more truthfully said.

THE WEAKNESSES of the presidential press conferences are their ungovernable size, no adequate advance perparation of questions, and too many questioners raucously competing at the same time.

Attendance cannot be appreciably reduced. But why not fairly rotate the group of questioners — 10 at least, 20 at most? This alone would do much to retrieve the press conference to a level of usefulness to the public, to the press, to the president.

The president can't alter the shape of the press conference by edict. It can only come by self-reform, and self-reform by the media is not promising.

But if it isn't forthcoming, the vacuum created by the deterioration of the press conference ought to be filled by adopting the parliamentary question period.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON: Political Music

WASHINGTON — Good ole Tex Ritter, whose horse used to be named White Flash, came to the White House all the way from Nashville the other day, but on wheels. He presented Mr. Nixon with a recorded collectors' item entitled "Thank You, Mr. President." The album was produced by the Country Music Association, and under the current circumstances Mr. Nixon was glad to find room in his busy schedule to accept it.

One wants not to throw cold water on this patriotic gesture by the CMA — for it was indeed masterful press agentry for Mr. Nixon. Ritter and perhaps, though less assuredly, for country music, too. However, in the interest of historical completeness, it might be useful to frame the simple fact of the presentation within a little background on both Ritter and the music. You already know about Mr. Nixon.

AS A COUNTRY-WESTERN recording star, Ritter made a lot of hits, including "Boll Weevil." As a movie cowboy, he made 85 films, which made a lot of money. Fine.

But none of the White House publicity went into the fact that he also is a stubborn Republican political activist, having run for the senatorial nomination in Tennessee three years ago and lost out to Bill Brock. Significance denoted.

This record he brought to the president is one of a limited edition of two. Whether they just wanted to keep it rare, or considering all things did not want to risk it on the commercial market right now, you can judge for yourself after hearing about its content.

The CMA people say the record alternates inspirational quotations from Mr. Nixon with appropriate selections from popular country artists. For example, "The Battle of New Orleans" is backed up with some memorable Nixonisms about war and peace. Loretta Lynn's ballad of life starting in the hills, "Coal Miner's Daughter," is matched with Mr. Nixon's kind words for people who work hard and stay off welfare.

Apparently they failed to include another stirring composition, one by Ritter himself, entitled "The Battle Hymn of Lieutenant Calley," to the tune of guess what? It is a collectors' item, too, because Capitol Records decided not to distribute it after realizing it might seem to glorify the events that led to Lieutenant Calley's court-martial and conviction.

Ritter could not see why Capitol made that decision. He though "this song is the biggest thing that has hit the record business." You will recall Mr. Nixon also found the Calley case an appropriate vehicle for some remarks that might have been misinterpreted, so the Ritter composition would have been a natural for the presidential presentation album.

ANYHOW, AFTER the photographers were invited in to freeze the occasion for the archives, Ritter spoke to reporters. He said the president had added to his other remarks his praise for country music because "it's not only exciting but it's clean."

That, I must tell you, is what drove me to compose this column. Mr. Nixon first alleged that country music was clean back in 1971, muddying around among the 4-H Girls and Guernseys at the Illinois State Fair. He is still saying it. From this, it is obvious that the country stereo channel Bob Haldeman is said to have had installed aboard Air Force One was edited, too, to protect the only president we have from all that reality out there.

Clearly, Mr. Nixon has never experienced that big hit of recent months, "I Can Tell You've Never Been This Far Before." Or Sammi Smith's "Help Me Make It Through the Night," which starts with, "Take the ribbon from my hair . . ." and goes on from there. Or Jeannie C. Riley's "Harper Valley PTA." Or the one about "Love me till the shower stops running," or the older one about "Ruby, don't take your love to town," or the one about "I don't like the New York secretaries' life," which tells why. Or the thousand more about truck-stop romances and three-way affairs.

They are double-R movies, creeping up on X, set to music. They are not out in front of American magazines or film or indeed popular behavior in the Nineteen-Hundred and Seventies. They are what is happening, and that is why it is upsetting to hear a president — one of whose problems is that he has hidden himself from the taxpayers — keep restating his infinite ignorance on the subject.

Of course, it is too late for this one, but for future presidents, let us require that Air Force One be fitted with an unedited country tape, right off the air from WPIK Alexandria or WTRI Brunswick or WWVA Wheeling. Even if the energy crisis by then forces him to campaign by hay-burning barouche, let not the fact that he is horse-drawn mislead him into thinking, as Mr. Nixon blissfully does, that those studs out there on the Interstate are still spending their quarters to hear lyrics about boll weevils and the Wabash Cannonball.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Bug And Bunny Folks Putting Us In The Dark

By RUS WALTON

Those bug and bunny folks are at it again.

In the face of our serious energy deficit, those characters are making it almost impossible for the power companies to catch up with energy shortages, let alone projected increased demand.

If they have their way, we'll be huddled together heating beans over a Bunsen burner while they're out sniffing the flora and fauna that grow in the parking lots.

TAKE THE RECENT action of the State Coastal Conservation Commission, for example.

Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas and Electric want to add two nuclear steam generating units to the San Onofre power plant, on the Pacific coast near Camp Pendleton. The units would produce, by about 1980, 2,280 megawatts of badly needed electricity. The coastal zoning commission turned thumbs down. It said the expansion of the power facility might hurt the marine life in the area and damage some scenic sandstone bluffs.

The commission's 6-5 negative decision was based largely on urgings of the environmental fanatics on its staff. Those devout posey pluckers seem incapable of balancing environmental considerations with economic necessities, meaning energy for a decent standard of living for John Q. Lunchbucket.

Some of the revisions in the nuclear plant, demanded by the commission, could result in a four-to-six year delay in the delivery of the additional power. That would mean 1984-1986 and that could work severe economic and day-to-day living hardships on millions of citizens in the Southland.

AN OLD FRIEND of mine, Joe Wetch of Chatsworth, feels all the fuss between the ecology groups and the utility companies is unnecessary and counter productive. For years Joe, a nuclear engineer-scientist, has been advocating underground sites for atomic power plants — especially plants located deep under the ocean floor.

His idea is to find large rock formations, about one-half mile square, free of faults. Starting well back from the shoreline, a distance of one-half mile or so, he would slant drill a large tunnel down under the floor of the ocean. At a distance of about a mile out into the ocean floor, and between 100 and 200 feet beneath it, he would carve a huge vault. There he would install the nuclear power producing plant.

The benefits of such under-the-sea power plants are obvious, at least to Joe Wetch. No unsightly construction on the surface of the shoreline, no condemnation of adjacent land area for "exclusionary" zones and a great safety factor in case of enemy air attack. The latter, Wetch believes, must be considered anytime a nuclear plant is planned.

The only surface indication of the undersea plant would be a small, attractive operations building, at the entrance to the tunnel.

AS FOR RADIOACTIVE wastes, Joe says he has that figured out, too. He would drill holes 8-10 inches in diameter and 4-5 miles deep into the earth. Abandoned oil wells would be a good place to start, he thinks. Using a small nuclear device he would blast out a cavity 300 feet square by 600 feet high at the end of the shaft. That cavern would be used as a secure repository for the radioactive wastes. When that holding cavern was full of the waste material, a concrete plug — about a mile long — would be poured into the well shaft to seal it off forever.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Some Businesses Ignore Need To Save Energy

Almost all of the lead news stories these days . . . involve the so-called energy crisis, along with new restrictions that you and I must endure to meet these crises.

If the story doesn't pertain to a gasoline shortage, which curtails the use of our automobiles, it is a constant reminder that we have to cut down on the heat in our homes and the use of electricity.

Because of the latter, the government and power companies have asked for a curtailment on outside lighted Christmas decorations, and most shopping centers have agreed to abide with the requests.

But, have you noted that there's still many people around who apparently feel that these restrictions don't apply to them — people like automobile dealers and Christmas tree lot operators? . . .

Most of the supermarkets and stores throughout the county have turned off, or disconnected, half of the lighting in their stores. Why can't the auto dealers do the same?

And the Christmas tree lots! They use lights as if they were going out of style . . .

I don't think there's any necessity that these people disregard the current situation while everyone else cooperates.

This is supposed to be the Christmas season and everyone is supposed to "love thy neighbor," and there should be "Peace on Earth, Good will to all."

I for one would like to see the auto dealers and Christmas tree lot operators show some compassion for the rest of the people around them.

'Delusion Supervisors Label Service'

Allen P. Lovejoy, who proclaims in your paper his satisfaction with the services which the county supervisors provide at our expense, may be interested in another satisfied customer I met last month in Key West, Fla.

That customer was spending the winter in Key West, and told me he "commutes" between Florida and California. He was quite familiar with all the garden spots of California (rhapsodized about Marin), and said he always obtained food stamps, etc. (the etc. not specified) as soon as he arrived. This man is 20 years old, was born in Michigan, is registered in California, commutes to Florida, according to his own word.

I have always been in favor of aiding the helpless, but we demean a fine young man and make fools of ourselves in such a case.

Perhaps Mr. Lovejoy has not lived long enough to learn from any harsh experiences. Our county supervisors, as despots, now seem benevolent enough, even though they will not allow you to do anything about the 30 per cent salary hike they gave themselves, except to pay it.

But what about tomorrow?

Visitors to Mao's China tell us that everybody eats, but nobody thinks, or changes job. People who question Big Brother in Russia have been shot or sent to insane asylums.

Mr. Lovejoy eventually may find he has paid a terrible price for that delusion which our supervisors label "service."

Energy Crisis Comment 'Shooting From Hip'

Your editorial arguing the inevitability of nuclear powers is distressing in its lack of accuracy.

First, it assumes that our standard of living is inextricably tied to the level of energy used. There is no clinical evidence that this need be true. Other nations such as Sweden consume much less energy per person than the U.S. Second, your editorial suggests we might have to use our redwood forests if we don't go nuclear and use uranium. This again illustrates the lack of depth of your analysis. Because of the poor burning qualities of redwood, it would never be selected as a fuel. A fundamental point is as follows: it takes about 10 per cent of our national fossile fuel supplies to produce the fuel for present nuclear plants that then produce 4 per cent of electrical energies.

If we are going to solve our energy and environment problems, we need comprehensive systematic analysis and not shoot-from-the-hip solution as reported in most of our media today.

A Home Town To Enjoy — With 55 Years Of Memories

Many of you may have suspected that I sort of like my home town. Well I do, very much. And there is a reason. When one lives in a place for 55 years and rarely is away from it more than 24 hours, a person just naturally becomes aware of the fiber of the folks who make up the place.

As I look back over the years, a warm nostalgic feeling surges through me — especially during the holiday season. As memory parade passes by, it is more and more evident that in the main the fiber was one of good will — good fellowship; in short they were good neighbors.

THE TWO UNIQUE PAGES the merchants of San Anselmo ran in the I-J last week, in which the different businesses were shown with excellent sketches, turned on that nostalgia. The one for Kientz's Pastry Shop brought precious memories. Billie and I were the first to occupy the little store next to the bakery in the same building. That was 49 years ago — our first retail candy shop. We opened it just a few days before Christmas. I can tell you that two young people were so very happy with the results.

I called up Dick Kientz who owns the pastry shop now when I read the ad. His grandfather and grandmother, Louis and Madame Kientz were our good friends for those many years that they were around. Louis was the one who twisted my arm so hard that I consented to run for the city council. I thought I wouldn't be elected and that they would let me alone to build up the mail order business I was developing. No such luck. I voted early and then went up to our store in San Rafael and didn't attempt to find out how the election had gone. But at 9 o'clock Louis, Madame and Dick's father, Augie, came in to tell me I was high man and elected. Said I, Oh hell! and many times over the years it was. I have a great sympathy for President Nixon. There were times when I was supervisor that I thought I had everyone on my back.

GETTING BACK to the little store. We would keep open late at night to catch the business of the night trains from San Francisco. I took that shift and night after night, the editor-publisher of the San Anselmo Herald, the judge of the city court, and the chief of police and I would play chess — some real good games, too. Things were so quiet that the click-click of footsteps could be heard as far away as the city hall.

We all had less but enjoyed life to the limit then.

Yes, I do love this town.

He is responsible for selection of the two ex-convicts as first employees of the new department.

IT MAY BE argued that men who have known the inside of prison and have succeeded in rising above their criminal backgrounds are able to relate better to those who have slipped into crime once or twice and run afoul of the law. We are reminded of the old adage, "Set a thief to catch a thief."

On the other hand, it may be argued that those who have been hardened criminals — and hardly any other kind makes it to prison in this state — are bound to have a jaundiced view of such things as social order, and honor, in spite of their best efforts. And it may be seriously questioned whether this background is a recommendation for placing them in charge of onetime offenders who are assigned to the honor farm because they are not considered to have rejected social order — men who have just slipped, who simply by their arrest and conviction probably are jarred back toward respectability.

WHEN MEROLA was appointed to his new job, it was announced that he would develop operating plans for the honor farm in coordination with the sheriff's department and the courts. Apparently this coordination did not extend to selection of personnel.

The honor farm was and is a good idea. It is overdue. Sheriff Mountanos pushed for it a long time. But it is placed under a cloud — first by being divorced from the sheriff's department, thus fractioning the supervision of prisoners, and now by questionable staffing.

This is another of the reorganizations of which our county supervisors seem so fond. Unhappily, like those which have gone before, it appears it may be headed for fiasco.

Presidential Press Conference Deteriorates To Worthlessness

WASHINGTON — The massive, Barnum-and-Bailey televised spectacular called the presidential press conference needs a heart transplant or it ought to be allowed to die.

It is a disservice to the public because it is no longer either a civil or an informative means of communication.

It is a liability to the press because it exhibits Washington correspondents at their worst and thereby undermines confidence in the media which is already low.

It has become almost useless to the president as a rational forum for expounding his views and policies.

I USED TO LOOK upon the press conference as a valuable window on the White House. Lately it has become so muddied that you can't see through it, besmirched by the press and degraded by the president and made nearly valueless by its uncontrollable size.

Something needs to be done — and soon.

It needs to be restructured so it can serve its legitimate purpose. Only the newspapermen themselves can do this.

If it can't be reformed — as one of the post-Watergate priorities — then it would better vanish as outmoded.

If its rescue by reform is unattainable, then something better should be put in its place. In such an event I would suggest that questioning the president by the press be transferred to the Congress through the kind of "question period" which prevails in parliamentary government.

NO ONE HAS WRITTEN more candidly nor more forthrightly about the grievous shortcomings of the presidential press conference than the Washington bureau chief of Time magazine, Hugh Sidey. These are some of the things he had to say after the latest mass performance in the East Room of the White House:

"The East Room was like a bear pit with over 200 newsmen and women shrieking and roaring for attention, jostling each other as they leaped up and down signaling frantically for the president's attention, ignoring the previous questions and the incomplete answers to press their own divergent points.

"Any appearance of a president produces some enlightenment. But the frustrations were as great as the satisfaction, and in the end the session degenerated into a display of insult and bitterness. It was all beamed to a people that already is in anguish."

And then Sidey makes this point which to me shows how urgent reforming the press conference is:

"Perhaps Nixon would give out more if the East Room had not become an arena for posturing and verbal bloodletting: Skepticism overwhelms reason, anger buries thoughtfulness. It is so big and its staging now so elaborate that it resembles something from Cecil B. De Mille and not a seminar for learning about the problems of the real world."

It couldn't be better or more truthfully said.

THE WEAKNESSES of the presidential press conferences are their ungovernable size, no adequate advance perparation of questions, and too many questioners raucously competing at the same time.

Attendance cannot be appreciably reduced. But why not fairly rotate the group of questioners — 10 at least, 20 at most? This alone would do much to retrieve the press conference to a level of usefulness to the public, to the press, to the president.

The president can't alter the shape of the press conference by edict. It can only come by self-reform, and self-reform by the media is not promising.

But if it isn't forthcoming, the vacuum created by the deterioration of the press conference ought to be filled by adopting the parliamentary question period.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON: Political Music

WASHINGTON — Good ole Tex Ritter, whose horse used to be named White Flash, came to the White House all the way from Nashville the other day, but on wheels. He presented Mr. Nixon with a recorded collectors' item entitled "Thank You, Mr. President." The album was produced by the Country Music Association, and under the current circumstances Mr. Nixon was glad to find room in his busy schedule to accept it.

One wants not to throw cold water on this patriotic gesture by the CMA — for it was indeed masterful press agentry for Mr. Nixon. Ritter and perhaps, though less assuredly, for country music, too. However, in the interest of historical completeness, it might be useful to frame the simple fact of the presentation within a little background on both Ritter and the music. You already know about Mr. Nixon.

AS A COUNTRY-WESTERN recording star, Ritter made a lot of hits, including "Boll Weevil." As a movie cowboy, he made 85 films, which made a lot of money. Fine.

But none of the White House publicity went into the fact that he also is a stubborn Republican political activist, having run for the senatorial nomination in Tennessee three years ago and lost out to Bill Brock. Significance denoted.

This record he brought to the president is one of a limited edition of two. Whether they just wanted to keep it rare, or considering all things did not want to risk it on the commercial market right now, you can judge for yourself after hearing about its content.

The CMA people say the record alternates inspirational quotations from Mr. Nixon with appropriate selections from popular country artists. For example, "The Battle of New Orleans" is backed up with some memorable Nixonisms about war and peace. Loretta Lynn's ballad of life starting in the hills, "Coal Miner's Daughter," is matched with Mr. Nixon's kind words for people who work hard and stay off welfare.

Apparently they failed to include another stirring composition, one by Ritter himself, entitled "The Battle Hymn of Lieutenant Calley," to the tune of guess what? It is a collectors' item, too, because Capitol Records decided not to distribute it after realizing it might seem to glorify the events that led to Lieutenant Calley's court-martial and conviction.

Ritter could not see why Capitol made that decision. He though "this song is the biggest thing that has hit the record business." You will recall Mr. Nixon also found the Calley case an appropriate vehicle for some remarks that might have been misinterpreted, so the Ritter composition would have been a natural for the presidential presentation album.

ANYHOW, AFTER the photographers were invited in to freeze the occasion for the archives, Ritter spoke to reporters. He said the president had added to his other remarks his praise for country music because "it's not only exciting but it's clean."

That, I must tell you, is what drove me to compose this column. Mr. Nixon first alleged that country music was clean back in 1971, muddying around among the 4-H Girls and Guernseys at the Illinois State Fair. He is still saying it. From this, it is obvious that the country stereo channel Bob Haldeman is said to have had installed aboard Air Force One was edited, too, to protect the only president we have from all that reality out there.

Clearly, Mr. Nixon has never experienced that big hit of recent months, "I Can Tell You've Never Been This Far Before." Or Sammi Smith's "Help Me Make It Through the Night," which starts with, "Take the ribbon from my hair . . ." and goes on from there. Or Jeannie C. Riley's "Harper Valley PTA." Or the one about "Love me till the shower stops running," or the older one about "Ruby, don't take your love to town," or the one about "I don't like the New York secretaries' life," which tells why. Or the thousand more about truck-stop romances and three-way affairs.

They are double-R movies, creeping up on X, set to music. They are not out in front of American magazines or film or indeed popular behavior in the Nineteen-Hundred and Seventies. They are what is happening, and that is why it is upsetting to hear a president — one of whose problems is that he has hidden himself from the taxpayers — keep restating his infinite ignorance on the subject.

Of course, it is too late for this one, but for future presidents, let us require that Air Force One be fitted with an unedited country tape, right off the air from WPIK Alexandria or WTRI Brunswick or WWVA Wheeling. Even if the energy crisis by then forces him to campaign by hay-burning barouche, let not the fact that he is horse-drawn mislead him into thinking, as Mr. Nixon blissfully does, that those studs out there on the Interstate are still spending their quarters to hear lyrics about boll weevils and the Wabash Cannonball.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Bug And Bunny Folks Putting Us In The Dark

By RUS WALTON

Those bug and bunny folks are at it again.

In the face of our serious energy deficit, those characters are making it almost impossible for the power companies to catch up with energy shortages, let alone projected increased demand.

If they have their way, we'll be huddled together heating beans over a Bunsen burner while they're out sniffing the flora and fauna that grow in the parking lots.

TAKE THE RECENT action of the State Coastal Conservation Commission, for example.

Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas and Electric want to add two nuclear steam generating units to the San Onofre power plant, on the Pacific coast near Camp Pendleton. The units would produce, by about 1980, 2,280 megawatts of badly needed electricity. The coastal zoning commission turned thumbs down. It said the expansion of the power facility might hurt the marine life in the area and damage some scenic sandstone bluffs.

The commission's 6-5 negative decision was based largely on urgings of the environmental fanatics on its staff. Those devout posey pluckers seem incapable of balancing environmental considerations with economic necessities, meaning energy for a decent standard of living for John Q. Lunchbucket.

Some of the revisions in the nuclear plant, demanded by the commission, could result in a four-to-six year delay in the delivery of the additional power. That would mean 1984-1986 and that could work severe economic and day-to-day living hardships on millions of citizens in the Southland.

AN OLD FRIEND of mine, Joe Wetch of Chatsworth, feels all the fuss between the ecology groups and the utility companies is unnecessary and counter productive. For years Joe, a nuclear engineer-scientist, has been advocating underground sites for atomic power plants — especially plants located deep under the ocean floor.

His idea is to find large rock formations, about one-half mile square, free of faults. Starting well back from the shoreline, a distance of one-half mile or so, he would slant drill a large tunnel down under the floor of the ocean. At a distance of about a mile out into the ocean floor, and between 100 and 200 feet beneath it, he would carve a huge vault. There he would install the nuclear power producing plant.

The benefits of such under-the-sea power plants are obvious, at least to Joe Wetch. No unsightly construction on the surface of the shoreline, no condemnation of adjacent land area for "exclusionary" zones and a great safety factor in case of enemy air attack. The latter, Wetch believes, must be considered anytime a nuclear plant is planned.

The only surface indication of the undersea plant would be a small, attractive operations building, at the entrance to the tunnel.

AS FOR RADIOACTIVE wastes, Joe says he has that figured out, too. He would drill holes 8-10 inches in diameter and 4-5 miles deep into the earth. Abandoned oil wells would be a good place to start, he thinks. Using a small nuclear device he would blast out a cavity 300 feet square by 600 feet high at the end of the shaft. That cavern would be used as a secure repository for the radioactive wastes. When that holding cavern was full of the waste material, a concrete plug — about a mile long — would be poured into the well shaft to seal it off forever.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Some Businesses Ignore Need To Save Energy

Almost all of the lead news stories these days . . . involve the so-called energy crisis, along with new restrictions that you and I must endure to meet these crises.

If the story doesn't pertain to a gasoline shortage, which curtails the use of our automobiles, it is a constant reminder that we have to cut down on the heat in our homes and the use of electricity.

Because of the latter, the government and power companies have asked for a curtailment on outside lighted Christmas decorations, and most shopping centers have agreed to abide with the requests.

But, have you noted that there's still many people around who apparently feel that these restrictions don't apply to them — people like automobile dealers and Christmas tree lot operators? . . .

Most of the supermarkets and stores throughout the county have turned off, or disconnected, half of the lighting in their stores. Why can't the auto dealers do the same?

And the Christmas tree lots! They use lights as if they were going out of style . . .

I don't think there's any necessity that these people disregard the current situation while everyone else cooperates.

This is supposed to be the Christmas season and everyone is supposed to "love thy neighbor," and there should be "Peace on Earth, Good will to all."

I for one would like to see the auto dealers and Christmas tree lot operators show some compassion for the rest of the people around them.

'Delusion Supervisors Label Service'

Allen P. Lovejoy, who proclaims in your paper his satisfaction with the services which the county supervisors provide at our expense, may be interested in another satisfied customer I met last month in Key West, Fla.

That customer was spending the winter in Key West, and told me he "commutes" between Florida and California. He was quite familiar with all the garden spots of California (rhapsodized about Marin), and said he always obtained food stamps, etc. (the etc. not specified) as soon as he arrived. This man is 20 years old, was born in Michigan, is registered in California, commutes to Florida, according to his own word.

I have always been in favor of aiding the helpless, but we demean a fine young man and make fools of ourselves in such a case.

Perhaps Mr. Lovejoy has not lived long enough to learn from any harsh experiences. Our county supervisors, as despots, now seem benevolent enough, even though they will not allow you to do anything about the 30 per cent salary hike they gave themselves, except to pay it.

But what about tomorrow?

Visitors to Mao's China tell us that everybody eats, but nobody thinks, or changes job. People who question Big Brother in Russia have been shot or sent to insane asylums.

Mr. Lovejoy eventually may find he has paid a terrible price for that delusion which our supervisors label "service."

Energy Crisis Comment 'Shooting From Hip'

Your editorial arguing the inevitability of nuclear powers is distressing in its lack of accuracy.

First, it assumes that our standard of living is inextricably tied to the level of energy used. There is no clinical evidence that this need be true. Other nations such as Sweden consume much less energy per person than the U.S. Second, your editorial suggests we might have to use our redwood forests if we don't go nuclear and use uranium. This again illustrates the lack of depth of your analysis. Because of the poor burning qualities of redwood, it would never be selected as a fuel. A fundamental point is as follows: it takes about 10 per cent of our national fossile fuel supplies to produce the fuel for present nuclear plants that then produce 4 per cent of electrical energies.

If we are going to solve our energy and environment problems, we need comprehensive systematic analysis and not shoot-from-the-hip solution as reported in most of our media today.

A Home Town To Enjoy — With 55 Years Of Memories

Many of you may have suspected that I sort of like my home town. Well I do, very much. And there is a reason. When one lives in a place for 55 years and rarely is away from it more than 24 hours, a person just naturally becomes aware of the fiber of the folks who make up the place.

As I look back over the years, a warm nostalgic feeling surges through me — especially during the holiday season. As memory parade passes by, it is more and more evident that in the main the fiber was one of good will — good fellowship; in short they were good neighbors.

THE TWO UNIQUE PAGES the merchants of San Anselmo ran in the I-J last week, in which the different businesses were shown with excellent sketches, turned on that nostalgia. The one for Kientz's Pastry Shop brought precious memories. Billie and I were the first to occupy the little store next to the bakery in the same building. That was 49 years ago — our first retail candy shop. We opened it just a few days before Christmas. I can tell you that two young people were so very happy with the results.

I called up Dick Kientz who owns the pastry shop now when I read the ad. His grandfather and grandmother, Louis and Madame Kientz were our good friends for those many years that they were around. Louis was the one who twisted my arm so hard that I consented to run for the city council. I thought I wouldn't be elected and that they would let me alone to build up the mail order business I was developing. No such luck. I voted early and then went up to our store in San Rafael and didn't attempt to find out how the election had gone. But at 9 o'clock Louis, Madame and Dick's father, Augie, came in to tell me I was high man and elected. Said I, Oh hell! and many times over the years it was. I have a great sympathy for President Nixon. There were times when I was supervisor that I thought I had everyone on my back.

GETTING BACK to the little store. We would keep open late at night to catch the business of the night trains from San Francisco. I took that shift and night after night, the editor-publisher of the San Anselmo Herald, the judge of the city court, and the chief of police and I would play chess — some real good games, too. Things were so quiet that the click-click of footsteps could be heard as far away as the city hall.

We all had less but enjoyed life to the limit then.

Yes, I do love this town.

Downtown Plan Sparks Contest For Tiburon City Council

One upcoming city council election promising a heated fight and lots of newspaper copy is that in Tiburon. The prospect of development of downtown Southern Pacific Co. land is arousing potential candidates.

The 1972 Tiburon City Council election, with two seats open, drew only three candidates.

This time seven already have taken out papers for the three seats that will be open with expiration of terms of Mayor Branwell D. Fanning and Councilmen M. Carlisle Becker and Albert H. Sennett.

Fanning and Becker do not plan to run. Sennett has not yet committed himself.

If Fanning and Sennett both leave the council, only Allan N. Littman will be left as a strong supporter of the plan being followed by the downtown developer, Sequoia Pacific of Santa Ana.

So the philosophies and stands of whatever three new councilmen take office in Tiburon may be crucial to whether the 36 acres of railroad land is developed.

ONE SIGN OF HOW the vote might go is a petition effort in the city organized by the Committee for a Downtown Plan Review.

The group got 2,500 residents and businessmen to sign a petition urging major changes in the development plan. Committee leader Brewster Morris said he thought a majority of the signers were registered voters.

This could mean that about 1,100 voters, or almost one-third of those registered in Tiburon, are opposed to the development in its present form.

A PROPOSAL to use some of the byproducts of sewage treatment to speed up the growth of grapevines may soon be presented to the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board.

Max H. Graefe, district plant superintendent, said that R. Edward Burton of Willits has approached the district about setting up a vine nursery near the sewage treatment plant which would use the carbon dioxide thrown off during sewage processing to make the plants grow faster.

Graefe said Burton would pipe the air rich with carbon dioxide from the treatment area to the plants. The vines would then use gas in photosynthesis, converting it and other ingredients into carbohydrates and giving off oxygen. The oxygen-rich air would be pumped back to the sewer plant where it would increase the efficiency of treatment.

Graefe said that earlier experiments by Burton have shown the method to be effective.

According to Graefe, Burton has been successful before in producing a special sewage treatment process for farms where septic tanks cannot be used and in developing a self-contained toilet for trains.

Congress Approves Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has sent President Nixon a $73.7 billion 1974 defense appropriation bill after cutting $3.5 billion from the original Pentagon request.

The bill passed both houses yesterday after the House agreed to restore money for two controversial Pentagon projects, the Site Defense antiballistic missile system and the Sanguine submarine antenna.

The House agreed to the bill, down almost $3 billion from last year's measure, on a 336-32 vote.

The Senate did not even bother with a roll call on the biggest money bill to pass congress this year. It was approved on a voice vote with Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield shouting out a lonely "no."

The only debate in either body revolved around the two projects the House had tried to kill.

Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., forced a roll call in the House on sending the bill back to conference over inclusion of the new ABM, but lost 280-88.

Giaimo charged that the $110 million left in the compromise version would commit the United States to spending $1.6 billion for research alone on a missile it cannot deploy under current U.S.-Soviet strategic arms agreements.

The missile would cost over $12 billion if it were deployed, but the U.S. would have to junk the $5 billion Safeguard system just being finished.

Engineers Worried About Skylab's Gyro

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab engineers are becoming increasingly worried about the slipshod performance of a gyroscope that keeps the space laboratory flying straight. But they do not believe the situation is serious enough to end the current mission prematurely.

Skylab 3 crewmen Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue weren't troubled by the problems of the controlling device and were doing their research work listening to Christmas carols piped up to them from the ground.

The space fliers rolled their eight-room space house over again today to take another look at Comet Kohoutek and took turns sitting in a rotating chair to test their susceptibility to motion sickness.

Luther Powell, a Marshall Space Flight Center engineer studying the gyro's erratic behavior, said there is no clear answer to why the device has momentarily slowed six different times in the past 3-½ weeks.

"There's just no pattern to it, no frequency," Powell said yesterday. "It's a phenomenon we're observing that we can't really give you a good, straight answer exactly what's causing it."

Without the gyro, the third space station crew could stay in orbit no more than five weeks. Another of the lab's three gyros quit working almost four weeks ago, and with just one of the devices the only way to keep the ship stable as it orbits the earth is to use thrusting gas from the crew's Apollo ferry ship, in which they rode to Skylab.

"We're becoming more apprehensive in the sense that we can't put our finger on a definite cause," Powell said. "It's very possible it could just perk along and we could keep seeing all these little funnys and we could make it to the end of the mission."

Kohoutek, still predicted to be one of the brightest comets of the century, picked up speed as it moved toward its spectacular loop around the sun Dec. 29. It is streaking along at 160,000 m.p.h. pulled by the sun's gravity, and yesterday passed the orbit of Mercury, making it the nearest object to the sun visible on earth.

Minnesota, known as the "Land of 10,000 Lakes," actually has 15,291 lakes.

Thomas Nast's Santa

This was Thomas Nast's first published drawing of Santa Claus. Although best remembered now as a political cartoonist, Nast also won fame as an illustrator. His many magazine drawings of Santa Claus, influenced by the Saint Nicholas of his German childhood, entered into American folklore and helped form the modern picture of Santa. Nast was born in 1840 and immigrated to the U.S. when he was six. In 1862, he joined the staff of "Harper's Weekly." He achieved youthful fame with his immensely popular Civil War drawings. President Lincoln called him "our best recruiting sergeant." After the war, he aimed his fire at political corruption in a series of cartoons that are still famous.

The Senate did not even bother with a roll call on the biggest money bill to pass congress this year. It was approved on a voice vote with Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield shouting out a lonely "no."

The only debate in either body revolved around the two projects the House had tried to kill.

Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., forced a roll call in the House on sending the bill back to conference over inclusion of the new ABM, but lost 280-88.

Giaimo charged that the $110 million left in the compromise version would commit the United States to spending $1.6 billion for research alone on a missile it cannot deploy under current U.S.-Soviet strategic arms agreements.

The missile would cost over $12 billion if it were deployed, but the U.S. would have to junk the $5 billion Safeguard system just being finished.

Engineers Worried About Skylab's Gyro

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab engineers are becoming increasingly worried about the slipshod performance of a gyroscope that keeps the space laboratory flying straight. But they do not believe the situation is serious enough to end the current mission prematurely.

Skylab 3 crewmen Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue weren't troubled by the problems of the controlling device and were doing their research work listening to Christmas carols piped up to them from the ground.

The space fliers rolled their eight-room space house over again today to take another look at Comet Kohoutek and took turns sitting in a rotating chair to test their susceptibility to motion sickness.

Luther Powell, a Marshall Space Flight Center engineer studying the gyro's erratic behavior, said there is no clear answer to why the device has momentarily slowed six different times in the past 3-½ weeks.

"There's just no pattern to it, no frequency," Powell said yesterday. "It's a phenomenon we're observing that we can't really give you a good, straight answer exactly what's causing it."

Without the gyro, the third space station crew could stay in orbit no more than five weeks. Another of the lab's three gyros quit working almost four weeks ago, and with just one of the devices the only way to keep the ship stable as it orbits the earth is to use thrusting gas from the crew's Apollo ferry ship, in which they rode to Skylab.

"We're becoming more apprehensive in the sense that we can't put our finger on a definite cause," Powell said. "It's very possible it could just perk along and we could keep seeing all these little funnys and we could make it to the end of the mission."

Kohoutek, still predicted to be one of the brightest comets of the century, picked up speed as it moved toward its spectacular loop around the sun Dec. 29. It is streaking along at 160,000 m.p.h. pulled by the sun's gravity, and yesterday passed the orbit of Mercury, making it the nearest object to the sun visible on earth.

Minnesota, known as the "Land of 10,000 Lakes," actually has 15,291 lakes.

FOCUS

Thomas Nast's Santa

This was Thomas Nast's first published drawing of Santa Claus. Although best remembered now as a political cartoonist, Nast also won fame as an illustrator. His many magazine drawings of Santa Claus, influenced by the Saint Nicholas of his German childhood, entered into American folklore and helped form the modern picture of Santa. Nast was born in 1840 and immigrated to the U.S. when he was six. In 1862, he joined the staff of "Harper's Weekly." He achieved youthful fame with his immensely popular Civil War drawings. President Lincoln called him "our best recruiting sergeant." After the war, he aimed his fire at political corruption in a series of cartoons that are still famous.

DO YOU KNOW — Who was the corrupt New York politician Nast is remembered for attacking?

THURSDAY'S ANSWER — The name of the holiday is Hanukkah.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Advantages Of 'Flower Bonds'

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have been told there are government bonds which can be used to pay estate taxes. Would you discuss the advantages of these, if there are any, and do you think they are a safe investment for a person in his eighties? — G.D.

A. You are referring to the U.S. Treasury bonds known as "flower bonds," which are acceptable at par value upon death of the owner in payment of estate taxes. There are 14 separate issues in this category with maturity dates extending from 2/74 to 11/98. Coupon rates on these bonds range between 3 per cent and 4¼ per cent, although yield to maturity is currently 4.7 per cent to 7.6 per cent. Since principal and interest are government guaranteed, the bonds are regarded as entirely secure. It is because these bonds sell at discounts from par value of up to $230 per bond that yields to maturity exceed coupon interest rates by a considerable margin.

As a potential purchaser of "flower bonds," you should consult your tax specialist as to the possible tax advantages you might derive from these securities.

In general terms, a bond of this type is of interest to a person in his late years, with an estate which would be subject, after exemptions, to a sizable tax bite. While the bonds trade below their face or par value, any capital gains or interest income derived from them is taxable by the federal government although exempt from state and local taxation.

Furthermore, those bonds used to offset estate taxes are valued at par in the estate regardless of their purchase or current market price. Any held in excess of tax liabilities are valued at market. The tax benefits are usually enhanced as the value of the estate increases. Also, the shorter the period between purchase of the bonds and the death of the holder, the greater the advantage. Finally, flower bonds purchased in anticipation of death may be used to pay estate taxes if actually owned at time of death.

Grand Auto Has A Sales Increase

OAKLAND — Grand Auto, Inc. has announced sales for the 13 weeks ended Oct. 28, 1973, of $11,206,124, an increase of 6 per cent compared with sales of $10,564,794 for the same quarter last year.

Net earnings for the quarter were $164,333 or 17 cents per share, a considerable drop from the 26 cents per share earnings for the same quarter last year.

Results for the 39 weeks ended Oct. 28 are net earnings of $631,827 on sales of $32,574,545, compared with $765,737 earnings and $29,617,653 sales for the same period last year.

Stocks Drop Slightly On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices moved lower in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market opened simultaneously with a Labor Department announcement that higher prices for fuel, electricity and food drove up the cost of living last month by 0.7 per cent, the same as the increase for October.

Analysts said they expect the market to remain lower during the remaining sessions of the year because of tax-loss selling and other factors in addition to the energy crisis.

Today's session was the final one of the year for regular clearing transactions.

Gulf Oil Corp. was the most actively traded issue, off ⅛ at 20 ⅛ on 111,000 shares.

Prices also were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange, where 336 issues declined and 232 advanced among the 952 traded during the first two hours.

Allegheny Airlines was the most active issue, off ¼ at 5 on 15,700 shares.

Big Board oils were the major movers, those domestically oriented moving higher and those with international interests lower. Getty was ahead 3 ¼, Ohio Standard 1 ¾ and Superior 1 1-4 among those moving up, and Halliburton was off 5, Schlumberger 3, and Natomas a point among those on the downside.

Airlines responded to the CAB approval of international fare increases to offset higher fuel costs, and most moved ahead fractionally. Steels were higher, U.S. Steel adding ⅝ and Bethlehem ½ among the gainers.

Computers, electronics and glamor issues were lower. Burroughs was off 2 ¾, International Business Machines 2, and Polaroid 2 ⅜. Corning Glass was off 4½ at 71.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Advice Should Be Obtained On Switching Income And Deductions

Here's some more information on switching income and deductions.

If your total capital gains are no more than $50,000 ($25,000 in the case of a married person filing a separate return) the old capital gains maximum rate of 25 per cent continues to apply. If your net capital gains is going to be in excess of $50,000, then it might be to your advantage to take part of that gain, up to $50,000, in 1973 rather than pay the higher maximum tax that will apply. Then take the rest in later years.

Be sure to check with your tax adviser on this before making a sale.

On capital gains, the long term capital gains alternative tax rate has increased. Actually, the alternate tax does not exist for gains over $50,000. But, the effect of the 50 per cent capital gains deduction and the maximum 70 per cent rate for individuals makes a maximum tax of 35 per cent on long term capital gains.

Here are some possible transactions for tax savings in 1973.

If you are an investor in the stock market and you have a large gain that you would like to nail down but don't want to pay the tax this year, you might consider going short against the box. Your broker can help you on this.

If you have a big loss which you would like to take this year, but you would like to keep the stock, you might consider saving your tax loss by buying a convertible in the same company, if the company has a convertible.

If you have some big losses and you would like to get out of the market but you don't want to write off only $1,000 a year of losses against other income, one thing you can do is sell the stocks and take the losses and immediately buy bonds which are selling at a discount.

When the bonds mature, you get capital gains and you have carried over your capital losses which would offset them. This could help with your capital loss situation.

Be sure to check any such transactions with your tax adviser and broker before you make them.

Sausalito Firm Gets Plan Pact

Sasaki, Walker, Roberts Inc. of Sausalito has been commissioned by the County of San Mateo to prepare a master plan and environmental impact report for Pescadero Creek Park, a 6,000-acre area lying between the coast and Interstate 280, near the towns of La Honda and Pescadero.

John T. Brook, director of parks and recreation for San Mateo County, said the contract includes a complete inventory and analysis of the natural resources of the region, as well as its man-made features such as roads, buildings and other developed systems.

SWR is also working under a comparable contract with Mono County and the National Forest Service to prepare similar studies for the Mammoth Lakes area, including a large part of Inyo National Forest.

Shoppers Keep Enthusiasm Despite Cuts

Sharp cutbacks in illuminated displays and an impending threat of shortened business hours in certain regions have not dampened the enthusiasm of holiday shoppers in California, Security Pacific Bank reported in Los Angeles.

Preliminary estimates compiled by the bank's Economic Research Division indicate that holiday sales throughout the state are going well despite this year's sharp reduction in the traditional illuminated decorations and displays.

Senior vice president James L. Smith has noted some distinct patterns and trends.

"Perhaps the most noticeable trend among California's holiday shoppers this year is a definite tendency to look for bargains and comparison shop for quality and price," says Smith.

Smith, who coordinates all of the bank's consumer finance activities including Master Charge, notes that holiday shoppers in California are spending heavily for such commodities as clothing, small appliances which don't devour electricity and food items.

New Luana's Sold To Reopen Next As Betty's Clothes Tree

Gay

Lyon

New Luana's dress shop at 874 Fourth Street in downtown San Rafael will be sold to new owners on Jan. 1 and renamed Betty's Clothes Tree.

The new owners are James W. Wylie and his wife Betty of Mariner's Cove in Corte Madera, who have been in the retail merchandising field for more than 15 years. Wylie had been part owner of several dress stores in Northern California.

Mrs. Wylie said Betty's Clothes Tree will continue to carry a complete line of women's apparel as at present, but the size range will be expanded. Whereas New Luana's carries junior sizes, Betty's Clothes Tree will have both junior and misses sizes, which means a complete range of all ladies' sizes. "We'll have nice merchandise at popular prices," said Mrs. Wylie.

The store is in the Albert Arcade, with customer parking in the rear lot. Store hours will remain the same, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

New Luana's has been owned by Roy Sclar of Palo Alto and his family and managed by Sclar's daughter, Sydne Robinson. The store was called Luana's until the Sclars bought it two years ago.

The Sclars will continue to operate two men's shops in Palo Alto called The Styleseter.

SMALL BOB'S Delicatessen at 869 Fourth Street in San Rafael is closed until further notice because the propietor is ill and is undergoing medical tests.

Harry C. Traufer of Sacramento, who opened the delicatessen last June, temporarily closed his shop last Sunday. Depending on the outcome of medical tests, Traufer said he will either re-open or have someone else take over the premises.

BEN F. GAY III of San Rafael, chairman of the board of Personnel Institute Inc., announced an expansion of his firm's activities. In addition to the firm's existing programs for scientific recruitment, training and motivation of corporate employees, the Personnel Institute now provides speakers for conventions of medium and large sized companies.

Personnel Institute has 10 professional speakers among its 40 sales executives. Gay himself is lecturer for the American Management Association, a charter member of the National Speaker's Association, and a member of the International Platform Speaker's Association.

ROBERTA P. LYON of Tiburon has been named trust officer, pension trust department, in Wells Fargo Bank's head office trust division, San Francisco.

Mrs. Lyon joined Wells Fargo in 1971 and was assistant trust officer before the promotion. She is a graduate of Rider College in Princeton, N.J.

EDWARD L. HENLEY, president of Home & Land Co. with headquarters at 824 Fifth Avenue in San Rafael, announced the opening of two new branch offices this week.

One is at 1620 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax where a printing firm was formerly located. It is staffed by Pat McDonald (office manager), Ed Sullivan and Sue Reisinger.

The other new office is at 11000 Highway 1 in Point Reyes Station, former site of Lighthouse Realty. Manager is Hugh Riley, former owner of Marin Tire and Brake in San Rafael.

Henley said these two new offices of Home & Land complete his coverage of central Marin, together with his other offices at 824 Fifth Avenue in San Rafael and at 6 Loch Lomond Marina in East San Rafael.

ANTIQUE ALLEY at 1014 Tamalpais Avenue in San Rafael is selling everything in stock, including the fixtures, this month and plans to re-open next February with an entirely new format.

Owner Lee Sexton, who has operated the shop there for almost six years, said she will conduct a clearing-out sale through the end of this month, and then will keep the place closed in January for a complete transformation of her shop.

When she re-opens in February, she will again carry antiques, "but on an entirely different style." Mrs. Sexton is keeping her new format a secret. "We hope Marinites will like our new shop as much as our old."

MICHAEL J. SMITH of San Rafael has joined the investment and development division of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors in their Greenbrae office.

Smith entered the real estate business in 1969 and won life membership in the Million Dollar Club of the Marin County Board of Realtors. He has been a project director for the Green Oaks Condominiums in Terra Linda.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have been told there are government bonds which can be used to pay estate taxes. Would you discuss the advantages of these, if there are any, and do you think they are a safe investment for a person in his eighties? — G.D.

A. You are referring to the U.S. Treasury bonds known as "flower bonds," which are acceptable at par value upon death of the owner in payment of estate taxes. There are 14 separate issues in this category with maturity dates extending from 2/74 to 11/98. Coupon rates on these bonds range between 3 per cent and 4¼ per cent, although yield to maturity is currently 4.7 per cent to 7.6 per cent. Since principal and interest are government guaranteed, the bonds are regarded as entirely secure. It is because these bonds sell at discounts from par value of up to $230 per bond that yields to maturity exceed coupon interest rates by a considerable margin.

As a potential purchaser of "flower bonds," you should consult your tax specialist as to the possible tax advantages you might derive from these securities.

In general terms, a bond of this type is of interest to a person in his late years, with an estate which would be subject, after exemptions, to a sizable tax bite. While the bonds trade below their face or par value, any capital gains or interest income derived from them is taxable by the federal government although exempt from state and local taxation.

Furthermore, those bonds used to offset estate taxes are valued at par in the estate regardless of their purchase or current market price. Any held in excess of tax liabilities are valued at market. The tax benefits are usually enhanced as the value of the estate increases. Also, the shorter the period between purchase of the bonds and the death of the holder, the greater the advantage. Finally, flower bonds purchased in anticipation of death may be used to pay estate taxes if actually owned at time of death.

Grand Auto Has A Sales Increase

OAKLAND — Grand Auto, Inc. has announced sales for the 13 weeks ended Oct. 28, 1973, of $11,206,124, an increase of 6 per cent compared with sales of $10,564,794 for the same quarter last year.

Net earnings for the quarter were $164,333 or 17 cents per share, a considerable drop from the 26 cents per share earnings for the same quarter last year.

Results for the 39 weeks ended Oct. 28 are net earnings of $631,827 on sales of $32,574,545, compared with $765,737 earnings and $29,617,653 sales for the same period last year.

Stocks Drop Slightly On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices moved lower in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market opened simultaneously with a Labor Department announcement that higher prices for fuel, electricity and food drove up the cost of living last month by 0.7 per cent, the same as the increase for October.

Analysts said they expect the market to remain lower during the remaining sessions of the year because of tax-loss selling and other factors in addition to the energy crisis.

Today's session was the final one of the year for regular clearing transactions.

Gulf Oil Corp. was the most actively traded issue, off ⅛ at 20 ⅛ on 111,000 shares.

Prices also were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange, where 336 issues declined and 232 advanced among the 952 traded during the first two hours.

Allegheny Airlines was the most active issue, off ¼ at 5 on 15,700 shares.

Big Board oils were the major movers, those domestically oriented moving higher and those with international interests lower. Getty was ahead 3 ¼, Ohio Standard 1 ¾ and Superior 1 1-4 among those moving up, and Halliburton was off 5, Schlumberger 3, and Natomas a point among those on the downside.

Airlines responded to the CAB approval of international fare increases to offset higher fuel costs, and most moved ahead fractionally. Steels were higher, U.S. Steel adding ⅝ and Bethlehem ½ among the gainers.

Computers, electronics and glamor issues were lower. Burroughs was off 2 ¾, International Business Machines 2, and Polaroid 2 ⅜. Corning Glass was off 4½ at 71.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Advice Should Be Obtained On Switching Income And Deductions

Here's some more information on switching income and deductions.

If your total capital gains are no more than $50,000 ($25,000 in the case of a married person filing a separate return) the old capital gains maximum rate of 25 per cent continues to apply. If your net capital gains is going to be in excess of $50,000, then it might be to your advantage to take part of that gain, up to $50,000, in 1973 rather than pay the higher maximum tax that will apply. Then take the rest in later years.

Be sure to check with your tax adviser on this before making a sale.

On capital gains, the long term capital gains alternative tax rate has increased. Actually, the alternate tax does not exist for gains over $50,000. But, the effect of the 50 per cent capital gains deduction and the maximum 70 per cent rate for individuals makes a maximum tax of 35 per cent on long term capital gains.

Here are some possible transactions for tax savings in 1973.

If you are an investor in the stock market and you have a large gain that you would like to nail down but don't want to pay the tax this year, you might consider going short against the box. Your broker can help you on this.

If you have a big loss which you would like to take this year, but you would like to keep the stock, you might consider saving your tax loss by buying a convertible in the same company, if the company has a convertible.

If you have some big losses and you would like to get out of the market but you don't want to write off only $1,000 a year of losses against other income, one thing you can do is sell the stocks and take the losses and immediately buy bonds which are selling at a discount.

When the bonds mature, you get capital gains and you have carried over your capital losses which would offset them. This could help with your capital loss situation.

Be sure to check any such transactions with your tax adviser and broker before you make them.

Plans Phase Out

LOS ANGELES — Bekins Co. has announced that it will write down and phase out its investment in an unprofitable subsidiary, Nationwide Trailer Rental System, Inc., as well as its investment in trailers leased to the Nationwide system.

Sausalito Firm Gets Plan Pact

Sasaki, Walker, Roberts Inc. of Sausalito has been commissioned by the County of San Mateo to prepare a master plan and environmental impact report for Pescadero Creek Park, a 6,000-acre area lying between the coast and Interstate 280, near the towns of La Honda and Pescadero.

John T. Brook, director of parks and recreation for San Mateo County, said the contract includes a complete inventory and analysis of the natural resources of the region, as well as its man-made features such as roads, buildings and other developed systems.

SWR is also working under a comparable contract with Mono County and the National Forest Service to prepare similar studies for the Mammoth Lakes area, including a large part of Inyo National Forest.

Shoppers Keep Enthusiasm Despite Cuts

Sharp cutbacks in illuminated displays and an impending threat of shortened business hours in certain regions have not dampened the enthusiasm of holiday shoppers in California, Security Pacific Bank reported in Los Angeles.

Preliminary estimates compiled by the bank's Economic Research Division indicate that holiday sales throughout the state are going well despite this year's sharp reduction in the traditional illuminated decorations and displays.

Senior vice president James L. Smith has noted some distinct patterns and trends.

"Perhaps the most noticeable trend among California's holiday shoppers this year is a definite tendency to look for bargains and comparison shop for quality and price," says Smith.

Smith, who coordinates all of the bank's consumer finance activities including Master Charge, notes that holiday shoppers in California are spending heavily for such commodities as clothing, small appliances which don't devour electricity and food items.

New Luana's dress shop at 874 Fourth Street in downtown San Rafael will be sold to new owners on Jan. 1 and renamed Betty's Clothes Tree.

The new owners are James W. Wylie and his wife Betty of Mariner's Cove in Corte Madera, who have been in the retail merchandising field for more than 15 years. Wylie had been part owner of several dress stores in Northern California.

Mrs. Wylie said Betty's Clothes Tree will continue to carry a complete line of women's apparel as at present, but the size range will be expanded. Whereas New Luana's carries junior sizes, Betty's Clothes Tree will have both junior and misses sizes, which means a complete range of all ladies' sizes. "We'll have nice merchandise at popular prices," said Mrs. Wylie.

The store is in the Albert Arcade, with customer parking in the rear lot. Store hours will remain the same, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

New Luana's has been owned by Roy Sclar of Palo Alto and his family and managed by Sclar's daughter, Sydne Robinson. The store was called Luana's until the Sclars bought it two years ago.

The Sclars will continue to operate two men's shops in Palo Alto called The Stylesetter.

SMALL BOB'S Delicatessen at 869 Fourth Street in San Rafael is closed until further notice because the propietor is ill and is undergoing medical tests.

Harry C. Traufer of Sacramento, who opened the delicatessen last June, temporarily closed his shop last Sunday. Depending on the outcome of medical tests, Traufer said he will either re-open or have someone else take over the premises.

BEN F. GAY III of San Rafael, chairman of the board of Personnel Institute Inc., announced an expansion of his firm's activities. In addition to the firm's existing programs for scientific recruitment, training and motivation of corporate employees, the Personnel Institute now provides speakers for conventions of medium and large sized companies.

Personnel Institute has 10 professional speakers among its 40 sales executives. Gay himself is lecturer for the American Management Association, a charter member of the National Speaker's Association, and a member of the International Platform Speaker's Association.

ROBERTA P. LYON of Tiburon has been named trust officer, pension trust department, in Wells Fargo Bank's head office trust division, San Francisco.

Mrs. Lyon joined Wells Fargo in 1971 and was assistant trust officer before the promotion. She is a graduate of Rider College in Princeton, N.J.

EDWARD L. HENLEY, president of Home & Land Co. with headquarters at 824 Fifth Avenue in San Rafael, announced the opening of two new branch offices this week.

One is at 1620 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax where a printing firm was formerly located. It is staffed by Pat McDonald (office manager), Ed Sullivan and Sue Reisinger.

The other new office is at 11000 Highway 1 in Point Reyes Station, former site of Lighthouse Realty. Manager is Hugh Riley, former owner of Marin Tire and Brake in San Rafael.

Henley said these two new offices of Home & Land complete his coverage of central Marin, together with his other offices at 824 Fifth Avenue in San Rafael and at 6 Loch Lomond Marina in East San Rafael.

ANTIQUE ALLEY at 1014 Tamalpais Avenue in San Rafael is selling everything in stock, including the fixtures, this month and plans to re-open next February with an entirely new format.

Owner Lee Sexton, who has operated the shop there for almost six years, said she will conduct a clearing-out sale through the end of this month, and then will keep the place closed in January for a complete transformation of her shop.

When she re-opens in February, she will again carry antiques, "but on an entirely different style." Mrs. Sexton is keeping her new format a secret. "We hope Marinites will like our new shop as much as our old."

MICHAEL J. SMITH of San Rafael has joined the investment and development division of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors in their Greenbrae office.

Smith entered the real estate business in 1969 and won life membership in the Million Dollar Club of the Marin County Board of Realtors. He has been a project director for the Green Oaks Condominiums in Terra Linda.
